Judge may send team to Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House counsel John W. Dean III today described a series of hurried meetings and conversations on June 19, 1972, in which he said he learned about the involvement of Nixon campaign aides in the Watergate break-in.

Dean was the first prosecution witness in the trial of five former Nixon administration and campaign aides charged with conspiring to block the investigation of the June 17, 1972 break-in.

Before Dean took the stand, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica indicated he is considering sending a team of three doctors to California to determine if former President Nixon is too ill to obey subpoenas demanding his appearance as a witness.

Dean's testimony followed closely what he had told the Senate Watergate committee during five days before it in June 1973.

Dean testified that among those he talked to at the White House two days after the break-in was John D. Ehrlichman, one of the five defendants.

Dean's testimony disputed Ehrlichman's contention that all he knew about the break-in in the weeks after it occurred was what he had read in the newspapers.

In ontrast to his self-confident and articulate testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee, in the spring of 1973, Dean spoke sometimes haltingly and occasionally stumbled over his words. He appeared thinner and more pale than his previous public appearances since leaving the White House staff in April of 1973.

Dean's first task from the stand was to identify each of the five defendants. He is their principal accuser.

Sirica made his comments about a possible examination of Nixon opening the 12th day of the trial. He emphasized, however, that he has made no decision on defense and prosecution subpoenaes for the former president.

Sirica has scheduled a hearing on the issue for Thursday. The judge said today he wants defense and prosecution attorneys to think about who will foot the bill if he decides to conduct his own medical inquiry.

From a podium 30 feet away, prosecutor James F. Neal began laying the background of Dean's role as a self-admitted planner of the cover-up.

Dean, released from prison so he could testify, described how convicted Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy was interviewed by defendant John N. Mitchell and then hired as general counsel for the Nixon re-election committee.

Dean then went on to describe the re-election committee intelligence plan proposed for use by Liddy on Jan. 27, 1972, in Mitchell's Justice Department office.

"If I should decide either now or later, if it should develop that I feel it necessary for the former president to appear personally," said Sirica, "who is going to pay expenses to fly doctors out there — the defense or prosecution?"

Malden may call for vote on sales tax

MALDEN — The City Council Monday night authorized the city attorney to draw up an ordinance calling for a special election on a proposed one-cent sales tax to finance sewer construction and reduce water rates.

The council made the ordinance conditional upon an agreement being reached with the Board of Public Works at a later date.

The council approved a resolution introduced by Mayor Sparrel Davis to authorize the Commission for Municipal Cooling Services to submit a bid for the purchase of the natural gas system in the city from Associated Natural Gas Co. The bid would be conditional upon approval of revenue bonds by the city voters.

Hank Watson, chairman of the Park Improvement Commission, reported on the money spent and reimbursements received

Man, 80, is cheated in confidence game

An 80- year - old Sikeston man was taken for $300 in a confidence game Tuesday morning by three men who offered to asphalt his driveway.

Charles Alexander, 214 Illinois Ave., told Deputy Sheriff Gerald Inman the men drove up to his house about 11 a.m. and offered to put down asphalt they had left from another job. They told him it would cost between $40 and $50.

When the men finished laying the asphalt, they asked Alexander to come out. Then they measured the driveway and said the bill was $400.

Alexander refused to pay, but then agreed to pay $300.

Alexander wrote a check for that amount, and the men drove straight to the bank and cashed the check before Alexander could stop payment on it, Inman said.

Inman said one of the men identified himself as Oliver Charlton. The three were in a black pickup with a canvas top.

Inman said the same thing had happened last year and added that the confidence men seem to work on elderly people.

Woman foils phone phoney

Virginia Cross, 218 Kinder St., told police that a man came to her home Tuesday claiming to be a telephone repairman, but fled after she demanded identification.

Mrs. Cross said the man came to her door and asked if her telephone was out of order. She replied that it was, and he asked if he could come in and look at it.

She demanded some identification, and the man told her it was in his truck. Mrs. Cross said he got into the vehicle, a light blue panel truck, and drove away at a high rate of speed.

She identified the man as a black male about 30.

Scott farm income tops $24 million

For Scott County farmers, 1973 was the most successful year they have had in a long time, according to the final tabulations, just released.

For many of them it was the most prosperous year they ever had. It compared favorably with farm and ranch results in many sections of the country.

Following as it did upon a relatively good 1972, it enabled the farm community to recover somewhat from a number of lean years. With their operations well in the black, they were able to reduce their debt load and to purchase some needed new equipment.

Althought gross receipts reached a record level, so did operating expenses as inflation sent farm costs soaring. However, the gap was sufficient to produce a new high in net income.

The findings are based upon a national survey released by the Standard Rate and Data Service and upon reports from the Department of Agriculture and others.

In Scott County, SRDS reports, farm receipts amounted to $24,650,000.

The figure represents gross receipts, before any allowances for taxes, supplies, labor costs, equipment and other operating expenses.

Included are the overall receipts from the sale of farm products, together with government payments and the value of the home- grown foods consumed on the farm.

Of the total amount received locally from the sale of farm products, approximately 60 per cent came from crops and 40 per cent from marketings of livestock, poultry and dairy items, according to the latest figures from the Department of Agriculture.

The year's upswing is attributed to a combination of favorable circumstances. One of them was the good weather conditions that prevailed throughout most of the year, in contrast to what has been happening this year. That was a prime factor in the bumper crops that were obtained.

Another was the big surge in farm exports, stemming from the worldwide shortage, which led to a significant boost in prices.

Report listed wrong driver

The car which crossed the center line on East Malone Avenue about 6 p.m. Monday and struck two oncoming cars was not driven by Mrs. Tommy Gayle Shipman, 418 Lucas, as reported in Tuesday's Daily Standard.

Police reports also erronously listed a 16- year - old girl as being arrested in a seperate accident.

The story Tuesday incorrectly stated that Mrs. Shipman's car went out of control, crossed the center line, and struck oncoming cars driven by Bob Lee Moore, 303 Kramer Drive, and Reo Johnson, of 103 W. Iron Bank Road, Charleston.

The car which went out of control was driven by Johnson, and his car struck oncoming cars driven by Moore and Mrs. Shipman.

Mrs. Shipman was treated for cuts and bruises at Missouri Delta Community Hospital. Johnson was treated for scratches.

Police said they erronously listed Kimberlin Kay Duncan, 16, of Scott Manor Apartments, as being arrested for careless and imprudent driving following an accident at 8:45 p.m. Monday in the 1600 block of East Malone Ave.

The accident report listed her as being arrested, but police said that was in error.

Burlison to speak here

Congressman Bill Burlison of Missouri's 10th District will discuss national health insurance proposals at an employer seminar in Sikeston Thursday.

The seminar, sponsored by Delmo Family Health Services, Inc., will begin at 8:30 a.m. and conclude at 4:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn.

Persons interested in attending the seminar may register prior to the meeting by calling toll free 800-392-4742.

Bernie to sell bonds to finance school building

BERNIE — The school board Tuesday night set a tentative date of Nov. 14 for the sale of bonds to finance the new junior high school building recently approved by the voters.

Confirmation of the date will not be become final until the board can meet with Norvel Walen, bondsman for G. H. Walker and Co. of Kansas City, the frim handling the transaction.

In other business, Supt. Elmer "Doc" Dunn presented the 1973-74 audit, which the board approved and ordered published.

According to Dunn, the district has a balance of about $87,000.

The financial report was also presented and discussed by the board members. The new tax rate is tentatively set at $3.95 per $100 assessed valuation. The new rate is applicable this year, according to Dunn.

The board was informed that there might be a surplus in the teachers fund, and the possibility of granting the teachers a raise for the next school year was discussed.

A proposal was made to construct a bus garage to replace the present bus shed which is to be tom down to make way for the new junior high building. No action was taken on the proposal.

The board rejected a request from the mother of a student asking that her daughter be allowed to miss 15 school days next fall to take an educational trip. The board cited school policy which disallows absences of more than 10 days per semester.

Charleston UF goal $16,000

CHARLESTON — The goal for this year's United Fund drive has been set at $16,000 and a kickoff breakfast has been scheduled for 7 a.m. Oct. 21 in the United Methodist Church.

Chairman of this year's drive is Bill Brown and team captains include Faye Elliott, Ida Phillips, Pinky Lee, Mary Katherine Rolwing, Karen Dowling, Arthur Lee Goodin, W. J. "Pedro" Simmons, Phillip Turner, Katie Ivie, Myrene Moss, Duane Eastman, Eddie Graham, Richard Galemore, Suelle Fenton, Nadene Byrne, Bonnie Brumley, Iva Sevic and the Rev. R. Vergil Eaton.

Proceeds from the fund-raising campaign will be distributed among nine participating agencies: American Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Delta Little Acorn Youth Camp, United Service Organization, Salvation Army, Community Sheltered Workshop, Retarded Children's Association and the Arthritis Foundation, a new agency added this year.

Anyone desiring to make a donation, who has not been contacted on Oct. 21 or 22, may call the Chamber of Commerce office at 683-6509 and the donation will be picked up. Donations may also be brought to the chamber office, which serves as campaign headquarters, on East Commercial Street.

In addition to workers who will be soliciting gifts under the leadership of team captains, the businesses will be soliciting from their own workers.

A thermometer indicating the level of contributions has been built and donated by Halter Brothers Construction Co. and installed in front of the chamber office.

Rape filed against Holman

Percy Lee Holman, 42, of Luther Street has been charged with rape following an alleged assault between 11 a.m. and noon Tuesday.

Detective Dan Hinton said Holman was arrested Tuesday afternoon and charges were filed today.

Holman allegedly offered the victim, a 16- year - old, a ride if she would come to his apartment where the car was. When they arrived, the car was gone but Holman assured her it would be brought back soon, Hinton said.

Holman then invited her into his apartment where the rape allegedly occurred, Hinton said.

MAINTAIN THE
POLICE ACADEMY

If a powerful coalition of congressional liberals has its way, the International Police Academy in Washington will soon be scrapped.

The efforts is being led by Senator James Abourezk of South Dakota. His amendment to the Foreign Aid bill would completely prohibit any training, advice or support for police or other internal security forces of any foreign country, either abroad or in the U. S.

The critics already have succeeded in scuttling police training programs abroad, which have operated for 19 years under the Office of Public Safety of the State Department's Agency for International Development (AID). Their target now is the Washington Academy, which recently graduated 88 police officers from 22 countries. It was the Academy's 52nd graduation ceremony.

Opponents argue that the U. S., by training foreign law enforcement officers, is strengthening various "police states" around the world. This is simply not true. The emphasis of the Office of Public Safety has been on instilling a sense of public service and responsibility among police trainees. The training aims at countering kidnaping, assassination, hijacking and other forms of international terrorism. This is of vital importance to all Americans living or traveling abroad.

According to Loren J. Goin, Director of the O.P.S., "International terror must start as a national terror problem. National terrorist problems ... primarily rest on the shoulders of the civil police institution of that country. To be effective, it must deal with this problem in its earliest phase, lest it develop into a situation beyond its control and become, indeed, international in scope. The focus of the solution to international problems must be the efficiency and effectiveness of the civil police force."

Mr. Goin says that although Congress has eliminated the Office of Public Safety's overseas program, the International Police Academy, at least, should be allowed to continue.

We strongly agree.

According to Mr. Richard M. A Forest Service rescue team veteran recommends: use your horn to alert rescuers; ignite a quart of oil in a hubcap, producing a smoke signal visible for miles; stop bleeding with a tourniquet made from windshield wiper tubing; convert the crankcase dipstick into a skewer for hot dogs or toast. THE HELPFUL HINT

Now, more than ever, we must be on our toes to combat frayed nerves and muscular fatigue. Learn to relax fully whenever the opportunity presents itself. Walk and stand straight at all times, but above all, be comfortable.

One of the best methods of relaxing is to laugh. If you can laugh, you cannot be tense. In wartime, it is imperative that we hang on to our sense of humor. It eases the strain and is conducive to clear thinking. If you have troubles — and who hasn't? — keep them to yourself. The other person doesn't want to listen.

The famous comedy dance team of Paul and Grace Gartman, who literally live on laughs, recently in an interview gave a few tips on beating the jitters. The following were listed:

"Go out with people who give you a lift. You owe it to yourself and your job. Anyone who leaves you in the dumps is bad medicine for you, especially these days. When you are feeling a trifle on the seamy side, stay away from those grim movies and plays. Go to see something that will give you a good laugh. Don't take yourself too seriously. If you can laugh off an embarrassment, it becomes funny — not ridiculous. When you laugh with people, how then can they laugh at you?"

Another important thing — balancy your work with some form of relaxation in your spare time. To you who must keep the home going as well as your job, remember there are some things that may have to be left undone due to lack of time, but don't let it be your sense of humor.

WORLD'S SILENT
MEN

Some men of history won fame because they didn't talk much. They said little and did much. These men were not morose or unsocial. They were simply not loquacious.

George Washington was one of the silent men of our American scene. He talked when it was necessary, was not hesitant when directions were to be given or advice sought, but the famed Virginian was not given to small talk, nor noted as a conversationalist.

Lincoln had his silent hours when he appeared to be withdrawn from the social chatter about him, and was not of the mind to relate incidents of old Indiana and Illinois days. He had his brooding periods, which on occasion were shrouded in deep melancholy.

Calvin Coolidge had a reputation as a silent president, sparing of speech and loving laconic expressions. But when he was in the mood and of a mind to talk, the Vermonter did not lack for words.

WORKINGS OF
AN IDLE MIND

Another great idea, about to go down the drain.

John Sawhill, the federal energy chief, proposed an absolutely brilliant response to the inflation - recession - oil shortage - energy conservation - ecology problem: A 20 - cent a - gallon tax on gasoline coupled with a tax rebate that would over the first 500 miles driven each year.

It's a work of genius. It would reduce the consumption of gasoline (and, thereby, our debt to the Arabs) by making it more expensive. It would not hit poor people hard because they'd get a tax rebate.

It would take money generated by the use of gasoline and use it to discourage the use of gasoline. That Sawhill is a smart man.

But now President Jerry has vetoed the plan.

He is against the plan, it is said, because a tax is a tax and an election year is an election year and you shouldn't mix the two. How cowardly, President Ford seems intent on proving that one can toast his own English muffins for breakfast and still be a lousy president.

Of course, you can't single out Ford. Senator Edmund Muskie of Main and Senator Walter Mondale of Minnesota, both Democratic presidential hopefuls, are on record as opposed to a raise in the gasoline tax.

"It will aggravate inflation," said Mondale.

"It is wrong- headed economics," said Muskie.

In other words, it's an election year for the Democrats, too.

I'll tell you, if we had leaders like that in 1940, we'd all be speaking German right now.

The stock market is doing an Evel Knievel and those bums in Washington are still talking about biting bullets. You'd think they were an orthodontists' convention, for crying out loud.

You know, a lot of people thought that the stock market, which had been sick for some time, was going to make a dramatic recovery when Richard ("There Will Be No Recession") Nixon resigned.

Quite the opposite happened. The market began to plummet the day that Ford took over and it has continued with scarcely a pause since.

People wondered about that. Why, when Washington was so buoyant about the prospect of a Ford presidency, was New York so gloomy?

And a wise man answered that Washington is a politician's town and politicians are impressed with words, while New York is a businessman's town and businessmen are impressed with numbers. The words were good, but the numbers were bad, he said.

In addition, he said, Washington is a town where they play with other people's money. In New York, they play with their own.

Keep that bullet handy, dearie, there's a lot of biting yet to do.

As if Ford didn't have enough problems of his own, he keeps messing around with the refuse of the Nixon administration.

It beggars the imagination to see him proposing Peter Flanigan — the bagman in Nixon's ambassadorial raffle — as ambassador to Spain.

Herb Kalmbach, the former president's former lawyer, went to jail on a charge of selling ambassadorships. The guy who acted as middleman on the sales, according to Kalmbach's sworn testimony, was Flanigan!

I don't care how crummy a government Spain has, it deserves a better ambassador than Flanigan.

It's a good thing President Ford has that reputation of being dumb. Otherwise you'd think he was a crook.

The only good news recently was that Iowa's highway funds might be cut in half.

Of course, that means that federal bicycle funds funneled through the Highway Commission will be cut in half too — down to $1.38.

Do you know who cut the highway funds? God.

Do you know why? Because the Highway Commission was ignoring the bicycle, God's chosen vehicle.

It serves them right. If we don't get some bikeways soon, we bikers are going to put in The Fix and have the sewers back up at commission headquarters.

UNFORTUNATE
CAMPAIGN ISSUE

What we believe will be unfortunate for former Congressman Thomas Curtis in the November voting for U. S. Senator was his injection into the campaign last week of the fact that Sen. Tom Eagleton had undergone treatment for mental fatigue. It will lose Curtis more votes than it will gain for him.

Sen. Eagleton was one of our very best state officers, and as a United States Senator, has nationally lived up to that reputation. He continues to be considered by others in our nation as one of the most forceful, brilliant and right-thinking Senators at Washington.

Millions of Americans have had mental illnesses, including possibly hundreds or more than that in our own county and community. But, as in the case of any other disease, after treatment they have continued to be among our county leaders and most valuable citizens. It is too bad that some people refuse to consider mental illnesses as they do others, and fail to recognize that a background of any cured disease should not condemn that person for all time.

IN THE SPIRIT
BEGIN WITH ME!

As we see it, one blessing has come from our nation's economic and political problems. The smooth- talking politician of many promises and high tax spending habits should find it a little harder to sell his wares to disillusioned voters. Leaders are appearing in industry, agriculture and public life who stress sanity, balance and confidence in our American system of government and enterprise.

One of the penalties of the political promises of government - managed perpetual prosperity to which the country has been subjected is lack of intellectual preparedness for adversity. So as we approach the 200th birthday of the United States in 1976, we should realize in our nation's history since the Founding Fathers began from even more adverse conditions that the only shortage that can drag this country under isn't energy or other workable problems -- it's confidence.

An important factor in confidence is acceptance of the reality that there never was such a thing as eternal prosperity -- or eternal security. Now, as in the past, the way to bridge difficult periods is to show confidence in a system of government for free people and based on enterprise and work that has performed magnificently for nearly two centuries.

Despite the critics and commentators who distort the facts, we should realize that many of the shortages and consequent price dislocations in the marketplace are traceable to the disruptive "put down" of the American business system. No system can function for long under such hostile pressure. It is time to assert our belief in our American system. It is also time to fill public offices with public servants who have enough conviction to support private enterprise and representative government.

Confidence and work and cooperation is what will solve our problems. In the Spirit of '76 -- Let It Begin with Me!

TOO MUCH CONCERN

Congresswoman Edith Green of Oregon asked the Library of Congress to compile the total amount of funds a family could receive if that family took advantage of all public assistance programs available. On the basis of two hypothetical families -- one a mother with four children ranging in age from preschool to the college level and the other a mother with eight children ranging from preschool to college -- Mrs. Green was advised that the first family could collect a total of $11,513 a year under various programs of federal aid ranging from health care to scholarships. The second family, if all available federal programs were utilized, could have an annual income of over $21,000. Commented Mrs. Green, "Now for those people across the country who are saying this is a government that does not have any concern for the poor ... I suggest they look at these programs."

A lot of taxpayers are also looking at the programs and do not like what they see -- a country that is being overwhelmed by the adverse ratio between producers and nonproducers.

WARNING: NOT READING CAN BE HAZARDOUS

U. S. consumers are now spending more than $3 billion a year on non-prescription, "Over- the- counter" medication.

According to Product Management, an authoritative publication on the drug marketing business, American families spent an average of %54.72 on nonprescription drugs in 1972. Cough and cold products, aspirin and vitamins headed the list in that order.

No statistics are available to indicate how many people suffer serious, even fatal, injuries from overdoses of these products. What is known is that it is all too easy to use medicines improperly.

A survey by the Food and Drug Administration has disclosed that less than half of all Americans bother to read labels. Another FDA survey, published early this year, found that consumers rank labels last among the chief sources of information about nonprescription medicines, behind advertising, the recommendations of friends, adivce of relatives and the councel of dentists and doctors.

There must be reason for this, and one that immediately comes to mind is that there isn't just one label to read. There are six sides on the package that a product comes in, all usually with information on them. Then there is the container label itself, which can wrap around and thus offer advice on four sides. In addition, there are often separate printed instructions. Many people feel overwhelmed by all that type.

Complicating the matter is the lengthy and detailed information which must, by law, appear on all nonprescription labeling.

Federal regulations require that every nonprescription drug package include: the name of the active ingredients; the net weight, fluid measure or numerical count of contents; the name and address of the manufacturer, packer or distributor; complete directions for use, including the purpose for which it is intended and recommended quantity and frequency of dosage; warnings against misuse, and necessary cautions for storage.

Federal Trade Commission chairman Lewis A. Engman has urged drug manufacturers to do something about the problems on their own initiative. At least one company (Vicks) has adopted a new system of arranging all necessary information in standardized, easily located and easy- to - read format on its products.

The Council on Family Health, a nonprofit organization sponsored by the manufacturers of prescription and over - the - counter medicines, has launched a nationwide advertising campaign with the theme: "Read label instructions ... medicines can't help you if you don't take them right."

And they can hurt you.

At Nero's command, a young slave was hurled into the Colosseum to be devoured by a lion. The beast, an unusually fierce specimen, had been penned up for days without food to make him even more fierce. The lion roared into the arena and then an incredible thing happened. Just as his great jaws were ready to snap shut, the slave managed to whisper in the lion's ear. The savage animal slunk away and disappeared into his pen.

Nero summoned the victorious slave and asked how he had accomplished the marvel. "Easy," replied the young man. "I merely told the lion that after the meal he would be invited to say a few words."

GIVING UP
NATIONAL

International trade and multinational companies -- companies with investments in plants in many nations -- generally help to promote economic ties and ease military rivalry. Present talk of expanding trade with the Soviet Union -- including the buying of oil and natural gas from the USSR will appeal to a great many people. Tapping the energy resources of Russia, they could well reason, will not only build better international understanding, but will virtually solve the energy problems of the United States.

Before going too far with this line of thought, consideration should be given to the question of national security. This nation would be utterly helpless within a matter of hours if its flow of petroleum were shut off or even seriously curtailed. Transportation would come to a halt. Planes, ships, autos, power plants, homes and businesses would be paralyzed. Life in the United States literally hinges upon energy and a highly productive petroleum industry has, for generations, guaranteed the energy independence of our country. Without that energy independence, the future of the United States, as a free nation, would be worse than precarious. It is easy to visualize what could happen if a potentially hostile power could regulate the flow of petroleum that sustans our energy- based society.

As a matter of fact, if the day should arrive that the country becomes dependent on Russia or any other foreign source for vital petroleum supplies, it may as well put it military in mothballs and abandon the pretense of being a free and soveteign state. Increasing the flow of international commerce is a highly important goal, but it should not be achieved at the price of national independence.

TWO BAD
TRENDS

Two barometers on the health of our nation are going in opposite directions and both point to a sickness. On Wall Street, stock averages continue to plunge and while they don't measure our economy status precisely, they reflect the need for strong measures to reverse the trend. The other indicator is the Uniform Crime Report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This barometer continues to rise. There is no proof that a sagging economy, with its attendant personal hardships, spurs people to criminal activity but the opposite trends of the two pulse- takers, Wall Street and the FBI, provide food for thought.

As the Dow- Jones averages tumbled below the 600 level, the Uniform Crime Report showed a 16 percent jump in offenses for the first six months of 1974 over a corresponding period of 1973. Criminals are enjoying a bullish market.

Attorney Gen. William Saxbe says he believes police work is catching up with the criminal but that overworked courts are unable to put the accused to trial, thus freeing them on bond to continue courts.

It is the feeling of this column that federal support of state agencies and federal control of themarket place will hinder rather than help cure our social and economic problems. The state agencies that fight crime will have to work harder and get more felons behind bars. Everyone will have to work harder and produce more to put our economy right again. HLH

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Ford taps Goodell for Attorney General

WASHINGTON — Charles Goodell, the former Republican senator who was ridden out of office by the Nixon administration because of his antiwar views, has now been tentatively chosen as the next attorney general by President Ford.

In his 1970 Senate race in New York, Goodell was denounced by Vice President Agnew as the "Christine Jorgensen" of the Republican party. An able conservative in the House, Goodell had mellowed into a liberal-moderate in the Senate.

Largely as a result of the Agnew attacks and withdrawal of President Nixon's firm support, Goodell was trounced by Sen. James Buckley, a Conservative party candidate. But House minority leader Gerry Ford's endorsements never waned and the two men remained friends.

When Ford became President and decided to extend amnesty to deserters and draft evaders, he picked Goodell to handle the ticklish chore. To date, Goodell has kept the program fair, low-keyed and free from all but routine friction. The job will be all but completed in a few months.

In the last few days, the President and his advisers have tentatively settled on Goodell as the man to replace Atty. Gen. William Saxbe if a graceful way can be found to get Saxbe to step down.

Saxbe dearly loves the job, however, and has told us he came away from a meeting with Ford a few weeks ago with the understanding that he could keep it.

At the White House, Saxbe is admited for his tough stands on crime which have also won him popularity with the average American. But Saxbe is outspoken and often is caught with his foot in his mouth. In addition, his deputy, Laurence Silberman, is handling most of Saxbe's day- to- day duties already. Ford, therefore, has decided that Saxbe eventually must go.

FOOD PRICE WATCH: The government report that food prices have gone up only 14 per cent will be challenged by Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah, who has conducted his own research in the supermarkets.

The price index is compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics which claims that Americans are spending 14 per cent more for food than they did last year.

"It hurts more than 14 per cent," Owens told us. Therefore, he sent his investigator into a large discount grocery store in Salt Lake City. The investigator compared shelf prices on Sept. 16, 1974, with those on June 8, 1973.

Choosing basic foods, he showed it is costing Owens' Salt Lake City constituents far more than 14 per cent for their three meats. Here are his findings:

Breakfast: Instant Tang, up 33 per cent; Wonder English Muffins, up 38 per cent; Parkay margarine and Welch's grape jelly to go on the muffins, up 106 per cent and 41 per cent respectively; Pillsbury Hungry Jack pancakes, up 32 per cent; Log Cabin syrup for the pancakes, up 36 per cent; M.J.B. instant coffee, up 55 per cent or for Nestle's Quick, up 34 per cent; sugar for the coffee up 156 per cent; Nabisco shredded wheat up 27 per cent; milk in cartons, up 9 per cent.

Sack lunch: Bread up 49 per cent; Skippy peanut butter, up 25 per cent; Clover Club potato chips, up 68 per cent; Oreo cookies, up 39 per cent; Glad sandwich bags, up 16 per cent; the napkin cost 27 per cent more and the Zec brown lunch bag 31 per cent more.

Mexican Economy Dinner: Woods Cross tomatoes, up 52 per cent; Golden Grain pinto beans, up 198 per cent; Minute rice, up 48 per cent; Little Pancho tortillas, up 17 per cent; Jello dessert, up 50 per cent; popcorn while watching TV, a 66 per cent increase.

Owens believes the government statisticians have been going into the wrong supermarkets.

Footnote: Another explanation, he suggests, is that the BLS statistics are based on old 1961 eating habits. He believes people eat less meat today than they did in 1961. But meat prices which are 9.6 per cent lower than last year's prices have brought down the official index.

JOB RUCKUS: The chief lawyer for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has accused his chairman, John Powell, of "unwarranted and unauthorized interference" in a delicate discrimination case against the Purex Corp.

Instead of fighting for employes' rights through normal legal channels, charged commission general counsel William Carey, Powell tried to help Purex get a settlement behind the scenes.

In an unusual confidential letter, Carey said Powell had gone behind his back to get commission staff lawyers to sit down with a Purex representative. Carey also charged that Powell had advised Purex that problems in the case were only due to a "regrettable misunderstanding" by Carey's staff.

When Carey, a veteran trial attorney, learned of Powell's meddling, he fired off the letter. In it, he said Powell had "compromised the integrity of the Office of General Counsel" by making it appear a company could get "special treatment" by goin to Powell.

The end result, said the scorching letter, was that Powell had hurt the case against Purex and taken a first step in destroying "public confidence" in the commission's fight against racial, sexual and other discrimination.

Powell, in a talk with us, said the episode was caused by lack of staff cooperation and failure of Carey to sit down and talk with him before the affair "escalated." Powell defended his staunch record on employment rights.

SHS volleyball teams defeat Notre Dame

The Sikeston High School girls volleyball team won both matches from the visiting Notre Dame Bulldogs of Cape Girardeau Tuesday night in the high school field house. The Sikeston A-team lost the first game 15-8, but came back to win the next two,, 15-10 and 15-8, to take the match. The B-team won its match in straight games, 15-5 and 15-7.

After Notre Dame won the first A-team game, Sikeston roared back in the second game to build an early 10- point lead as Jeannie Vines gained the first six points with her powerful overhead service, then held on for a five- point victory margin.

In the match- deciding third game, Notre Dame took an early 8-0 lead, but the Sikeston girls rallied behind the consistent serving of Ruth Mitchell and Miss Vines ot reel off 15 straight points and win the match.

In the first B-team game, most of the 10- point SHS victory margin was gained on the serves of Kelly Hill and Debra Schuette. Then most of the points in the 15-7 second game win were gained behind the serving of Emma Wells and Mary Lowney.

The SHS A-team now has three wins to go with four losses, while the B-team has a record of four wins and three losses.

The Sikeston teams travel to Poplar Bluff Monday night for games beginning at 6:30 p.m. The SHS teams scored victories in a previous encounter.

Back over it goes!

Dutch lunches worry wife

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are both in our 60s and we have been married for 36 years. I know he has never been interested in another woman until now.

A few months ago, he started a new job. He has been going to lunch nearly every day with his secretary, who is in her 30s. He told me about it himself, making a big deal out of the fact that they go Dutch.

I don't give a damn who pays, but I find it upsetting that he is lunching with a woman half his age. He says it is just a convenience, that he really doesn't enjoy it, but I notice they don't go to the neighborhood coffeeshop. Every few days they try an interesting new place.

He can't understand why I am perturbed. I cry myself to sleep at night (quietly, so he won't hear me) and sometimes I cry during the day, around lunchtime.

I've offered him his freedom and he tells me I'm crazy. Am I? Is he? -- Harpooned.

Dear H.: In the absence of any solid evidence, I think you'd be wise to stop making accusations. He may be completely innocent but if you continue to badger him, he might get ideas.

My own hunch is there's nothing goin on but lunch and a little flattering of the ego. One of these days, a waitress is bound to ask, "And what will your daughter have?" - and that'll kill his appetite for lunching out.

Dear Ann Landers: Is something wrong with me? I'm 24, married five years and teach school. I don't mind housework but I see no point in doing things in the conventional manner. For example:

I don't press my towels, bed sheets and pillow cases and stack them neatly in the linen closet. I just fold them and figure the wrinkles will fall out when I put the linen on the bed and the towels on the rack.

When I hang shirts on the line, I use one clothespin instead of two. It doesn't look very fancy, but who cares?

Some of my friends have intimated that I'm not a good housekeeper. Would you call me lazy or efficient? -- I'll Take Your Word For It

Dear Word: It's your home and you can do as you please but since you asked for my opinion, I'll give it. Any woman who won't take the time to press her bedsheets and pillowcases and stack them in reasonably orderly fashion has got to be a little lazy. Some towels may look O.K. just folded, but we iron ours.

As for hanging a shirt with one clothespin, that's more than lazy, honey, it's stupid. A good wind comes along and your shirts stand only half as good a chance of staying up as if you had used two clothespins.

Dear Ann Landers: A girl in our office is so thrilled because she landed a professional man that she always introduces herself as "Mrs. Doctor Whatdoyouhoozit."

After I heard her do this for the tenth time I took her aside and told her it was not in good taste. She replied, "It saves a lot of time. Whenever I tell anyone I'm Mrs. Whatdoyouhoozit they ask me if my husband is the surgeon." Who is right? -- No Jealousy, Just Informed

Dear N.J.: You are. But save your breath to cool your soup, Lovey. The gal isn't interested in etiquette. She just wants everybody to know she married a doctor.

System for early detection of breast cancer shows promise

NEW YORK (AP) — A system for very early detection of breast cancer shows promise of saving women's lives, says Dr. Justin J. Stein, who is cured of a cancer that struck him 30 years ago.

Dr. Stein, president of the American Cancer Society, told its annual meeting today that there "is much to be hopeful for" from research against various forms of cancer.

Telling of experiences so far in 27 new breast cancer detection programs, Dr. Stein said that one located in Atlanta had so far found 11 breast cancers, of which only one had spread yet to regional lymph nodes.

He said that by contrast, such a spread has already occurred in 50 to 60 per cent of breast cancers which women find themselves. And "women today discover the presence of their own breast cancers about 95 per cent of the time," and hence have been the earliest detectors.

Breast cancers are highly curable when they are small and non-invasive, Dr. Stein said. But when women do find their own cancers, they are usually over one inch in diameter.

In 1945, he had reticulum cell sarcoma, a form of cancer that can fatally invade the lymph system. He was given one year to live, but was cured by surgery and radiation. Dr. Stein is professor of radiology at the University of California at Los Angeles School of Medicine.

The Breast Cancer Detection Demonstration Projects program was set up jointly by the Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute to "test new methods for the earlier diagnosis of breast cancer," he explained.

While the Atlanta experience is extremely limited to date, it shows "the time to diagnose breast cancer is while they are still small, or not even palpable, and before the patient has any symptoms," he said.

Contestants sought for pageant

COLUMBIA — Young women between the ages of 13 and 17 in Missouri may enter the Miss Missouri Teen-ager pageant scheduled April 25-27, 1975 in Columbia.

The state pageant winner qualifies for the Miss National Teen-ager pageant next August in Atlanta, Ga.

The invitation to enter the pageant was issued this week by Gene Boaz of Paducah, Ky., state director of the Miss Missouri Teen-ager pageant. The reigning Miss Missouri Teen-ager is Madeline A. Travino of Dixon.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement - leadership, poise- personality and beauty. There is no swimsuit or talent competition. The winner will receive a scholarship a vacation to Hawaii and an all-expenses paid trip to Atlanta.

Contestants must be between 13 and 17 years old as of Sept. 1, 1975.

Any teen-ager interested in entering the pageant may write for an application to Gene Boaz, state director, Bleich Road, Paducah, Ky. 42001, or by calling phone number 502-554-2642.

Risco seniors save labels

RISCO — The 1975 Risco High School senior class, in order to continue a 26- year tradition of the annual senior trip, is using an unusual enterprise to help raise the extra money needed for their planned trip.

Labels are being collected from various products to be redeemed for cash.

Persons who wish to assist the Risco seniors in their collection may contact any member of the class or their sponsors, Mrs. Renda Spears and Mrs. Patricia Ayers, for a list of the special product labels.

Another senior profit project includes the current sale of Christmas and all-occasion greeting cards, along with Christmas and all-occasion gift wrapping assortments. Customers who were not contacted during the campaign may still place an order by contacting any class member or the school before Oct. 15.

Metric system is explained

ESSEX — Joyce Blaylock presented a lesson about the metric system to members of the Trotter Extension Club Oct. 7 night.

She compared the present system used in the United States with the metric system.

The annual Christmas party was set for 6:30 p.m. Dec. 12 at the Hickory Log Restaurant in Dexter.

It was announced that the annual fall festival will be held at 10 a.m. Nov. 20 at a church in Dexter. Sgt. Joe Matthews of the Missouri State Highway Patrol will speak on safety for women in the home and on the highway.

The club voted to send a donation to the Stoddard County Association for Retarded children and to order membership packets.

Mrs. Bob Lane was hostess for the meeting which was attended by nine members and four visitors. Those attending were Kay Cain, Betty Wheeler, Joyce Blaylock, Nola Jean Kleffer, Jean Kleffer, Violet Wheeler, Bertie Oliver, Belinda Brawner, Nola Kleffer, Edna Mayberry, Viola Snider and Lavern Triplett.

33 area women attend Ozark tour

CHARLESTON — Early on the morning of Oct. 9, 33 women from Charleston, Wyatt, Bertrand, Lilbourn and Sikeston boarded a chartered bus and "headed for the hills"

The purpose of the trip, sponsored by Mississippi County Extension Clubs, was to tour Iron County in the Ozark foothills and to enjoy the colorful autumn foliage.

First stop — a coffee break — was at Fort Davidson. Here the group toured the grounds of the fort, which was occupied by federal forces and was the site of the battle of Pilot Knob in 1864.

Elephant Rock State Park at Graniteville was next on the agenda. The women, who ranged from 25 to 84 years old, were able to hike to the top of Elephant Rock on the foot trails provided. Plaques along the way pointed out many of nature's wonders, such as lichen, moss, various species of trees and red granite.

Ironton, situated in the Arcadia Valley, was the next stop, with its brick courthouse, stately St. Paul's Episcopal Church and Home for Aged Baptists.

A four- course luncheon followed at the Plain and Fancy Restaurant, located in a large, two- story, white frame house.

Taum Sauk Museum and Pumped Storage Plant and Mill Stream Gardens were points of interest visited in the afternoon.

Taum Sauk Musuem displayed the natural resources of the state, with examples of geological formations, birds, wildflowers, wood and clay resources and their products.

From the musuem, the bus made its way up the mountain to the pumped storage plant, an example of recycling. The water, used to produce some 350,000 kilowatts of electricity, is utilized repeatedly.

From a 55- acre reservoir atop Proffit Mountain, water flows about 7,000 feet down through a tunnel to the power plant and from there into a 400- acre lower lake. At night, when power requirements are lowest, the same water is pumped back to the upper pool.

Mill Stream Gardens, a small frontier town, proved to be a break after the hours of bus riding and hiking. Ice cream and soft drinks were consumed by the group as they milled through the various stores and debated whether or not to use the two- story outdoor john.

Dusk was beginning to fall as the bus headed homeward with a much quieter group of women.

However, most expressed an interest in taking a spring tour -- perhaps to Tennessee.

Cystic fibrosis funds sought by campaign

"Our goals are to cure cystic fibrosis, while improving treatment for children suffering all lung-damaging diseases," said Mrs. Eileen Scheu chairman of the Breath of Life Campaign in Sikeston.

"We have dedicated volunteers, a national organization, renowed scientists and researchers, and more than 110 Centers for diagnosis, treatment, research and education. We need funds to sustain our present programs and begin new ones to bring us more quickly to our goals."

The Sikeston branch, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation is appealing for financial support through the Breath of Life Campaign.

Cystic fibrosis is the most serious lung- damaging disease and is incurable. But today, 50 per cent of the cystic fibrosis patients are living longer than 18 years of age. Just 15 years ago, cystic fibrosis patients almost always died in infancy. These strides in longevity are the result of foundation programs to provide earlier diagnosis, improved methods of treatment, and a better understanding of the disease in the medical community.

The same programs which have helped cystic fibrosis children to longer lives are proving effective in alleviating the suffering and often curing children with other lung- damaging diseases such as severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, and bronchiectasis. As many as six out of seven children screened and evaluated at cystic fibrosis centers have diseases other than cystic fibrosis and receive treatment and/or referral.

Risco cook recalls changes in lunchroom

By PAT LANDERS

RISCO — Mrs. Susie Perrigan, Risco school cook, has served the longest of any member on the present staff of the Risco R-2 School system. She has worked as a lunch room cook since 1944, shortly after the lunch room facilities were originated, and has no immediate plans for retirement.

Mrs. Susie Perrigan

Mrs. Perrigan recalls operating the cafeteria in three locations. The first lunch room was in one end of an old white music building which has long since been demolished, with bus sheds erected on its site. From 1946 to 1958 the cafeteria occupied one end of the old brick gymnasium, which also has been demolished and the site blacktopped for parking east of the present gymnasium.

The present cafeteria facilities were put into use in the elementary school buildng in 1958. Although the kitchen seems to be much more convenient and spacious than any previous one, she commented that it also seems hotter than any former kitchen.

It is interesting to note in this time of inflation that Mrs. Perrigan started working at an average wage of $10 per week, and that lunches cost only 45 cents per week for each pupil at that time.

There was a time when a student's complaints about the food might upset her, but she has since developed the attitude that you can't please all of the people all of the time, and she simply continues to do her best and ignores the rest.

She is well known for her delicious hot rolls and fruit cobblers. After some persuasion she finally consented to share her recipe for hot rolls.

HOT ROLLS

Mix 1 dishpan of warm water with 1½ cups yeast. -Let set five minutes. Add 4- cups instant dry milk, 2 pounds butter, 1 quart sugar, a handful of salt and 25 pounds flour (or enough to make a stiff dough).

Knead on floured surface and let rise 1½ hours. Punch dough down and shape into 420 large buns. Place in greased bread pans. Let rise, then bake at 450 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

At Wits End

By Erma Bombeck

A grade school principal in the East recently became so upset about the lack of nutrition in the lunches the children were eating that he declared an edict banning junk food from the cafeteria.

I have a feeling the kids jammed the edict between two potato chips and two squares of Hershey chocolate and had it for lunch.

There is certainly no quarrel with the theory. Children should eat nutritionally balanced meals. But children do not take to ultimatums. I'm no authority, mind you, but I would have tried the old "Accentuate- The- Negative- Reverse- The- Positive- And- Make- The- Kid- Think- Your- Idea- Is- His- And- He's- Driving- You- Crazy" approach.

Instead of an edict,the bulletin would have read something like this:

Memo to: School Children

Re: Nutritional Lunches

1. Carrots are illegal on school premises. Children bringing them from home will need a note from a parent giving permsision to have them, or they will be confiscated by the office and held until dismisal time.

2. Locker inspection for thermoses containing hot vegetable soup or other nutritious dishes will be held periodically without warning. At that time. students are instructed to go to their lockers and stand at attention. DO NOT UNLOCK YOUR LOCKER UNTIL A TEACHER INSTRUCTS YOU TO DO SO. Thermoses will be destroyed by the custodian.

3. Because of student demand, we are selling fresh fruit by the door in the cafeteria. This is on a trial basis. If we find this is all students are having for lunch it will be discontinued. Remember fruit contains sugar and Billy Tooth is watching you. To avoid congestion at fruit counter, please have correct change.

4. Teachers have reported to the office that raisin boxes and milk cartons have been found on the school grounds. We know there are students who have been sneaking nutritious foods on the premises and for this reason students have been posted and are instructed to "take names."

5. Your principal will be patrolling the lunchroom where he wants to see potato chips, candy bars, tortilla chips, soft drinks and ice cream. Remember, junk foods build soft bones, soft teeth, and make you sleep a lot.

Trust me. It'll work.

Girl Scouts may receive $9,200 from United Way

The Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council will receive an allocation of $9,200 from United Way funds if the drive reaches the $46,000 goal set for this year.

Funds received from the United Way are used by the Cotton Boll Council to make it possible for Sikeston scouts to have a full range of benefits provided by the council, as well as the national and international Girl Scout program. Sikeston has 700 scouts, and the Girl Scout program is considered one of the strongest youth programs in the area.

The Rev. Paul Walker is chairman of the 1974 Sikeston United Way campaign which opened with a kickoff breakfast Tuesday morning.

4-H'ers receive fair money

RISCO — A total of $139.40 in premium money from the Delta Fair in Kennett was distributed Oct. 7 to 19 members of the Risco- New Hope 4-H Club during a club meeting at the Farmers State Bank community room.

Individual checks were presented by Nancy Cummins, president, who conducted the session.

Wayne Blough presented an illustrated talk on entomology, titled "Polyphemus Moth," during which he displayed a recently hatched specimen and its cocoon.

"Choosing and Caring for Scissors and Shears" was the title of Sherri Eakens' illustrated talk.

Plans were made for a Halloween party to be held the last week in October.

Mrs. Pansy Crosby, county youth assistant, announced the annual county recognition program is set for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 7 at the Matthews school.

Committees were appointed to plan the Risco-New Hope community achievement program scheduled at 7 p.m. Nov. 11 at Farmers State Bank.

A nominating committee was named to select candidates for election as new officers for the coming year. Members are Nancy Cummins, Tammy Hony, Andrew Joyce, Tommy Kirksey, Wayne Blough, Pam Lancaster, Karen Jones and Janet Keaster.

Twenty-four members, three leaders and one visitor attended.

Jessica Kellett has party

CHARLESTON — Jessica Kellett celebrated her fourth birthday Sept. 28 at a party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Kellett, 709 E. Cypress Street.

A clown theme was used.

Refreshments were served to the 18 boys and girls invited and favors of felt clown faces and balloons were given to each child.

Coronation services held

TALLAPOOSA — The Girls Auxiliary and Acteens coronation was held Oct 6 at the Tallapoosa Baptist Church with a theme of "Mission Adventure."

Girls taking advancing steps were Wandena and Nora Mae Weldon, Carla Deprow, Pam Lancaster and Shelia and Lisa Meese.

Mrs. Hugh Landers presented the opening scriptures and comments, after which the Acteen leaders, Mrs. Russell Deprow and Mrs. Jack Meese, assisted the Girls Auxiliary leaders, Mrs. Willie Weldon and Mrs. Kenneth Carlisle, with the awards presentation.

Pianist was Mrs. Rayvon Knapp, and song leader was Mrs. Bill Fortner.

30 SeMo bands slated to march

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Because Southeast Missouri State University's homecoming parade was rained out in 1973, there'll be a bonus for spectators who line up along Broadway and Main Streets at 9:30 a.m. Saturday to view this fall's version of the colorful event.

Thirty bands from area schools will take part in this fall's Homecoming activities, said LeRoy Mason, chairman of the Division of Music at Southeast Missouri State and director of the Golden Eagles, the university's famed marching band.

This is twice the normal number of visiting bands, Mason indicated.

Ordinarily, area bands willing to participate in homecoming activities are invited once every three years, Mason said. The situation is different this year because the bands which did not get to march last fall were invited back to join with those which were already scheduled to march, according to the rotating system.

Twenty- nine of the bands will march with the Golden Eagles prior to the 1:30 p.m. football game in Houck Stadium. David Green, associate director of the Eagles, will direct.

The other 10 bands will participate in the halftime show with the Golden Eagles. Mason will direct.

Music department officials estimate the cost to get the visiting bands to Cape Girardeau and home again is about $5,000.

Altogether, they say, the bands have 2,100 members and will travel 3,710 miles in 45 buses. Each band pays its own expenses.

Southeast Missouri State alumni direct 24 of the 30 bands.

Bands which will be in Cape Girardeau on Saturday and their directors are Festus, Al Rowland; Illmo- Scott City, Tom Cosgrove; Cape Girardeau Central, Bill Ewing; Shawnee, Ill., John Quinn; Ste. Genevieve, John Wibbenmeyer; Fox of Arnold, David Butler; Farmington, Don McClard; Potosi, Ron Hall; Jackson, Nick Leist; Jackson Junior High, James Rhodes; Anna-Jonesboro, Ill., Debra Coffman; Bell City, Joe Pappas; Arcadia Valley, Keith Kirchner; Puxico, Harold Lichtennegger; Sikeston Edward Cowan; Kelley of Benton, Bob Reedy; Egyptian of Tamms, Ill., Tom Wright; Bismarck, Jim Sowers; Bernie, Charles Holt; St. Francis Borgia, Harry Hopkins; Richland, James Carman; Clearwater, Joe English; Delta, Evelyn Restemyer; Cuba, Stan Moore; Oak Ridge, Jean Schwein; Scott Central, Terry Propst; Ellington, Jim Porter; Steelville, John Craig; Bloomfield, Wayne Freeman; and Advance, James Arnold.

Scott aid payments total $153,745

The Scott County Family Service Office disbursed funds totaling $153,745 in September, with the greatest part being paid to the Aid to Dependent Children program.

Breman L. Montgomery, county director, said state supplemental payments of $21,835 were paid to 696 persons. These persons were transferred to the new federal program Supplemental Security Income payroll and also remained eligible for a supplemental payment from the state. These received payments under the new SSI program and the state supplemental program.

There were 249 persons who received state supplemental payments only, totaling $11,240. This group previously received Old Age Assistance, Permanent and Total Disability, or Aid to the Blind payments and were not eligible for the new SSI program.

There were 904 families with 2,174 children who received a total of $106,455. in the Aid to Dependent Children category, averaging $117.76 per family.

General Relief funds of $10,220 went to 150 families consisting of 169 persons, with a family check averaging $68.13 per family.

There were 21 persons receiving a total of $3,885 in Nursing Care Supplement payments during the month of September.

One person received $110 Blind Pension.

Child Welfare Services were provided for 144 children and 219 children were given preventive services. There was $3,718.56 expended from County Court payroll and Aid to Dependent Children - Foster Care payroll for 40 children in Foster Care.

Seventeen adults were given services during the month of September. Seventeen adults were given protective services.

Unemployment pay down in September

Unemployment insurance benefits disbursed in Scott and Stoddard counties during September decreased dramatically from August, Murl Nash, informational supervisor for the state Division of Employment Security, has announced.

In Scott County, $52,379 in benefits was paid out in August, but only $14,081 was disbursed in September. Stoddard County payments totaled $39,560 in August and $17,654 during September.

The increase in unemployment in August was primarily seasonal, a spokesman for the Missouri State Employment Service office in Sikeston said.

Many factories change product styles about that time, the spokesman said, mentioning the shoe industry as an example.

This year's figures in Scott and Stoddard counties for September represent a slight increase from figures for the same period in 1973. In 1973, $14,081 was paid out in Scott County, and $17,654 in Stoddard County.

In Mississippi and New Madrid counties, the amounts remained relatively constant.

Unemployment insurance benefits paid out in Mississippi County during September amounted to $23,417, an increase from the $14,428 paid during the same period in 1973 and $18,904 during August 1974.

In New Madrid County, the benefits paid out in September totaled $7,058 – a decrease from the $11,746 paid out in August and the $13,658 for the same period last year.

The total amount paid out in the four- county area was $75,418 -- an increase of $15,597 from the same period last year, but a drop of $47,171 from August.

Industrial output up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial output edged upward in September after two months of decline, but still was lower than the level recorded in the same month a year ago, the government says.

The index was up by three-tenths of one per cent over August, but 1 per cent behind a year ago, the Federal Reserve Board said Tuesday. The index stood at 125.5, meaning output currently is 125.5 per cent ahead of 1967.

Increased production of raw materials for industry was the reason for most of the monthly climb, despite a virtual acrossthe-board further decline in output of finished products. The raw material production growth was attributed to settlement of scattered strikes.

6 injuries treated

Six accident patients were treated and released Tuesday in the emergency room at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Money may come easier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Homebuyers should find mortgage money easier to locate as a result of an emergency housing credit bill passed by Congress Tuesday.

The bill, which authorizes up to $7.7 billion for federal purchases of conventional housing mortgages, was a priority request of President Ford in his eonomic message to Congress a week ago.

Rep. Garry Brown, a ranking Republican on the Banking Committee, said he has been assured that Ford will sign the bill.

He said the mortgage purchases should begin soon afterward, freeing up banks and savings and loan institutions to underwrite more mortgages.

Seventy per cent of single family homes have conventional mortgages but the government's secondary mortgage agencies have been restricted to purchases of home mortgages insured by the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration.

Middle-class homebuyers will benefit most from the legislation. It authorizes the government agencies to buy up mortgages on houses csting between $33,000 and $38,000 but authorizes the secretary of Housing and Urban Development to allow purchases of mortgages on houses costing up to $42,000 in high-cost areas.

A ceiling of $55,000 was put on mortgages in the extraordinarily expensive areas of Alaska, Hawaii and Guam.

The housing industry is in its worst doldrums since World War II, its officials say.

Music class visits shop

The Bertrand elementary music class, consisting of the fifth and sixth graders, visited an Antique place Friday where they listened to and watched a player piano in action. The piano has been electrified, so all they had to do was watch the keyboard play old songs such as, "My Buddy", "Beautiful Ohio", "The Doll Dance", "In the Garden", "Old Rudd", and one of the songs played with four hands. Some of the songs had words beside them, and the children sang along. From left, are: Johnny King, Julie Mueller, Vivian Hooper, Leslie Elliott, Teacher, Carla Wills, and Terri Dismuke.

Paper in floor furnace ignites

Firemen were called at 8:24 a.m. today to the Jessie Lewis home, 318 Westgate St., when paper in a floor furnace caught fire.

Firemen said the paper had apparently been put in the furance during the summer by the children and had not been removed before the furnace was turned on.

Firemen reported no damage.

Councilman opposes repeal

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A Kansas City councilman testified at a legislative hearing Tuesday against a proposal to repeal the Sunday blue law, but other witnesses expressed their support.

City Councilman C. Harold Mann said Sunday sales would increase business volume only 2 or 3 per cent and that would be offset by higher labor costs, utilities, taxes and poor personnel relations.

"I see no increase in spending by Missouri citizens," Mann said.

"Most spend all they can make and borrow now."

"I believe God insired the idea of resting every seventh day and I bow to his superior judgment as to what is good for us," Mann said.

Others at the hearing of a special legislative subcommittee on urban problems said the law, which prohibits sale of specified items on Sunday, should be repealed.

The Rev. Harold R. Coats, a Seventh-Day Adventist minister, argued for repeal of the Missouri law on grounds of civil rights.

"It is extremely difficult to legislate morality and spirituality," he said.

"Furthermore, heaven refuses to accept legislated spirituality."

The New Madrid County sheriff's department said Harris is facing charges in Scott County and will not have charges filed against him in New Madrid County.

Bond advises conservation high priority

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond has advised President Ford that "conservation of energy was and still is a high priority in my administration."

Bond, hand-delivering his response to the President's call for state conservation steps during Ford's Kansas City appearance Tuesday night, told Ford the state welcomes his energy conservation challenge.

The governor cited current energy saving measures in state government that have cut energy use by as much as 20 per cent, but he added:

"The most important conservation effort, however, is our strict enforcement of the 55 m.p.h. speed limit."

He told the President that traffic arrests are up 31 per cent over a year ago while the average highway speed in Missouri has dropped nine miles an hour.

Bond also restated his support for the anti-inflation efforts of the President, who was in Kansas City to outline a plan for economic and energy conservation during a speech to the Future Farmers of America.

Earlier in the day, Bond called the 16 traffic deaths on state roads last weekend "distressing" and urged Missouri motorists to increase safe driving efforts.

He asked motorists to become more involved in the "Save 400 in '74" campaign to cut traffic deaths by 400 this year over a year ago.

As of midnight Monday, 790 persons had died on the state's highways compared with 1,151 for the same period a year ago.

Summers fined

NEW MADRID — Larry Summers, 20, of New Madrid, charged with the destruction of public property and public intoxication, was fined $100 today by Police Judge G. G. Dawson.

Summers had set fire to bedding in a city jail cell following his arrest Saturday for public intoxication.

2 arrested

Police today announced the arrest of Larry Johnson, Fuchs Street, for petit larceny and Jesse Cruse of Wappapello for driving while intoxicated.

Boston schools open with Guard units standing by

BOSTON (AP) — Boston schools opened today with National Guard units standing by in armories, and Mayor Kevin H. White charged that the Guard "may well be an inept, incompetent, ill-equipped, undisciplined or undertrained state militia."

Hundreds of police patrolled a high school that was the scene of racial violence Tuesday, the latest outbreak in more than four weeks of scattered violence over the issue of school busing to achieve desegregation.

"We cannot allow this city to become another Detroit, where it took dozens of civilian deaths at the hands of police and National Guardsmen to bring in the federal troops to restore order," White said.

"We cannot permit Roxbury (a black section of Boston) to become another Watts. We must not allow South Boston High to become another Kent State."

White had asked for federal assistance in keeping order in the city, but the White House turned down that request, saying federal troops would be used only as a last resort if local and state authorities were unable to maintain order.

However, the Pentagon announced today that Army paratroopers at Ft. Bragg, N.C., have been placed on alert in case they are needed in the Boston school crisis. A spokesman described the move as purely precautionary.

Gov. Francis W. Sargent mobilized the Guard on Tuesday and about 450 guardmen were sent to armories, with other units put on standby for possible callup.

The governor ordered the Guard standby after citing "stabbings, stonings and disorders" in schools Tuesday, mostly at a high school in the predominately white Hyde Park section where eight white persons were injured. One 15-year-old was slashed in the abdomen.

Scattered violence has troubled the school system since it opened more than four weeks ago under a court-ordered school desegregation plan relying heavily on busing.

One arrest was reported at Hyde Park High School today. A 17-year-old black male was charged with assault on a police officer.

At Hyde Park High, attendance described by officials as very low. About 50 police patrolled the school corridors, with around 200 more outside.

In rejecting Sargent's request for federal assistance, Ford said in a statement that the primary responsibility for maintaining order continues to lie with state and local authorities.

Mayor Kevin H. White refused comment. But an aide said the mobilization decision was made over the mayor's expressed wishes.

Congress hopes for quick enactment of compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders hope to get quick enactment of a compromise worked out with President Ford to cut off U.S. military aid to Turkey but not until Dec. 10.

Opponents led by Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., called that "no compromise at all" and said they would try in the House today to cut off the aid Nov. 30 — or sooner, if Turkey sends any more arms to its occupation forces on Cyrpus.

But House Appropriations Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., floor manager of the compromise resolution, said Ford needs until Dec. 10 to get Cyprus peace negotiations going.

House Speaker Carl Albert and Senate leaders said Tuesday they hoped to get final action on the Turkish aid dispute today and let anxious congressmen get home to re-election campaigns.

The Turkish aid ban is attached to an emergency spending resolution that some federal agencies need by Thursday to legally pay their employes.

The Dec. 10 Turkish aid cutoff was worked out by House leaders and White House aides and reportedly received Ford's personal approval Tuesday after the House sustained Ford's veto of a measure to cut off the Turkey aid immediately.

It is the same aid cutoff Ford vetoed Monday except that it permits Ford to delay the cutoff from taking effect until Dec. 10 if he determines that "will further negotiations for a peaceful resolution of the Cyprus conflict."

The compromise is only five days different from the Dec. 15 compromise approved by the Senate last week but narrowly rejected, 187 to 171, by the House. Mahon called it "a facesaving proposition to try to get us out of here."

The compromise was approved by the House Appropriations Committee by voice vote. The committee rejected the Rosenthal amendment to cut off the aid Nov. 30 or as soon as any more Turkish arms went to Cyprus.

Meanwhile, Ford signed a Watergate-inspired bill imposing limits on the amount of money any person or group can give and on the amounts candidates can spend in campaigns for federal office.

The law also provides for public financing of presidential campaigns, but not for House and Senate races, and establishes an independent commission to enforce the law.

Congress also finished work on bills authorizing a $200 million federal grant for Amtrak trains and ending auto safety seat belt interlocks and constant buzzers that force motorists to buckle up before their cars will start.

$27 million in property traded

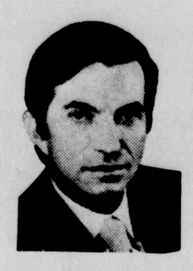
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government traded $27 million in productive property in California for a one million square-foot building so that former President Richard M. Nixon could store his records near his San Clemente home, The Washington Post reported Tuesday.

The story said federal officials arranged the trade under pressure from the Nixon White House earlier this year. The General Services Administration acquired the unused building at Laguna Niguel, Calif., 10 miles north of San Clemente, from Rockwell International Corp., a major defense contractor, the newspaper said.

In exchange, the government gave Rockwell buildings in El Segundo and Canoga Park, Calif., that Rockwell already was occupying at no cost as part of a defense contract, The Post said. The story said Rockwell was then allowed to charge the government for its use of the buildings which it owned because of the trade.

The report said the government still had a need for the buildings it traded away, and the replacement cost could run as high as $18 million. Meanwhile, it added, the building obtained by the government for Nixon's records remains unused.



DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Toddler's constipation woes

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a little granddaughter who is 3½ years old. She has been given physics most of her life and many enemas. She screams on the stool for as much as an hour at a time with my daughter or others at her side, either encouraging or demanding that she release it.

My daughter insists that when she is kept on a strict diet that she doesn't have nearly as much trouble. We all try to abide by this, little or no sweets, in order to help the child.

I have watched all this go on for a long period of time. My daughter and other members of the family insist that all this is psychological and my concern is that perhaps it is not.

I am neither a doctor nor a psychologist, but neither are they. In behalf of the child I contend that a physical examination should be made of this area as a first step. Am I wrong?

Will you please advise me, Doctor? I have no one else to turn to without causing family trouble.

DEAR READER — It is an important problem. And, your daughter is probably right in the context that psychological factors can be very important in such cases. However, it really doesn't make any difference whether it is psychological or because of some other problem, it does require proper treatment. Usually this is not laxatives and enemas.

The idea that sweets should be limited and the diet should contain more roughage; vegetables, cereals, whole wheat products, is wise. Even a child needs sufficient bulk in the diet for proper function of the colon.

It is important to develop good bowel habits early in life but that specifically does not include taking laxatives and enemas. A laxative habit at any age can be harmful. It is just possible that the little girl already has a spastic colon because of her bowel habits and the use of laxatives. And, believe me, that can be painful. This may be why she screams.

Yes, she needs an examination. This might need to include a study of her colon to see how it is functioning. She needs to be put on a diet that will help her more. It may be that she will need a bowel training program, which includes developing regular bowel habits. That means plenty of warm liquids at breakfast and each morning sitting on the commode for 15 minutes. A bowel movement is not necessary.

I think the amount of attention she gets from the present ritual is not conducive to developing good habits. She should be allowed to go to the bathroom and left there. If she doesn't have a bowel movement, okay, she may have one the next day.

It is not necessary to have a bowel movement every day. Why don't you encourage your daughter to take her to the doctor and try to develop a good program for her.

For more detailed information about constipation write to me, in care of this newspaper . P.O. Box 1551 Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10022, and ask for the "Constipation" booklet. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

Bowel training can have important effects on the psychological reactions of a person later in life. The idea of withholding a bowel movement to punish the parents gets started fairly early in life. The child can reward or punish anxious parents by their actions. Sometimes a child with real severe problems needs help from a child psychologist or psychiatrist. This can be quite important.

So, it isn't a matter of whether it is psychological or not, but rather one of a condition that needs treatment.

ABC introduces new 'AM America' show

NEW YORK (AP) — The ABC television network held a meet-the-press powwow the other day to show off the stars of its new "AM America" morning program, which starts Jan. 6. It also emitted an announcement.

The announcement was that Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., who isn't seeking re-election, and former U.S. Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson will appear as "guest contributors" on the show once every other week.

ABC already has said former New York Mayor John Lindsay also will be a guest commentator on the show, but on a once-a-week basis.

The stars of the two-hour show — Bill Beutel of WABCTV here, Stephanie Edwards of KABC-TV in Los Angeles and Bob Kennedy of WLS-TV in Chicago — spoke, among other things, of their hopes for the show's success.

Miss Edwards, who for several years has co-hosted a local morning program on KABC, sought to quash rumors she might play the trombone — which she played in high school — on the new network show.

She said that would be silly and besides she isn't in shape.

She also said she finds it embarrassing when someone asks if she thinks she'll be better than Barbara Walters of NBC's durable "Today" show. That also is silly, she said.

Sally Quinn was among the gaggle of scriveners taking all this down.

Miss Quinn faced the same will-you-beat-Walters nonsense in August 1973, when she signed to co-host the "CBS Morning News," only to leave in January and return to reporting for the Washington Post.

I guess I should have asked her how things are going now, but (a) ABC had the floor; (b) too many journalists are interviewed these days, and (c) "Weekend," NBC's new latenight magazine program, is airing a story Saturday called, "Whatever Happened to Sally Quinn?"

A whatever-happened-to essay on former Vice President Spiro Agnew is part of tonight's special one-hour version of ABC's "The Reasoner Report," a half-hour show also seen early Saturday evenings.

Alas, the show has no more luck in interviewing Agnew than CBS News, which dispatched a reporter last week to attempt talking with him on the first anniversary of his resignation as vice president and plea of no contest to one count of income tax evasion.

All ABC gets out of him is a sardonic, "To what do I owe the honor of this visit?" But the segment is interesting, if only as a curiosity piece that shows Agnew in private life and in stoic, solitary silence when the cameras are rolling.

The show also has longer segments on world hunger and White House photographer David Kennerly, among other subjects.

What's the law?

The case of the kidnaped car

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Irwin lived in an apartment complex which contained as many "No Parking" signs within the area as it did apartments. Nevertheless, nonconformist Irwin insisted upon ignoring the signs and, one morning, he discovered that his landlord had his car towed away.

What's more, the towing company refused to return it until Irwin paid the towing and storage charges.

Hotter than a firecracker, Irwin sued the towing company for illegally refusing to return his property.

"First they kidnaped my car," he charged in court, "and now they're holding it for ransom."

"Nonsense!" responded the owner of the towing company, "Irwin's landlord acted perfectly within his rights in directing us to take it away. By ignoring the 'No Parking' signs, Irwin's now to pay the high cost of leaving his car or he's not entitled to get it back."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the towing company liable for depriving Irwin of his car?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that while the owner of the apartment complex may have had the right to have Irwin's car towed away, the towing company acquired no lien on it for storage and towing charges. Consequently, concluded the judge in effect, the towing company had no right to hold it for ransom until Irwin paid its charges.

(Based upon a 1974 Florida District Court of Appeals Decision)

The tallest block of apartments in the world is Lake Point Towers of 70 stories, 645 feet high, in Chicago.

Distinguished graduates attend Naval Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — The U. S. Naval Academy's Class of 1978 includes many of the nation's most distinguished high school graduates.

Forty- eight per cent of the new midshipmen were members of the National Honor Society.

Fifteen per cent were class presidents or vice presidents, 31 per cent were school club presidents or vice presidents and 24 per cent were school publications staff members. Seventy- seven per cent participated in high school varsity athletics.

Twelve per cent were Eagle Scouts and 19 per cent attended Boys State or Boys Nation, while 73 per cent ranked in the first fifth of their high school graduating class. Another 19 per cent ranked in the second fifth of their class.

Midshipmen are admitted from every state in the nation and the District of Columbia. The Class of 1978 includes five foreign nationals, from Ecuador, Nicaragua, Peru, Dominican Republic and Haiti.

The new class also includes 224 enlisted Navy and Marine Corps candidates from the Naval Academy Preparatory School in Bainbridge, Md., and 178 members of minority groups, the largest number of minority candidates to enter Annapolis in one class.

Young men between the ages of 16-22 who are interested in obtaining more information about the academy should contact the Candidate Guidance Office, U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. 21402, or call the local Blue and Gold officer, Cmdr. C. L. Blanton III, at phone number 471-1137 for information about applying to attend the academy.

C.B. group names board

NEW MADRID — The New Madrid County C. B. Radio Club named a six- member board of directors at a meeting Friday in the Scott Street school attended by 28 persons.

Board members are Thurman Beeson, Hubert Harris Jr., Frank Masterson, Betty Taylor, Rose Cheatham and Arbie Newton.

Plans were made to conduct a white elephant sale Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m. on the parking lot at the corner of Main and Mott Streets across from Bank of New Madrid.

Tickets for a deer rifle to be awarded at 9 p.m. on Nov. 8 at the club's next meeting are available from club members.

The meeting, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. at Jewell Tallie Cafe, formerly Pauline's Cafe, 530 Mott St., is open to interested persons and prospective members.

Kiwanis officers to be installed

LILBOURN — Installation of Kiwanis Club officers is scheduled Thursday at the city hall in a program following a 6:30 p.m. potluck dinner.

Harold Kuehle of Cape Girardeau, lieutenant governor of Division 15, will install Bill Tope, president; Mike Hahne, vice president; and Owen J. Taul, secretary- treasurer. Tope succeeds Jack Hatley, retiring president.

Friends may call at Landess Funeral Home.

Services are scheduled at 2 p.m Thursday in Kirkball Baptist Church with the Revs. E. D. Francis and Gene Lancaster officiating.

Burial will follow in Memorial Park Cemetery.

WALTER PERDUE

ST. LOUIS — Walter Perdue, 91, formerly of Morley, died Tuesday night at a St. Louis nursing home.

Survivors include three daughters, Mary Ellen Icone of Washington, D. C., Frances Lamonte of Kansas City and Joy Wother of St. Louis, and one son, Harold Perdue of Racine, Wis.

Graveside rites will be conducted at noon Saturday in the old Morley Cemetery.

Haven

There is a moment in every life for which there is no solace. We can only try to remove obstacles which might intensify grief and increase stress. Over the years we have endeavored to do just this by making our Funeral Home a haven of quiet serenity where the bereaved may at least be free of the jarring strains of the outside world.

Charleston homecoming is planned

CHARLESTON — "The Pioneer Spirit" has been selected as the theme for Friday's Charleston High School homecoming celebration.

The annual homecoming parade down Main Street will kick off festivities at 2:30 p.m. The high school, freshman and eighth grade bands will be featured, along with both civic and school floats. First, second, third and fourth place awards will be given for the winning school floats.

The Bluejays, homecoming opponent will be the Kennett Indians in a football game starting at 7:30 p.m.

At 7:10 p.m. Friday, the homecoming queen will be crowned at the stadium.

Queen candidates include seniors Dianne Lynn, Catherine Brown and Glenda Wade. Following the announcement of the queen winner, the other two girls will serve as senior class attendants.

Junior class attendants are Debra Smotherman and Augustine Deals, sophomore attendants are Luann Malone and Phyllis Jones, and freshman attendants are Janette Shelby and Laura Turner.

Football team members from the senior class will serve as escorts.

Check for taxes received

BENTON — Scott County Treasurer Hess Porter announced he has received a $128,012 check for foreign insurance taxes from Arthur Mallory, state commission of education.

The money is collected from insurance companies from other states which do business in Missouri. The money will be distributed to local schools on a basis of $11 per pupil enrolled.

The amount goes to the free text book fund of the district and may be used to buy text books.

Amounts received, by districts, will be: Illmo- Scott City R-1, $16,342.72; Chaffee R-2, $11,563.14; Oran R-3, $9,443.99; Kelly R-4, $10,549.63; Scott Central R-5, $9,662.82; Sikeston R-6, $63,551.18; and Kelso - New Hamburg C-7, $6,898.72.

Youth charged in kidnaping

PIEDMONT, Mo. (AP)—A high school sophomore who held up his school and kidnapped its principal at gunpoint will be charged with violating the juvenile code, authorities said.

The 16-year-old youth abducted Edwin Thompson, the principal of Clearwater High School in this southeast Missouri town, after robbing the school office of $447 early Tuesday, Wayne County sheriff's deputies said.

Thompson, 42, was later found unharmed near Des Arc, about 10 miles north of here. The teen-ager was apprehended a few moments later when he emerged from a nearby wooded section.

The youth, armed with a .22 caliber pistol, reportedly forced Reggie Bone, a high school coach, to accompany him to Thompson's office, where he ordered them and District Superintendent Ronnie McCormick to open the school vault.

The boy then took the money and forced Thompson into a car, which he drove to the wooded area near Des Arc, police said.

The youth was turned over to juvenile authorities following his arrest and taken to the Reynolds County detention facility in nearby Ellington.

Board discusses school purchases

SCOTT CITY — Tennis courts, stage curtains, recent purchases for the high school library and other school related business was discussed Monday night by the Illmo- Scott City Board of Education.

New curtains for the state at the high school will be purchased at a cost of $3,400. The cost will be shared equally between the school and the district's Parent- Teacher Organization.

A contract will be drawn up with Rust and Martin for future installation, but will not be installed until after construction of new class rooms at which time the stage can be cleared as a partial storage area.

The Parent- Teacher Organization also agreed to start a layaway fund to help the board purchase tennis courts at same future date.

Mrs. Charlotte Brune, high school librarian, told the board that a microfilm projector with magazine tapes, pamphlets, library books and career education materials had been purchased for use this year. The library is now equipped to meet the media standards for a state certified Triple A quality school.

The board approved and signed the application for reimbursement for $2,400 in state money.

Mrs. Mary Moseback was employed as a learning disability teacher to begin her work Jan. 6, after the Christmas vacation. This action was due to the new Special Education Law passed by the state.

The board was told that building progress is on schedule and the computer scheduling and grade cards used by the school this year was explained.

Bill Heckert, high school principal, also reported action taken on various discipline problems over the past month.

'Night for the ducks'...Monday

A super- sized night for local sportsmen is on the calendar for Oct. 21. That's when the SwampEast Missouri Chapter of Ducks Unlimited, the international wildlife conservation organization, pulls out all of the stops with its big annual "night- for- the- ducks", to be held at Sikeston Ramada Inn.

Local DU leaders promise that it will be memorable evening for those in attendance, with good food, plenty of 'duck-talk', and some outstanding prizes. The party will be highlighted by one of the most unusual prizes to come down the proverbial pike --- a rare and unique Ducks Unlimited Commemorative Shotgun.

Just a year ago, America's oldest gunmaker, Remington Arms, paid high tribute to Ducks Unlimited with the issue of the Model 1100 DU Commemorative autoloader. Now, Remington has written gun history by issuing a new Ducks Unlimited Commemorative Model 870 "Wingmaster" pump, in honor of DU's continuing leadership and achievement in the wildlife conservation business. Remington is producing a super- high- quality, extremely limited "presentation" edition of the handsome Model 870 DU Commemorative -- only 600 of them -- which are being featured as headline prizes at Ducks Unlimited "fund- raisers" across the nation -- including the local DU party.

And, that's just a beginning of the great, exclusive features of this special series of only 600 -- handsome cut checkering is featured on the top quality "C Grade" American walnut stock and fore-end. The stock is fitted with "All-American" grade recoil pad and TC-Grade grip cap. Additional super featuers include polished gold trigger; ivory front sight, and mid- barrel sight; improved barrel and receiver finishing for superior blueing, and special, custom- contoured handsome, hard carrying case.

Saving the best for last -- the unique super- guns to be featured at DU dinners will come in the ultra- rare serial numbers in the series of No. 1-DU to No. 600-DU!!! Experts in gun collecting will quickly tell you that this shotgun will be a very rare and attractive collector's prize. It's worth remembering -- guns from this special commemorative series of only 600 Model 870's will only be available at DU fundraising events, not at any store!

Plan now to attend the Ducks Unlimited party coming up on Monday. Who knows ... perhaps you'll come away from that enjoyable evening the enviable owner of one of the rarest commemorative guns ever issued -- the Ducks Unlimited Model 870 Remington "Wingmaster".

A number of door prizes will be awarded and an old fashion auction will be conducted.

Jim Tom Blair will be the featured speaker.

A's face 20-game winners

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland A's don't plan on going back to Los Angeles.

"We're a very emotional ballclub and we could start steamrolling," said Reggie Jackson after the A's beat the Dodgers 3-2 Tuesday night and took a 21 lead in the World Series.

The A's, confident and comfortable in their Oakland Coliseum, can finish off the National League champions if they win the next two games here, with Ken Holtzman going tonight and Vida Blue Thursday night.

Jackson and some others believe it's a good possibility.

"The Dodgers are the best all-around team I've seen in my major league career," Jackson said. "But we're a pretty good team, too. We are a money team. That's why we've been in the World Series for the last three years."

Manager Alvin Dark and center fielder Bill North were thinking along the same lines.

"I know we will be facing a couple of 20-game winners," Dark said of Andy Messersmith and Don Sutton. "But we've got a couple of 20-game winners for them, too."

Actually, neither Sutton, Holtzman nor Blue won 20 games in 1974, but Dark contended: "I consider them all 20-game winning pitchers."

The way the Series has been going, you have to give some weight to the feelings of Jackson, Dark and North. The opportunistic A's have cashed in on all the breaks to beat the Dodgers in the first and third games.

Los Angeles catcher Joe Ferguson, the goat of the game with two errors, certainly agreed with Jackson's assessment.

"They are definitely a team of opportunity," Ferguson said of the A's. "They got away with murder, to say the least."

The first opportunity for Oakland came in the third inning after pitcher Catfish Hunter struck out against Al Downing. North singled sharply to left for his first hit of the Series and went all the way to third on Bert Campaneris' hot ground ball to third baseman Ron Cey.

That aggressive baserunning paid off for Oakland. After Sal Bando walked on a 3-2 count, Jackson bounced a ball in front of the plate and Ferguson muffed it, allowing the first run of the game. Joe Rudi then singled to center to drive home Bando from second base and the A's had a 2-0 lead for 25game winner Hunter.

Downing walked a batter leading off the Oakland fourth, but he should have known better. Once Dick Green got on base, the A's found a way to get him all the way around.

Hunter sacrificed the runner to second, and after North flied to Bill Buckner near the warning track in left field, Campaneris singled home the A's third run — the one which turned out to be their gamewinner.

The Dodgers produced some late thunder with solo home runs by Buckner and Willie Crawford in the eighth and ninth innings, but reliable Rollie Fingers preserved Hunter's victory.

Best game for Onofrio

LINCOLN, Neb. — I just can't believe it repeated Nebraska fans as the Tigers upset Nationally ranked number five Nebraska in their Big Eight Conference opener.

Now the Tigers must come up with a repeat performance against Oklahoma State Saturday.

When Missou last played here two years ago the Huskers had romped to a 62-0 triumph. That's why the fans all 76,526 were in disbelief when the Onofrio Bengals walked off with a 21-10 victory. It was a repetition of the miracle which occurred after that drubbing here that the Tigers rebounded to surprise No. 8 ranked Notre Dame last year.

But this time you had to see it to believe it. The Huskers were leading 10-0 with eleven minutes and 26 seconds remaining in the game. Reserve quarterback Steve Pisarkiewicz and reserve tailback Tony Galbreath went to work. Pisarkiewicz scored on a two yard run with 6:56 remaining. Steve then passed nine yards to slot back Mark Miller in the end zone with 4:14 remaining in the game. then Galbreath scored on a five yard run with 2:29 to go. Tom Gibbons converted each time to give Mizzour a 21-10 victory. "This has to be the best game I've ever been involved in," said Onofrio. "I haven't been as proud of anybody in my life as I am of this football team. This was a tremendous team effort we saw today."

Pisarkiewicz, a sophomroe who had been redshirted last year, remarked, "I was very nervous when I first went in. But everything worked out right and it was a great victory to take home. That catch Miller made in the endzone was beautiful."

"I just ran my pattern on the play," said Miller. "The ball was pretty high, but I went up and came down with it. That was the greatest catch of my career. Pisarkiewicz is an electrifying person and he put the juice in us at the right time."

Big Red seek record against Oilers Sunday

HOUSTON, Tex. — The Football Cardinals will be striving for a feat they have never accomplished in their 15 seasons in St. Louis Sunday when they go after their sixth straight victory against the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome. Kickoff is set for 1 p.m.

The Big Red matched their longest winning streak as a St. Louis team last week in an exciting 31-28 victory over the Dallas Cowboys. The Cardinals have never won six straight games since moving to St. Loous from Chicago in 1960.

Twice the Big Red have gone six games without a defeat. In 1966, the Cardinals opened the season with five victories and a tie, and in 1964, the team closed the season with a victory, the infamous 10-10 mud game tie against New York Giants, and four victories.

The all- time Cardinal winning streak of 11 games was set when the Big Red were in Chicago. The string included the last 10 games of 1948 and the first game of 1949.

To set the mark Sunday, the Cardinals will need to defeat the pesky Oilers, who despite their 1-4 record, have recorded their victory and lost by narrow margins (17-7 to Kansas City and 13-7 to Pittsburgh) in the Astrodome, where the Big Red are playing their first regular season game.

In the victory last Sunday over the Cowboys -- the Big Red's first over Dallas since 1970 -- the winning points were provided on a 31- yard field goal by Jim Bakken with 1:02 left to play. Dallas took the ensuing kickoff and wound up on the Big Red 21-yard line, but time ran out.

As in the Cardinals' first four win, big plays were an important role in the victory. Trailing 7-0, the Big Red tied the score early in the second quarter on running back Donny Anderson's one- yard run. The touchdown had been set up on an 8-1 yard pass play that saw quarterback Jim Hart pass laterally to wide receiver Gary Hammond who then threw downfield to tight end Jackie Smith. The play carried to the Cowboys' six-yard- line.

The Big Red's second TD was a spectauclar 80-yard pass from Hart to wide receiver Mel Gray -- his fourth long- range scoring reception of the season. Dallas quickly tied the score, 14-14, but the Big Red took a 21-14 lead with only seven seconds left in the half on a TD pass from Hart to Smith, the latter breaking five tackles en route to the end zone in a play labeled as "a superhuman effort" by coach Don Coryell.

Running back Terry Metcalf's eight- yard run boosted the Big Red lead to 28-14 in the third quarter, but Dallas came back strongly to tie the game with 3:51 left to play. Metcalf returned the Cowboy kickoff 56 yards to set up the game-winning field goal.

"Every win is a big win, but this certainly had to be one of the biggest," Coryell said. "We're happy to be where we are right now, but we know there is still a very long way to go this season."

Against the Cowboys, the Big Red distributed a rrcord number 51,392 tickets, capacity for Busch Memorial Stadium. The old record was 51,279 tickets issued last year against Oakland.

The Cardinals have won their only previous regular season meeting with Houston -- by a 40-0 count in 1970 in St. Louis. They captured a 16-14 home preseason victory in 1971, but lost a 33-24 preseason verdict to the Oilers in the Astrodome in 1972.

Following the game, the Big Red return home on October 27 to entertain the Washington Redskins.

FRIDAY BOWLETTES
(9-13-74)

Bowling on Friday the Thirteenth is definitely a handicap but it looks like the girls didn't let it bother them too much. Sue Wheetley and Pat Crabb had high series with a 507 and 503. Team Scores: Cee Jay's 2- Rodgers 2, Bill's Small Engines 3 - I.G.A. 1, Alcorn Real Estate 4 - Int. Shoe No. 1 0, Caproco 1 - National Lock No. 2 3, Salon of Beauty 2- National Lock No. 1 2. FRIDAY BOWLETTES
(9-20-74)

Congratulations to Vernice King who had a triple game this week. I don't have the score. It seems the Friday girls were a little cool as we had no 500 series or 200 games this week. Team scores: Caproco 1½- Int. Shoe No. 2 2½, National Lock No. 1 0- Cee Jay's 4, Salon of Beauty 1- Rodgers Auto 3, Alcorn 2- Bill's Small Engines 2, I.G.A. 3- National Lock No. 2 1. DELTA IMPERIALETTES
(9-24-74)

We had only one 200 game this week on Tuesday. Barbara Dock bowled a 203. Barbara also had the high series by one pin a 246 over Kathy Etienne's 245. Norma Baker and Mary Meyer also had 500 series - 537 and 530. The secretary forgot to give me the high team game and high team series scores. The team scores are: Dock's Const. 3- Michelob 1, Walmart 3- Eagles 1, Frances Beauty Shop 3- Harts 1, Imperial Restaurant 3- Barketts 1, Peoples Bank 3- Dye's Seed 1, and Quadrant Homes 2- Sikeston Motors 2. ROYAL KEGLERS
(9-25-74)

Sandy Buchanan got hot and had high series with a 569 and she also bowled 2-200 games 205 and 221. Her mom (Jean Lee) tries to keep up'; she had a 511. I guess it's a good thing they are on the same team except for the rest of us who have to bowl them! Pat Crabb had a 207 and a 557 which wasn't bad either. Lil Acord had a 220 and 553 series and would you believe she is on the same team along with Pat. Betty Kelley had a 522 series. I guess you know Ziegenhorn had both High team game- 1072 and high team series with 3131 with all those ladies turning on! The team scores are: D&S 1- Wards 3, Ziegenhorn 4- Brewers 0, First National Bank 1- Liberty 3, Scott-Huff 3½- Noranda ½, Busch 3- Standley 1, Bank of Sikeston 0 - Red Kirby's 4, and Ryan 2- Penney's 2. Splits picked up: Nancy Chappell 5-6-10, Dotty Ward 2-7 twice and 4-5, Artie Satterfield 5-6 twice, Nora Springs 3-10, Sandy York 4-5, Pat Crabb 3-10, Lil Acord 5-10, Geneva Sexton 3-10, Mildred Cockrell 5-8-10, Nellie Vinson 4-7-10, Debbie Carter 2-5-7-8, Billie Garner 3-10, Flora Crouthers 4-5, and Linda Gipson 3-10, 5-7.

Basketball at SHS

Basketball drills got underway for Sikeston high school non-football students Tuesday afternoon at the Bulldogs "mini-dome" and new head coach, Buddy Spears, welcomed 25 athletes.

"We expect more to come out today," Spears said. "Some still lacked their physical reports."

Coach Spears, after some very successful seasons with the junior varsity, stepped up to the head job after the resignation of coach N. P. McDaniel.

The opening day of drills was spent on conditioning and fundamentals, which will continue until the gridiron athletes report for drills in four weeks. A dozen is expected to report off the football team.

About a dozen juniors and seniors reported for the opening session after school Tuesday and coach Spears was pleased with the first day desire of the group.

The 1974-75 SHS Bulldog squad will be young and inexperienced, but should have a larger team in height than last year. A number of the top junior varsity athletes have towered toward the 6-foot-4 mark.

Last year's varsity finished with a 7-14 record and the junior varsity 14-4.

Sikeston's eighth grade basketball drills also got underway yesterday. Ford Morgan, a standout all-star athlete from Advance, began his coaching career by welcoming nearly 35 athletes. The ninth grade team will not begin drills until the first part of November, because the teams coach, Mike Foster, is assisting the football program.

A group of citizens have expressed their desire of initiating a Little League Basketball program, similar to the one for football, but plans have not been formalized.

Cardinals deal

The often mentioned Joe Torre trade was on again Sunday. After two years of rumors the Cardinals finally traded their veteran all around ballplayer to the New York Mets for former redbird pitcher Ray Sadecki 33, and a minor-league pitcher, Tom Moore.

The key to the trade, announced prior to Sunday's World Series game number two, is the presence of twenty year old first baseman Keith Hernandez.

Torre now 34 and the National League MVP in '71, came to the Cardinals in a controversial trade with the Atlanta Braves for the popular Orlanda Cepeda. "I want to go overboard in expressing my feelings for Torre," emphasized Bing Devine. "He proved his maneuverability for us, at third base and as a catcher who became one of the best-fielding first basemen in our league."

Sinde both Torre and Sadecki, a 20 game winner for the 1964 world championship St. Louis team, are "10 and 5" players, they fell into a special class. Before they could be traded, the Cardinals and Mets were required to obtain their permission.

Many observers at the Series questioned whether the Cardinals got ample payment for Torre. But Brooklyn born Torre had slumped to some extent the past three years, in run production, and the Red Birds were paying him $140,000 to drive in runs, not just singles. In fairness to Joe Torre, who is the sixth ranking active hitter in the National League, Torre played many games last summer with a severely-injured thumb.

Sadecki, of course, is no stranger to St. Louis. A bonus baby in '58, Sadecki owns a career record of 129 wins and 127 losses, and is coming back to the Red Birds after a tour with San Francisco and New York.

The Red Birds traded Marc Hill a promising young catcher to the San Francixco Giants for relief pitcher Elias Sosa and back-up receiver Ken Rudolph. In addition they acquired an off-and-on Giants pitcher, Jim Willoughby, in a minor league deal for infielder Tom Heintzelman of St. Charles, Mo. The only surprising aspect of thy Hill swap is that the young man from Elsberry, Mo., is generally regarded as the foremost catcher in the minor leagues.

"We gave up talent in Hill," conceded General Manager Devine. "But we felt he was a luxury we couldn't afford. Besides, Rudolph, he's a former Cub, too, is ideal as a back-up catcher. He's getting better as he moves around and is a hardnosed player." "We've helped our pitching," maintained Devine, " without giving up any front line talent."

Indians mistakes point to 21-19 loss

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Fumble, interception, penalty. Fumble, interception, penalty.

That pretty much tells the story of Southeast Missouri State University's 21-19 loss Saturday to the University of Missouri-- Rolla Miners.

The Miners' homecoming victory at New Jackling Field marked the first time in a decade that UMR has beaten Southeast Missouri State in Football. The win boosted the UMR record to 3-2 while the loss lowered the Indian mark to 2-3.

"We beat ourselves," Indian Coach Jim Lohr lamented Monday. "We only punted once in the game."

The Tribe was penalized 13 times for 126 yards, lost the football four times on interceptions, and fumbled it away three other times.

One of those 13 penalties nullified a successful two-point conversion, which, it turned out, sould have meant a tie instead of a loss. Another penalty -- this one late in the fourth quarter -- set the Indians back on their own 25-yard-line when they would have had possession on their own 46.

At the latter spot it would have taken only a couple of first downs to get into range for Mike Wood, a Kirkwood sophomore who kicked two field goals during the game, one of them a 37-yarder.

One of the interceptions ended the last Indian chance and permitted the Miners to run out the clock.

One of the fumbles ended a drive which started at the Tribe's 20 and moved to the UMR 15.

Asked what he would do differently, if he had it to do over again, Coach Lohr replied, "The only thing I could do that would make a difference would be to kick a field goal on the play before that fumble." A successful attempt would have put the Tribe ahead by a point with about five minutes to play.

Declaring the coaching staff had been concerned about a letdown against UMR, Coach Lohr said the Indians went through a tough week of practice and the coaches were pleased at week's end with both the offense and defense. "But we lacked emotion out there Saturday," he said.

The coach has expressed concern after every game this fall about the mistakes his team has made. Monday he just shook his head, said he and the other coaches had "tried every way we could think of to correct the situation," and added, "There's gotta be something that we're not getting across."

He also noted, "We're not good enough to win, unless we do everything almost perfectly."

Southeast Missouri State will be at home Saturday (Oct. 19) in a 1:30 p.m. game against Southwest Missouri State University of Springfield, the MIAA pre-season favorite. The Bears bring a 4-1 record into the contest.

"This is a must game for us," said Coach Lohr. "If we don't win this one, we're out of the conference." The Indians are the defending league champions.

Coach Lohr said the Indians will, once again, work this week on correcting the mistakes they have been making all season.

In addition the defense will concentrate on stopping the "fine" running and passing attack of the Bears. The offense will "try hard to perfect the things we feel we can succeed with against Springfield."

It will be Homecoming at Southeast Missouri State this week end.

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Louis Frigon, 27, has been named assistant hockey coach at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Athletic Director Robert F. Ducatte said Tuesday.

Frigon, a University of New Hampshire graduate, succeeds John Marks, who resigned to play professional hockey.

SALEM, N.H. (AP) — An unidentifed woman won $11,437.20 on a $2 bet at Rockingham Park Tuesday night by correctly picking the first, second and third place finishers in the fifth race, a track spokesman said.

It was the largest payoff on a trifecta in New Hampshire racing history, the spokesman said.

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Mike Popovich, a two-year letterman and starting offensive guard this season, has been dropped from the University of Oregon football team for disciplinary reasons, athletic department officials said Tuesday.

Coach Don Read refused to elaborate on the circumstances of the suspension.

Popovich was Oregon's starting center last year. He was a starting middle linebacker as a sophomore.

Dave Bowman wins special

The Southeast Missouri Golf Association held their 47th annual tournament at the Westwood Hills Country Club in Poplar Bluff last Saturday and Sunday. This year a special flight was added in honor of Riggs Wesley, the late secretary of the association for the past fifteen years who died last December. Thirty entries participated in the tournament which was considered tough because of the good pin placements by the directors. Tom Hoover, this year's secretary, was instrumental in making the tournament a success.

The SEMO golf association is made up of twenty-seven different clubs throughout the southeastern part of Missouri. This year's winners received prizes in the form of merchandise and the first place winner received the traveling trophy. Buddy Godwin a name familiar with SEMO golfers again came through with medalist honors. First Flight winners were:

Buddy Godwin, Poplar BLuff 71-71-142 First
Pete Godwin, Poplar Bluff, Nephew of Buddy, 74-71-145 Second
Gene Tapely, Karnack, Ill. 77-71-148 Third
Tom Hoover, Poplar Bluff 72-77-149 Fourth
Connie Connell, McClure, Ill. 75-76-151 Fifth
Tom Wright, Cape Girardeau 74-77-151 Fifth

Riggs Wesley Flight winners were:
Dave Bowman, Sikeston 78-82-160 First
Gene Rice, Doniphan 80-81-161 Second
Dr. Forrest Stepp, Sikeston 80-81-161 Second.

FCA day at Arkansas St.

JONESBORO, Ark. — All high school and junior high athletes in Arkansas and Southeast Missouri are invited to attend Fellowship of Christian Athletes Day at Arkansas State University Saturday, Oct. 19.

The event, being sponsored by the ASU chapter of the FCA, will begin with registration at 9:30 a.m. in the Carl R. Reng Center and conclude with the Arkansas State-Lamar University afternoon football game in ASU's new Indian Stadium.

Morning activities will include the movie "Run to Daylight" and some huddle group discussions.

"We want all the groups to share their ideas with others," said Benny Clark, director of ASU's Baptist Student Union and coordinator for FCA day. "We want them to see first-hand the meaning of a Christian life in athletics."

Future Farmers hear Ford's suggestions

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Future Farmers of America were impressed on hearing first-hand from President Ford about his suggestions to stabilize the economy.

"If we take his advice we might be able to do something," said Rick Worley, 17, Bradenton, Fla., one of the 10,000 in attendance during the FFA convention's opening day. "I'm going to try to save some more money."

Randy Kilby, 19-year-old vice president of the North Carolina State FFA, said, "I think that Mr. Ford has returned a lot of faith in our government system, and I think he's going to do a lot for America."

John Felton of Parsons, W.Va., wasn't as impressed. "I didn't like it," he said. "We already know enough about inflation."

He found a kindred spirit in Paul Hazel of Bowling Green, Ky. "I wanted to hear why the farmer isn't getting a lot of money from the high beef prices. I wanted him to talk about beef."

Billy Frenette, 17, of Southington, Conn., said he thought the President's remarks reflected the heavy burden he is carrying. "I think he knows what he's talking about," Frenette said.

"I think everybody needs to budget a little better," said 21-year-old Mark Nixon of Freedom, Okla. "Mainly I'm going to remember that I just saw Ford, that I saw him in person."

Tim Glass, 17, of Savoyard, Ky., agreed. "It's an honor to come down here and see the President," he said.

Lynn Taylor of Gransville, Utah said the President made sense. "People could do it if they wanted to," he said. "It'll work, if people follow it. There are a lot of people wasting stuff now."

Exhibit makes learning easy

ROLLA — "Do you think people will really be able to use solar energy to heat their houses?"

"Gee, that artificial knee cap is heavy!"

"What caused the bridge to fall down?"

"What programming language does your computer use?"

These are just a few of the questions and comments University of Missouri- Rolla faculty members hear when they take UMR's traveling engineering exhibit to one of the shopping centers in Missouri.

The exhibit has 18 separate displays that individuals may see, hear, touch or work by themselves. These displays show examples of the type of teaching aids used by faculty and staff at UMR to illustrate principles of engineering in the classroom.

For instance, there is a car that has been designed and built by UMR students. It has doors that open up instead of out into traffic. Its engine has been designed for fuel economy and pollution control. And there are several other safety and economy features built in.

One of the displays uses miniature equipment and a doll house to demonstrate how solar energy may be utilized inthe future to heat and cool an ordinary home.

A mini- computer is also a part of the exhibit. It has been programmed to play a game of tic- tac- toe with the visitor, and many people spend several minutes trying to "beat the machine."

Other displays include a smoke- wind tunnel showing the flow of air around different styles of toy cars, a hanging earth experiment, a heart valve and other artificial parts of the body, a photoelasticity device used to point out weaknesses in a given tool, a film clip of a bridge disaster, a reaction timer and Wankel engine models.

Members of the faculty of UMR's School of Mines and Metallurgy and School of Engineering accompany the exhibit when it is set up in shopping center malls throughout the state. They are on hand whenever it is open to the poublic to answer question about the different displays and to talk about the advantages of careers in engineering.

The exhibit travels to shopping centers in metropolitan areas approximately once a month. For the first time in the year and a half of its existence, it was set up on the Rolla campus for the Homecoming festivities Oc. 12.

This fall the exhibit has been in Sikeston, St. Louis and Paducah, Ky. It will travel to Kansas city in November and Joplin in December. Plans are not yet complete for the spring schedule.

Those seeking work can't find employment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly half of the persons seeking jobs during the last three months could not find work, the Labor Department says.

In a quarterly report on employment, the department said Tuesday that about 50 per cent of the five million persons unemployed during the third quarter had been seeking jobs for less than five weeks, but nearly one million had been searching for 15 weeks or more.

The report said the nation's jobless rate, which rose to 5.8 per cent in September, averaged 5.5 per cent for the last three-month period.

Employment continued to grow during the quarter, but at a relatively slow pace, the department said.

"An important factor in the sluggish employment picture has been the slump in the construction industry," the department added. It said the prolonged decline in housing starts had an adverse effect on related industries such as lumber, furniture and appliances. Unemployment in the construction industry has climbed to nearly 13 per cent.

The jobless rate among whites in poverty areas rose from 4.2 per cent to 5.5 per cent, while the rate for blacks remained unchanged at about 12 per cent.

New method will save $580,000 in production

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The state will save an estimated $580,000 in the production of its license plates next year because of a change in the reflectorizing method, according to Revenue Department officials.

The reflectorizing material contract, issued to the Flex-O-Light Co., of St. Louis for $259,000, will drop the cost of each of the state's 6.1 million license plates from 14 cents to about 4 1/2 cents, Russ Sloan, director of motor vehicles and licensing said Tuesday.

The new process for the 1975 yellow-on-blue plates will reflectorize the numerals only rather than the entire background, as has been done in past years.

"Both methods for reflectorizing plates are used by different states," Sloan said, "and since Missouri law permits us to use either reflective method we feel that it is imperative for us to go with the more economical process."

Big K Stores announce sales of $36,309,147

NASHVILLE — Kuhn's - Big K Stores Corp. has announced sales of $36,309,147 and earnings of $265,000, or 16 cents per share, for the third quarter of the year.

Jack W. Kuhn, president, made the announcement and said the Company "continued to experience a tremendously increased cost of doing business, particularly in the area of interest costs." He said results for the quarter ended Sept. 30, compared with sales of $30,167,117 and earnings of $372,166, or 21 cents per share, for the third quarter of 1973.

"The cost of money remains a serious concern," Kuhn said. "The Company is attempting to manage its cash flow prudently, on a daily basis. As an example of increased costs, our interest expense for the first three quarters of this year showed a net increase of approximately $600,000 over the same period of 1973. This is more than half of the difference between our nine-month profits this year and last."

For the first nine months of 1974, Kuhn's - Big K had sales of $97,661,949, up 24.2 per cent from $78,664,426 for the corresponding period a year ago. Nine- month earnings amounted to $90,000, or four cents per share, compared to $669,409, or 37 cents per share for the same period a year ago.

Kuhn said it is difficult to determine at this point what sales and earnings might be for the fourth quarter, the period which normally accounts for about 40 per cent of annual sales and approximately 70 per cent of annual earnings.

"We feel we have bought wisely for the holiday season," he said, "and are comfortable with present inventory levels, despite the uncertain state of the economy in our trade area and the country as a whole."

Kuhn also announced that the Company's board of directors today declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ cents per share of common stock. The dividend is payable November 1 to stockholders of record October 23.

Four Lads to appear in Cape

The Four Lads, whose list of radio and television appearances reads like a veritable "Who's Who" of the entertainment field, will give two performances at Holiday Inn in Cape Girardeau Oct. 23 at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Their gold records include "Standing on the Corner," "Who Needs You," "Moments to Remember," "My Little Angel," and "No, Not Much." They have given concerts and made television appearances around the globe and will be saluting the Nifty Fifties" in their Cape Girardeau engagement. Frankie Busseri sings baritone, Jimme Arnold sings tenor, Johnnie D'Arc is a baritone - bass and Sid Edwards is the lead singer.

Investors given tip to purchasing

Eighty- year - old Benjamin Graham makes an interesting observation for investors in his value approach to common stock purchase.

He looks for stocks selling at less per share than working capital. He then subtracts preferred stock liabilities and debt from working capital and divides what is left by the number of common shares outstanding.

A man whom E. F. Hutton & Co., the New York investment banking firm, describes as "the dean of security analysts," Graham notes that "some interesting questions relating to intrinsic value versus market price are raised by the takeover bids that are now par of our daily financial fare.

"The most spectacular such event occurred a few weeks ago when two large companies actively competed to buy a third with the result that within a single month the price of ESB, Inc. advanced from 17½ to 41. We have always considered the value of a business to the private owners as a significant element in appraising a stock issue.

"We now have a parallel figure for security analysts to think about; the price that might be offered for a given company by a would-be acquirer. In that respect, the ESB transaction and the Marcor one that followed it offer much encouragement to those who believe that the real value of most common stocks is well above their present market values."

Graham also is inclined to believe that the individual investor who has done his homework well will fare probably a lot better than his institutional counterpart, many of whom have taken a classic drubbing in the marketplace in the past several years.

"I am convinced," he states, "that an individual with sound principles and soundly advised can do distinctly better over the long pull than a large institution. Where a trust company may have to confine its operations to 300 concerns or less, the individual has up to 3,000 issues for his investigations and choice. Most true bargains are not available in large blocks. By this very fact the institutions are well-nigh eliminated as competitors of the bargain hunter."

The veteran analyst presently is working on the fifth edition of his study of the market place titled "Security Analysis,", and he has reported that it will include mention of these elements he considers pertinent in looking for a common stock to buy or to consider buying.

(1) low multiple of the prior year's earnings; (2) a price equal to half the previous market high (to indicate that there has been considerable shrinkage); (3) net asset value.

An example he considers interesting is Goodyear Tire & Rubber, with a recent price of 13 7/8ths, 1973 earnings of $2.53 and estimated earnings of $2.80 for the current year.

Goodyear at a price of 13 7/8th has a price- earnings ratio of 5.5; and 4.9 based on estimated 1974 net. Book value is $23.46 per share; High for 1973 was 31 7/8ths. Graham notes that if this stock is purchased and a 50 per cent profit realized the stock should be sold for purdence's sake.

E. F. Hutton & Co. following the precepts of Graham's analysis has vestor might which to study further with professional counsel. These are: Bulova Watch, Cannon Mills, Carter Wallace, Cluete Peabody, Faberge, Handleman, Hart Schafner & Marx, Johnson Services, Kayser - Roth, and Weyenber Shoe.

Farm Credit announces new lead

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Federal Farm Credit Board has announced the appointment of W. Malcolm Harding as governor of the Farm Credit Administration, effective Nov. 1. The announcement of the selection of Harding, a career Farm Credit System official, was made by T. Carroll Atkinson Jr., of Marion, S. C., chairman of the board.

Atkinson said Harding, 41, who has served the Farm Credit Administration as deputy governor and director of credit service since January, 1973, will be serving "at a most critical time and in a crucial area which will help determine whether the Nation's farmers will be able to meet food and fiber needs."

As governor, Harding will be chief administrative officer of the agency which supervises nationally and in the public interest the cooperative Farm Credit System through which farmers and their cooperatives borrowed more than $24 billion last year, nearly one-third of the total credit needs of American agriculture.

The Sikeston Production Credit Association and 432 other local Production Credit associations, providing short-term and intermediate - term loans, comprise a part of this system.

"Meeting agriculture's growing credit and capital needs represents a tremendous challenge in the systems ahead," Harding said, "but I am confident that, in their Farm Credit System, farmers have fashioned the tools that can greatly assist in doing this job. We in the Farm Credit System are dedicated to it."

Bankers elect new officers

POPLAR BLUFF — L. Delbert Harper, president of National Bank of Caruthersville, has been elected regional vice president of Region 6 of the Missouri Bankers Association.

Robert E. Green, president of New Era Bank at Fredericktown, was elected regional secretary.

E. Van Gibbs, executive vice president of Farmers State Bank of Risco, was appointed to the nominations committee for the 1975 meeting of the state association.

Region 6 covers 19 Southeast Missouri counties.

Harper returns from short tour

John Harper recently returned from a short tour of the Keystone, Breckenridge, Cooper Mountain and Vail ski areas.

Braniff Airlines and the resort associations were hosts for the tour. Highlights of the tour were visits to New Condominiums, such as the Wild Irishman at Keystone, dinner at the Snake River Saloon, snow, dinner at Copper Mountain and Breckenridge, and their stay at Enzian in Vail and dinner at the Fulton ironworks.

14 companies to become carriers

JEFFERSON CITY — The state insurance director announced today that 14 insurance companies have elected to become the servicing carriers for the new Joint Underwriting Association (JUA). The JUA is a new insuring mechanism designed to make reasonable automobile insurance more available to the hard - to - insure driver in Missouri.

"The 14 insurance companies elected to be servicing carriers were only a few of those actually volunteering, but they met the qualifications required for the added responsibilities," Edward G. Farmer Jr., director of the Missouri Division of Insurance, stated.

The 14 servicing carriers must issue policies, adjust claims, pay losses and provide services for this business in exactly the same manner as their regular policyholders. The servicing carriers are:

Western Casulaty & Surety Insurance Co., United States Fidelity & Guaranty Insurance Co., Travelers Insurance Co., Transamerica Insurance Co., State Farm Mutual Insurance Co., SAFECO Insurance Co. of America, MFA Mutual Insurance Co., Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., Firemans Fund Insurance Co., Farmers Insurance Exchange, Commercial Union Insurance Co., Automobile Club Inter-Insurance Exchange, American Family Mutual Insurance Co. and Allstate Insurance Co.

The election of the servicing carriers is a result of the announcement made by Farmer on Sept. 5, stating that the present automobile insurance "assigned risk" plan will be abolished Jan. 1, 1975, and replaced by the JUA.

The purpose of the JUA is to eliminate the estimated 600,000 uninsured automobiles which are presently on the streets of Missouri, largely because of the ineffectiveness of the "assigned risk" plan.

Farmer also noted, "Agents and brokers will have a choice of which servicing carrier they want to work with, and the consumer will have the same freedom of choice to select the company he wants. In many instances, the agent will already by doing business with one or more of the elected servicing carriers."

Many advantages of the new program to the consumer are that it will remove the "stigma" of being in the "assigned risk" pool, make auto insurance for the hard- to - insure driver more accessible, assure better servicing, give immediate coverage and offer a plan for financing premiums.

"The plan does not become effective until Jan. 1, but the insurance industry is tooling -up now to accommodate this new source of good insurance at reasonable prices for those who, because of age, residence or prior driving record, have found it too difficult or costly to obtain automobile insurance," Farmer explained.

World News in Brief

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Actor Karl Malden, a friend, classmate and fellow steelworker of Charles O. Finley, threw out the first ball in the third game of the World Series Tuesday night.

The two attended Emerson High School in Gary, Ind., and worked in the mills there. Finley is now owner of the A's and Malden stars in the television series "Streets of San Francisco."

NEW YORK (AP) — Retired Gen. Omar N. Bradley, the last of the nation's five-star commanders, was cited as one of the greatest living Americans during a luncheon kicking off a year-long veterans' opportunity program.

Bradley, 81, was praised Tuesday by New York Mayor Abraham D. Beame. Bradley said many veterans, particularly those who served in Vietnam, did not know which benefits they are entitled to and urged government agencies to give veterans more information.

LONDON (AP) — Perry Como, Josephine Baker and a dance troupe from Harlem head the lineup of 10 international acts for the royal variety performance at the London Palladium on Nov. 18.

Impresario Sir Bernard Delfont, who has staged the charity show since 1958, announced Tuesday the acts that will play before Queen Mother Elizabeth.

The Dance Theater of Harlem, which won rave reviews during its stay in London last summer, will perform "Forces of Rhythm" — a work combining classical ballet with ethnic rhythms.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton says he doesn't think George C. Wallace "is a rascist anymore" and could support Wallace if the Alabama governor was the Democratic presidential nominee in 1976.

"I think he means it when he says he is concerned about the common man, the farmer, the truck driver, the beauty shop operator," said the Missouri Democrat.

But Eagleton said in an interview published Tuesday that he did not think Wallace would be on the 1976 Democratic national ticket.

MONTREAL (AP) — Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, visited Montreal on the last leg of his Canadian tour.

Before leaving for London tonight, he was to visit the Autostade, home of the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League and designated site of the Grand Prix jumping events at the 1976 Olympics.

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least three of the five defendants in the Watergate cover-up trial have adopted strategies of every man for himself. Defendants John D. Ehrlichman and Robert C. Mardian are scrambling separately to avoid conviction, opening statements by the lawyers showed Tuesday. Jacob Stein, attorney for defendant Kenneth W. Parkinson, was scheduled to make his opening statement today and was expected to emphasize his client's distance from the other defendants.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Homebuyers should find mortgage money easier to locate as a result of an emergency housing credit bill passed by Congress Tuesday. The bill, which authorizes up to $7.7 billion for federal purchases of conventional housing mortgages, was a priority request of President Ford in his economic message to Congress a week ago. Rep. Garry Brown, a ranking Republican on the Banking Committee, said he has been assured that Ford will sign the bill.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders hope to get quick enactment of a compromise worked out with President Ford to cut off U.S. military aid to Turkey again but not until Dec. 10. Opponents led by Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., called that "no compromise at all" and said they would try in the House today to cut off the aid Nov. 30 — or sooner, if Turkey sends any more arms to its occupation forces on Cyprus. But House Appropriations Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., floor manager of the compromise resolution, said Ford needs until Dec. 10 to get Cyprus peace negotiations going.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Ismail Fahmy, the straight-talking foreign minister who engineered Egypt's friendship with the United States at the expense of its ties with Russia, has now convinced Soviet chief Leonid I. Brezhnev to visit Cairo in hopes of making up. The Soviet Union announced Tuesday that Brezhnev will make his first visit to Cairo in January for meetings with President Anwar Sadat. The invitation indicated that Sadat is apparently becoming unhappy with the scarcity of concrete results from his year-old opening to the United States.

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon said today the United States shares Leonid Brezhnev's desire to resolve trade problems between the two countries. Departing for Washington after two days of talks with Soviet officials, Simon said he did not find the Soviet party chief's hard-lining trade speech Tuesday night surprising. "We share his desire to get resolution of MFN and trade," Simon said. He was referring to congressional efforts to deny the Soviet Union "most favored nation" trading status and credits until it eases emigration restrictions. Brezhnev termed the demands "utterly irrelevant and unacceptable."

WHEREAS, Francis E. Crenshaw and Louise P. Crenshaw, his wife, by a certain Deed of Trust dated the 17th day of December, 1964, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for the County of Scott and the State of Missouri, in Book 144, Page 365, conveyed to the undersigned Trustee the following described real estate situated in the County of Scott and State of Missouri, to wit:

All of Lot Four (4), Block Numbered Fourteen (14) of Clayton's Addition to the City of Sikeston, Scott County, Missouri. Which conveyance was made to the undersigned in trust to secure the payment of a certain Promissory Note in said Deed specified; and

WHEREAS, on the 21st day of September, 1966, Kenneth M. Caudle and Naomi D. Caudle, his wife, assumed and agreed to pay the debt secured by said Deed of Trust, and

WHEREAS, said note is now past due and remains unpaid default having been made in the payment of said note.

NOW, THEREFORE, at the request of the legal holder of said Note and in pursuance of the conditions of said Deed of Trust, the undersigned Trustee will sell the property above described at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash at the Main Front door of the Circuit Court House in the City of Benton, Scott County, Missouri, on November 12, 1974, between the hours of 9:00 A.M., and 5:00 P.M., for the purpose of satisfying said indebtedness and the cost of executing this trust.

Roberts T. Williams,
Trustee

Air crews chosen at Blytheville

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. — The air crews from the 97th Bomb Wing at Blytheville Air Force Base which will represent Arkansas in the Strategic Air Command bombing and navigation competition Nov. 10-16 at Barksdale AFB, La. have been chosen.

Leading the B-52 Stratofortress bomber crew will be Capt. Paul J. Micklas. Capt. Micklas, who will command the B-52 mission, was a crew member of the Wing's B-52 crew in the last bombing competition in Florida in 1971.

The 97th Bomb Wing's success will depend on the accuracy of Capt. David C. Anderson. As radar navigator, Capt. Anderson will direct electric impulses, simulating bombs, on selected targets.

Capt. William F. Lamirande will lead the KC-135 Stratotanker crew in the navigation competition. He will direct all operations during the competition.

Directing the KC-135 to pinpoint refueling points will be Lt. Phillip M. Reilly, the navigator. Lt. Steven H. Andrews will be the co-pilot. His backup co-pilot will be Lt. Randy B. Laterbach. M. Sgt. Bobby E. Birmingham will serve as the inflight refueling technician.

B-52 and F-111 wings throughout SAC will send air crews to the competition. Bombing crews will be scored electronically and the unit that receives the most points will win the Fiarchild Trophy.

A Royal Air Force team flying a Vulcan bomber has also accepted an invitation to take part in the competition.

The 97th Bomb Wing flew in the 1971 competition and in 1970 finished in second place in this the "World Series" of bombing.

SeMo State may come out clean in House report

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State University apparently will come out clean in a report to the Missouri House Appropriations Committee on how the school handles its money and presents its budget requests to the state.

The committee's subcommittee on higher education held a day-long meeting on the campus last week to investigate university funding following an audit report by State Auditor John D. Ashcroft that contended the school had been over- appropriated by approximately $1.1 million for fiscal 1973 and 1974.

The subcommittee members found little to criticize, and the meeting in the office of Dr. Mark F. Scully, university president, was generally pleasant.

The subcommittee did not spend the entire day going over financial records and questioning university administrators. The discussion wavered at times from the main topic — the audit — in favor of baseball, football and farm problems. The subcommittee members also toured the campus and visited privately with SeMo State students to find out what they think of the university.

As they left Cape Girardeau the legislators took with them a suggestion that guidelines for the presentation of all state university budgets be changed to eliminate the major possibility of error in reporting student enrollments.

"We have no big hang-up on the audit," Rep. Hayden Morgan, D-Nevada, subcommittee chairman, stated. "We've got it cleared up. There's no big problem here."

He said the subcommittee "found no evidence of fraud" on the part of the university in gaining more state money than it apparently should have. Neither did the controversial Ashcroft audit, and the subcommittee indicated that it agreed with the auditor's findings that the funding was based on enrollment reporting errors that were not intentional.

However, Morgan said SeMo State and other state universities and colleges must do a better job of figuring enrollments. "The schools have got to pay more attention to counting students. Some of them have been slip-shod in their enrollments," he said.

It was noted during the investigation that some SeMo State instructors do not regularly take roll in their classes.

Rep. Morgan said the chief problem, as he saw it, was a "communications gap" between the university and the staff of the Co-ordinating Board on Higher Education and the old Commission on Higher Education which was replaced by the board in the state government reorganization last July.

He said the university and the staffs of the two state agencies did not communicate on guidelines for budget requests. It was not a problem limited to SeMo State, he added.

Of the policy of projecting enrollments and credit hours as the basis of determining university appropriations, he said: "The projection system may seem stupid to laymen, and to some of us in the legislature, but the commission (co-ordinating board) says otherwise. Whatever system is used, there will be projections and the possibility of error. No system is absolutely perfect."

Morgan said the legislature will "have to do a better job of being the watchdog of state money, to see that it is being spent wisely." That was the main reason why the subcommittee came to Cape Girardeau, he said.

He said the full House Appropriations Committee would receive the subcommittee report on SeMo State around Dec. 1.

Rep. J. T. "Jet" Banks, D-St. Louis, the subcommittee member asking the most pointed questions, asked Dr. Scully if he thought the Ashcroft audit report was politically motivated.

"I think Mr. Ashcroft is a fine person," the university president replied with a smile. Dr. Scully said he questioned the audit because the university and the auditor's office apparently used different guidelines.

"He (Ashcroft) went one way and we (SeMo) another," Dr. Scully said. "He did not understand the guidelines" the university must follow, he added.

Ashcroft released his audit report Sept. 16 in advance of a campaign appearance here Sept. 19. Some critics contended the timing of the release was political, but this was denied by the Republican auditor who is seeking his first full term. The House Appropriations Committee chairman, Rep. James Russell, D- Florissant, on Sept. 20 ordered the subcommittee on higher education to investigate SeMo State.

"Would you like to have an independent audit?" Rep. Banks asked. Dr. Scully said this would not be necessary because the university employs a certified public accountant, Robert J. Earley of Cape Girardeau, to make audits.

Earley said his firm "did not give the university a clean bill of health" in the audits, but he added that "no significant errors were found." Errors in enrollment reports similar to those cited by the state auditor were found, Earley said.

Banks charged the university was not following guidelines established by the co- ordinating board for presentation of budgets."You must follow the guidelines," he told Dr. Scully.

Dr. Scully said the guidelines were not only difficult to follow — he termed them sometimes "confusing" — but were changed from time to time without discussing the proposed changes with university officials.

Dr. Scully also blamed the staffs of the board and the former commission for mailing guidelines late. He pointed out the university must begin preparing its budget in July, but that guidelines have been received from Jefferson City as late as September instead of April as prescribed by law. Budgets must be presented in October.

"We will play ball," Dr. Scully said, "but we must have co-operation, too." He contended communication between the universities and the state agency has dwindled in recent years.

He blamed the guidelines as the cause of most of the reporting errors.

The subcommittee expressed interest in Dr. Scully's proposal that future budgets be prepared on the basis of actual enrollment for the previous year rather than projected enrollments.

He also recommended that state universities be allowed "more input" in making the guidelines and that the coordinating board members visit all campuses each year.

Subcommittee members attending in addition to Reps. Morgan and Banks were Carrol McCubbin, R-Eldon; Lloyd Baker, D-Moberly, and Albert Nilges, D-Bourbon. They were accompanied by a member of the appropriations committee staff, Ray Fountain of Jefferson City. Two members — Mrs. Gladys Marriott, D-Independence, and Les Langsford, R-Springfield — did not attend.

Also present in addition to university officials were Cape County's three legislators — Sen. Albert M. Spradling Jr. and Reps. Gary W. Rust and Marvin E. Proffer.

Fallen leaves can be menace to motorists

JEFFERSON CITY — Fallen autumn leaves can become a menace to drivers, it was noted today by Col. Sam S. Smith, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

"Leaves on streets and highways provide slippery surfaces which can be treacherous to motorists," Smith stated. "Moisture collecting between layers of leaves can make such patches as slippery as ice. Drivers should reduce their speed and increase their alertness when this condition exists."

The patrol superintendent added that fallen leaves are only one sign that winter is not many weeks away. He noted that dropping temperatures, earlier darkness, occasional fog and frost warnings must also be taken as signals that car owners should make plans for an auto safety checkup soon.

"Don't delay in having your vehicle serviced for winter weather," Smith said. "Make sure your engine is running at peak efficiency and see that your safety equipment is in proper condition. Items such as headlights, brakes, turn signals, brake lights, heater, defroster, windshield wipers and blades should be given special attention. A change-over to snow tires for better traction on snow and ice should also be made for safer winter driving."

VALPARAISO, Ind. (AP) — A Valparaiso man who waited more than three months for delivery of his new car had driven only 69 miles when the car started to fall apart.

Architect Douglas Pierce took his 1974 car to a garage, where mechanics told him a tie rod had fallen off, bolts inside and outside the transmission, in the bell housing and in the tie rod system were loose and the clutch linkage was dangling.

When Pierce complained, an observer quipped, "What do you expect for $4,000?"

Recruiter says stay in school

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Thinking about dropping out of high school? Don't! That's the advice of Sgt. Jack Simpson, the area Air Force recruiter.

While seeking young men and women between the ages of 17 and 27 to go into the Air Force, Sgt. Simpson says he finds himself counseling many of the youths he contacts about the importance of a high school diploma. "It's true," he says, "that the young man or woman who obtains his or her high school diploma before going into the Air Force is much better off."

According to Sgt. Simpson, most of the jobs in the Air Force call for individuals with at least a high school diploma. "For this reason," he said, "the individual who goes into the Air Force without a diploma is limited on the number of career fields he can enter."

Another advantage of having a diploma, the sergeant explained, is that one can immediately begin taking college courses after completing his training, whereas a non- high school graduate would be compelled to get a diploma first.

3 bound over on felony charges

NEW MADRID — Three men were bound over to Circuit Court Tuesday to stand trial on felony charges after waiving preliminary hearings in Magistrate Court before Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Earnest Smith Jr. of New Madrid was placed under $1,000 bond on burglary and larceny charges stemming from a break-in on Sept. 9 of Richard Lawson's house. Items reported stolen included a .22-caliber rifle, one man's wrist watch, one women's wrist watch and a jar of pennies, valued together at $200.

Smith, also accused of feloniously stealing on Sept. 10 one 20-horsepower outboard motor valued at $600 which belonged to Cub Beaher, was placed under $1,000 bond on that charge.

Larry Summers waived preliminary hearings on two charges filed against him and $1,000 bond was set on each charge. He is accused of malicious destruction of personal property on Oct. 12 by breaking and destroying a store window valued at $390 at Robert's Sundries Liquor Store, 317 Main St., New Madrid.

Summers is accused, along with Howard LaValle and Danny Decker, of feloniously stealing $500 on Oct. 12 from Martin Oil Co. on Highway 61 in New Madrid.

LaValle was granted a continuance until Thursday to obtain legal counsel and was placed under $1,000 bond. Decker posted $1,000 bond and requested a preliminary hearing which will be set later.

Walter Henry was placed under $1,000 bond on an Oct. 6 felonious assault charge of stabbing Willie James Harris in the stomach with a pocket knife with intent to kill.

Charles Clifton Taylor was assessed a $180 fine for driving while intoxicated, improper registration and driving while his operator's license was suspended. He also received a six- month suspended jail sentence and was placed under probation for one year.

Charles Gates was levied a $30 fine on a nonsupport charge. He was ordered to begin paying $10 per week per child on Nov. 6 for the support of three children.

Paying fines on speeding charges were Roxie Gremore, $30; Ralph LaVerne Sexton Jr., $28; and Francis Lee Cohen, $26.

Certificate presented

Roy Sanderson, a senior at Sikeston High School, receives a certificate from Roger Sherman, high school principal, designating Sanderson as "Student Cartoonist of the Week." Sanderson was selected by Visual Education Consultants, Inc., of Madison, Wis.

Sanderson chosen student cartoonist

Roy Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Sanderson, has been chosen "Student Cartoonist of the Week," by the Visual Education Consultants, Inc., Madison, Wis. Sanderson is a senior at Sikeston High School.

VEC is the firm that supplies the contemporary history classes -- and others around the United States -- with weekly topical filmstrips.

Contemporary history students, directed by Mrs. Jack Young, submitted cartoons to the firm, and Sanderson's cartoon appeared in the Oct. 7 issue of the VEC Current Events Filmstrip Program and was viewed this week in over 10,000 schools.

A certificate was presented in recognition of a special achievement in representing a current event, trend, or idea by drawing an editorial cartoon.

A keen understanding of current affairs through careful reading of the newspaper and superior ability in critical thinking were central in selecting the "Student Cartoonist of the Week."

Students of contemporary history classes in Sikeston high school viewed the film Thursday.

Amateur radio station broadcasts SeMo news

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri and the Southeast Missouri State University are represented and heard throughout Missouri, the midwest, the nation and the world over the Industrial and Technical Education Club Amateur Radio Station WBOJYA.

This was particularly true recently as the Industrial and Technical Education's Radio Section moved the portable station to the East Perry Community Fair at Altenburg under a 30-foot antenna tower..

Dr. James E. Sage, assistant professor of industrial and technical education, is the sponsor. Robert E. Bartlett Jr., assistant professor of Social Science is co-Trustee. They, with seven students who are pursuing the Bachelor of Science degree with the new electronics communications technology major operate the transmitting, receiving, repeating and monitoring equipment.

The logbook shows contact with stations in most of the 50 states, Canada, Latin America, South America and Europe.

The group is licensed to operate in all the amateur radio bands from "80 to 2 Meter" radio frequencies. The largest transmitter has a 500 Watt input power and 200 Watt output. Both the incoming and outgoing radio frequency signals are viewed on a cathode ray tube and are noted on a spectrum analuzer.

A Communications repeater furnished by the Fifth Army Military Radio Service, Ft. Sam, Houston, Tex., is utilized to receive any weak signals and amplify them for retransmission.

The section demonstrates trouble shooting techniques and answers questions regarding occupational and career programs in the Department of Industrial and Technical Education in the other fields of drafting and design, construction, manufacturing and technology of printing, power, and plastics.

Gilbert Dryer, president of the East Perry Community Fair - was in charge of the arrangements for electrical power and space at Altenburg.

One of the Student Assistants is Bradley Gilliland, a 1972 graduate of Sikeston High School, and the son of Hubert and Jean Gilliland, Sikeston. Brad was an Engineer / Announcer for a Sikeston radio station for three years.

Tom Tiede

Taking a nation to the cleaners

By Tom Tiede

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Thomas Kauper tells the story of his wife going to the laundry and learning that the price of dry cleaning had, overnight, gone up steeply. Well, she told the operator, "then I'll go someplace else." Won't do any good, the owner replied confidently, "because all the other laundries have gone up, too."

Kauper is the nation's top cop in charge of the Justice Department's antitrust division, and he uses the story of his wife to illustrate his opinion that millions of Americans are today being taken to the cleaners because of large and small price-fixing schemes.

The trouble is, many Americans don't know it, and many others don't care about it, and thus in spite of the recent presidential assurance of a "return to vigorous enforcement of antitrust laws", very little can be immediately done to set this most undemocratic matter straight.

Price fixing is an epidemic in the nation, Kauper insists, but inflation makes it hard to tell. When the economy is stable, dealers who conspire to hike prices stick out like warts on a long neck. But during inflationary periods such as now, when everything rises every day, antitrust activity is nicely camouflaged by circumstances.

So it is that Kauper's office estimates the American consumer is likely to be overcharged some $80 billion this year for goods and services purchased in a marketplace that is increasingly uncompetitive. Much of this money waste will go for perfectly legal monopolistic services, such as regulated public utility concerns, but a good part will be forfeited to illegal business practices, i.e. those that get together to set mutually beneficial prices.

The situation is downright unAmerican. Worse, since it hides in the inflation it helps promote. Yet, unhappily, and again despite President Ford's wrath, there are no quick solutions. The laws against price fixing, for one thing, are totally ineffective when facing large industry. Six months ago the Justice Department filed indictments against eight major dye making firms, charging they had conspired to jack prices by 10 per cent or $300 million; if they are convicted the maximum judgment against them would be $50,000 each — "almost worth it," as one lawyer grumps, "against the $300 million."

As for the small fry price fixers, they can be hurt in court but seldom are. Kauper's staff, limited in size, concentrates on 60-to-80 cases a year, mostly big; the little crooks, then, which collectively are as dangerous as the big, break laws and bank accounts with impunity.

Presumably, consumers could help drag the small conspirators to justice. But there are risks in citizens acting as cops, one being that proving antitrust is much more difficult than suspecting antitrust.

"Suppose you have two gas stations across from each other," says a trust busting attorney, "and one day they both raise their prices 5 cents a gallon. If one guy says he raised first, and the other says he followed to protect himself, that's legal. You may know damn well they got together and decided to hike prices, but unless you can prove it in court — which almost means getting an admission of guilt from both — you have no case to try at all."

And even if the legalities of prosecution were simpler, Kauper and his people feel the price fixing epidemic would still flourish. "This is probably not the kind of thing I'm supposed to say," Kauper has confided, "but I have always had a little doubt about how committed the general public really is to the notion of competition."

Evidence is that fewer and fewer people show outrage with price fixing, fewer and fewer officials are reluctant to grant antitrust exemptions to requesting industries — and hardly anyone anymore even grumbles at the continuing growth of competition-killing multinational corporations.

It's hard to figure the public attitude here. But perhaps it's simple resignation. At a time when man, following Hobbes' theory, is beginning to be wolf to man, people may have become too busy trying to survive in the market to worry whether it's still free.

Customers file complaint on unlisted number fee

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Public Service Commission has been told that the $1 charge for unlisted telephone number service is based on the cost of providing that service for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., of St. Louis.

But at a public hearing Tuesday on a complaint filed by 27 Southwestern Bell customers with unlisted numbers, witnesses told the commission that if there is an extra cost involved in leaving a subscriber's number out of the phone book it should be borne by all telephone company customers.

Burton Greenberg, attorney for the 1,500 member St. Louis Police Officers Association, told the commission in opposing the charge that it was arbitrary and unreasonable and actually caused people to pay for "a non-wanted service, a non-service."

He along with other witnesses seeking abolition of the charge contended it is the right of telephone customers, many having legitimate reasons for needing unlisted numbers to avoid harrassment, to have a nonpublished number. Witnesses also claimed that there can only be a miniscule expense to the company for providing unlisted number service.

But figures supplied by company officials indicated that offering the non-published number service costs approximately $11.28 per number annually.

"And those are only identifiable costs," an official pointed out. "There are probably other costs that we could identify only through years of study."

He was confident that the cost of providing the service, primarily in special handling that must be given to requests for installation or service involving unlisted numbers, exceeds the $12 yearly charge the company collects from each unlisted subscriber.

Opposing witnesses claimed the additional costs should be paid by all the 1.4 million Missouri customers since the 134,000 unlisted number subscribers must pay through their normal service rates for the cost of publishing the listed number directories.

Company officials said spreading the cost of unlisted number service over all customers would require a monthly rate hike of 11 cents.

The unlisted number service was provided free prior to August 1972 when the utility was authorized by the Public Service Commission to begin charging the $1 monthly rate. The move was made, officials said, to stop the significant increase in the unlisted number requests and it was pointed out that there was no organized opposition to the charge during hearings on that rate hike.

Utility bills may increase

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Utility customers can expect to see their bills increase if Congress approves President Ford's request for a 5 per cent surtax without exempting regulated public utilities, predicts a member of the Missouri Public Service Commission.

William Clark said Tuesday he based his forecast on information supplied at his request by Donal D. Guffey, general counsel for the Gas Service Co. of Kansas City.

Guffey estimated the utility would need nearly a 5 per cent rate hike to maintain its current return if the surtax is imposed. He pointed out that now the utility must make $1.98 to earn $1 with the $.98 going for taxes, but the surtax would force Gas Service to make $2.07 to earn the same $1 return.

"The nine cents has got to come from somewhere," Clark said. "Everybody says tax the utilities, but you're just raising the rates for the taxpayers."

Farmers slaughter calves

CURTISS, Wis. (AP) Protesting low cattle prices, farmers shot or slit the throats of 668 calves and buried the carcasses in trenches.

"I'm tired of rhetoric," said Steve Pavich, president of the National Farmers Organization in Wisconsin. "... There is a problem out here in rural America and something has to be done about it."

"None of us like it," one farmer said. "But if they don't change soon they might as well shoot the American farmer and throw him in the pit."

The farmer and Pavich spoke at a demonstration here Tuesday where 636 calves were killed by NFO members. Another 22 were slaughtered by members of the Buena Vista Beef Growers Association near Wisconsin Rapids, about 60 miles southeast of here.

The farmers say the price of feed grain and other costs have jumped while veal prices have plummeted.

Farmers were getting $90 to $125 a head for veal calves eight months ago, but are now receiving $17, according to Phil Broege, marketing dairy representative for the NFO in the Curtiss area.

"You're paying about $2 a pound for veal in the store, but the farmer is getting 17 cents a pound for his animal," Broege said. "Everybody between the farmer's driveway and the consumer is taking the rest."

Broege said the NFO offered to turn the calves over to slaughterhouses at Edgar, Wis., and Dubuque, Iowa, if packers would distribute the meat to needy families. But the offer was turned down.

The Rev. William Whitcomb, director of the Wisconsin Christian Rural Overseas Program, criticized the calf kill. He said the farmers could have held the animals off the market without waste by contributing them to charitable organizations.

But Newell said part of the point was to slaughter female calves — to dramatize the need to cut down future production.

Most of the animals slain were less than two weeks old, but some weighed as much as 400 pounds. Farmers said all were healthy. An average veal calf weighs about 100 pounds.

'Government needs larger role in economy'

WASHINGTON (AP) Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, calling President Ford's economic program only a partial answer, has urged a larger government role in the economy.

"To 'Whip Inflation Now' WIN, as the slogan goes will require action, action that encompasses something more and different than a 10-point program which begins by imposing greater tax burdens on families with annual incomes of $15,000; more than increased acreage allotments for peanuts, cotton and rice production," Mansfield said Tuesday.

"Words and slogans will no longer satisfy the nation," he said in a nationally broadcast Democratic response to Ford's economic program.

He called for fuel rationing, tough controls on wages, prices and profits, allocation of credit, a broad system of tying workers' wages to living costs and a tax break for the poor.

Mansfield said the Ford administration's heavy reliance on tight money and reduced federal spending to help the economy is only a partial answer.

"Sacrifices are needed across the board if the nation's economy is to be restored," the Democratic leader said. "In my judgment, the people of this nation are prepared to make those sacrifices."

Mansfield said the nation cannot come to grips with inflation, recession and unemployment "unless we begin to move in the direction of":

—Mandatory controls on wages, prices, rents and profits, as necessary.

—Launching a rationing system for energy and other scarce materials, coupled with a tight conservation program.

—Developing a system of indexing, under which workers' real incomes are tied directly to living costs. When the cost of living goes up, wages would go up automatically.

—International cooperation to deal with such cartel action as that last winter by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which embargoed petroleum to the United States and later quadrupled oil prices.

Mental health division wins reimbursement

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The state Division of Mental Health has won a close state Supreme Court battle for an estimated $1 million reimbursement from the city of St. Louis.

The high court, in a 4-3 ruling Tuesday, said the city must pay the state for care of indigent city residents treated in state-supported facilities since May 1971, while turning down the city's counterclaim for $1.6 million for care of indigents in city-operated hospitals between 1940 and 1963.

"There is something basically wrong," wrote Judge Robert Seiler in expressing his dissent and that of Chief Judge Robert Donnelly and Judge John Bardgett, "when the state is permitted to exact compliance from St. Louis with the statutes ... yet at the same time the state is not required to comply with statutes which require it to pay ..."

The city, while not denying that it owed the funds under one section of state law, had claimed that county budget laws, which were also cited by the state as reasons for the city to pay, did not apply to St. Louis, which is not considered a county under state statutes.

The majority opinion, written by Judge James Finch Jr. and concurred in by Judges J.P. Morgan, Fred Henley and Lawrence Holman, did not, however, consider the applicability of the budget laws to the city, stating that the money was due simply under the explicit provisions of other state laws.

The city's claim for reimbursement from the state was rejected by the majority on grounds presented by the state that the claim was more than 10 years old and therefore barred by the statute of limitations.

It was on that point that the three judges disagreed, contending the statute of limitations was not meant to apply to dealings between portions of the state.

"There is no indication the legislature intended the state to escape these obligations by invoking the statute of limitations," Seiler wrote in the dissent, citing a number of previous court cases to support that position.

"They money involved here is all public money," he concluded, "yet the way this case turns out, St. Louis is being shorted the public money due it while the state is not."

Retail beef prices rise

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Retail beef prices generally rose during the past week along with prices for chicken as pork remained steady or registered slight declines, according to the weekly survey of selected food items by the Missouri Farm Bureau.

A fair demand for wholesale beef drove prices for most cuts higher as of the Monday check of grocery store supplies with only blade roast, dropping six cents to $.83 a pound, and rib steak, filing 20 cents to $1.39 a pound, recording declines in median statewide prices.

Arm roast jumped 30 cents a pound from a week ago to $1.34, T-bone steak was up a dime to $1.79 a pound, sirloin steak rose from $1.61 to $1.74 a pound, round steak was up 15 cents to $1.43 1/2 a pound and ground beef recorded a threecent rise to $.97 a pound.

Whole fryer chickens registered a three-cent hike to $.57 a pound while cut up portions jumped a penny to $.62 a pound.

Center cut pork chops and pork steak remained steady over the week, at $1.39 and $.99 a pound respectively, while other cuts dropped off as much as a dime.

Pork blade roast fell 10 cents a pound to $1.04, shank portions of ham dropped six cents to $.83 a pound and butt portions were down a penny to $.93 a pound.

Retail prices on nonmeat items were mixed for the week, registering only minor changes in most cases.

A gallon of whole milk fell off a penny to $1.44 1/2 while a gallon of 2 per cent rose from $1.35 1/2 to $1.41 1/2.

Grade A eggs remained generally steady except for medium eggs, which rose four cents a dozen to $.75. Extra large eggs were down 1/2 cent a dozen to $.80, and large eggs remained constant at $.82 a dozen.

A pound and a half loaf of white bread was up three cents to $.57 while a 10-pound bag of red potatoes remained steady at $1.26 1/2.

Cane sugar in a 10-pound bag continued its slow downward trend, falling a penny to $3.83.

COOKING-UP

BY NADINE TOWNSEND

NEW MADRID — When Missouri celebrated its 150th year as a state three years ago, a sesquicentennial cookbook containing recipes contributed by cooks from all over the state was published to promote the celebration.

Many of the recipes were favorites passed down from generation to generation that remain in use today.

Plans are now under way by several Southeast Missouri cities to participate in the national Bicentennial celebration. The Daily Standard would like to receive old recipes from its readers, along with any comments about the historical origins.

Recipes should be mailed to Cooking Up, The Daily Standard, P. O. Box 100, Sikeston, Mo. 63801.

Some of the old-time pioneer favorites from the Missouri Sesquicentennial Cookbook are featured in today's column. Can there be any doubt of the merits of a recipe that has survived for 100 years?

CHESS PIE

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
1 tsp. vanilla
6 tbsp. condensed milk

Melt butter, add sugar, egg yolks, vanilla and milk. Beat well. Pour into unbaked crust. Bake at 400 degrees until golden brown and firm, about 20 to 25 minutes.

Make meringue of three egg whites beaten frothy, then keep beating and add six tablespoons of sugar. Beat until very stiff and add one teaspoon vanilla. Pile on pie and bake at 350 degrees for15 minutes.

Mrs. Frank Chailland of Kennett, who contributed the recipe, said it was about 75 years old and that her grandmother had made it with water, which she changed to condensed milk.

The story passed along with the recipe is that an old German lady served the pie, and when her guests complimented her and asked what kind it was, she replied "O Chess Pie".

PAPPY

Place one- half gallon of fresh whole milk in saucepan and heat. Make flour paste and thicken milk mixture to the consistency of thin gravy. Add sugar and vanilla to taste and drink as a hot eggnog.

The above 100- year- old recipe is termed "a children's delight". I remember what a time Mama had getting me to drink milk as a child. She didn't thicken the milk but she did add sugar and vanilla, which made it a little tastier.

EGG DRESSING

1 qt. flour
6 egg yolks, beaten
½ gallon chicken broth
1 small onion
salt to taste

Add egg yolks to flour and crumble into very fine noodles. Stir mixture in boiling broth with onions (chopped finely). Place in pan of hot water and let simmer for 30 to 40 minutes.

This is a very old pioneer family recipe from the A. A. Mayfield family in Sikeston that was contributed by Mrs. Betty Heckemeyer of Sikeston.

My husband's late grandmother, Mrs. Eddie "Mama Doll" Townsend Smart, who would now be 90 years old, made a variation of this recipe, adding celery, sage, oysters and her personal touch. I tell you truly -- the highlight of Mama Doll's family Christmas dinners was this light, fluffy delicious dressing. For some reason none of the family cooks now have ever been able to duplicate it exactly.

GERMAN RAW POTATO PANCAKES

3 medium size peeled potatoes, shredded
2 eggs
1½ tbsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
1 small chopped onion

Combine ingredients. Roll in small cakes and fry in hot grease; brown on both sides and cook until potatoes are done. These can be used for any meal of he day, served with applesauce.

The above recipe, submitted by Mrs. August Begeman, was brought from Germany in 1890 by the family, which settled in Hartsburg in Boone County.

WHITE LOAF CAKE

2 cups white sugar
1 cup butter (level cup)
1 cup sweet milk
1 cup cornstarch (mix in milk)
8 egg whites, beaten stiff
3 tsp. baking powder
2 cups cake flour
1 tsp. lemon flavoring

Mix sugar and butter to a light cream, then add cornstarch and milk (small amount at a time). Add flour, which has been sifted three times, with the baking powder. Add eggs last, spoonful at a time, and one teaspoon of lemon flavoring. Beat until very light. Bake slowly for 45 minutes. Test with straw.

This recipe was submitted by Mrs. O. B. George, age 91, of 304 W. Morrison, Fayette, who said it was her mother's white loaf cake.

HOSENFLECKEN

When your homemade bread dough has risen and is ready to make into loaves, the dough is ready for Hosenflecken: Pinch off pieces of top dough, about the size of a golf ball. Stretch with hands until the center is paper- thin, but not torn (the edges are left thicker), and drop into hot grease. Brown and drain on absorbent paper. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon.

The above recipe was contributed by Mrs. Marge Estes, who was secretary to the First Lady of Missouri, Mrs. Warren E. Hearnes. Mrs. Estes said the old German recipe, known as "Pant-Patches", was given to her mother, and is a delight to every child lucky enough to have mother fixing them when he comes home from school.

The recipe also brings to mind how Mama -- who firmly believed and practiced "waste not, want not" -- would take the extra pie crust trimmings, form into a ball and then roll into a thin sheet. She would spread melted butter on the pastry and sprinkle it liberally with sugar and cinnamon. After rolling the dough into log shape, she cut it into thin slices and baked to a golden brown.

These flaky cinnamon pinwheels were so good, not a single scrap of pie dough was ever discarded. However, I always suspected Mama made a little extra pie crust just for these special treats.

HAWAIIAN GRILL—Tenderized pork is skewered with pineapple, green pepper and onion, then broiled over charcoal and accompanied by rice and a sauce.

Pork makes thrifty, Hawaiian- style dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Using fresh pork shoulder for kabobs for the outdoor grill can make an interesting Hawaiian-style main course that's reasonable in cost.

We chose a small bone-in roast for the kabobs and did the boning and cutting of the meat in our own kitchen; this takes time and a little skill but is usually less expensive than buying the boned 1½-inch thick pork that is needed. Before we readied the meat, we moistened it, sprinkled it with unseasoned meat tenderizer and pierced it.

Papain, the ingredient in meat tenderizer that does the tenderizing, is according to Webster, "a crystallizable proteinase in the juice of the green fruit of the papaya." Noted botanist Alex D. Hawkes in his indispensable "A World of Vegetable Cookery" (Simon and Schuster) writes that "The Papaya (Carica Papaya) is one of the tropics' most extraordinary plants. It is not a tree — despite its appearance and its growth to ten feet or even more in height — but rather a woody herbaceous plant." We quote these sources to assure you that papain is a "natural" product.

A few notes about offering this Hawaiian Grill. We suggest placing the kabobs "as is" over rice, but if you prefer you can remove them from the skewers. If you have trouble removing the food in one downward thrust, just remove a third or half of it at a time and arrange it in its original order. And get out those steak knives; it's always a good idea to use them, instead of regular dinner knives, with kabobs. You may want to offer a tossed green salad with, or after, this Hawaiian Grill. If not, sliced tomatoes will make a good substitute. The kabobs and their sauce include pineapple, but ever since encountering that fine French dish, Chicken Gauguin, in which pineapple and tomatoes are coupled, we've overcome our resistance to recommending that they be used together.

HAWAIIAN GRILL

3¼ to 3½-pound bone-in fresh pork shoulder roast
Unseasoned meat tenderizer
1 pound and 4-ounce can pineapple chunks in heavy syrup
1 green pepper, seeded and cut into 1-inch squares
3 small onions, peeled and quartered
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 tablespoons catchup
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch combined with 1 tablespoon cold water
1 cup long-grain or converted rice, cooked and hot

Trim fat from outside of pork. Moisten all surfaces of meat with water; sprinkle meat tenderizer -- as you would salt — over each surface; with a fork, deeply pierce meat at ½-inch intervals. Bone meat and cut into 1½-inch cubes removing any fat around cubes.

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Thread the pork, pineapple, green pepper and onion on 4 to 6 long metal skewers, dividing meat equally and allowing 1 pineapple chunk, 1 green-pepper square and 2 or 3 onion quarters for each skewer. Reserve remaining pineapple and green pepper.

In a 1-quart saucepan stir together the reserved pineapple syrup, vinegar, catchup and brown sugar; heat to boiling; stir in cornstarch mixture; cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until clear and thickened; add reserved pineapple and green pepper. Set aside.

Broil skewers over hot coals or on an open electric grill, turning as necessary, until pork is cooked through — 20 to 30 minutes; to test, with a small sharp knife cut a small slit in pork — it should look white.

Reheat sauce. Serve skewers over rice and top with the sauce or pass it separately.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Note: The raw onion quarters, after broiling, are crisp tasting and charred; they are easiest to thread if the metal skewers are on the thin side. If you like, you may use home-cooked or canned whole small white onions; in this case, some of them may be added to the sauce.

No wonder the boys think I'm ancient and ready for the grave, I mean after all, I'm so old I can remember when cars had running boards—

sodas were a nickel—
air conditioning was an electric fan—
a spot on your face was called a pimple—sex was not discussed in grade school—screen doors slammed—home entertainment was a radio—planes weren't jet propelled—towns practiced air raids—neighbors visited in the evenings—a dollar was a lot of money—dogs ran loose all over town—skirt lengths were way down—
Frank Sinatra was the number one crooner—bobby socks were a definite must—grass was what you walked on—Saturday afternoon meant Gene Autry—make-up meant lipstick—those were the good ole days for sure!!!

Imported Peanut

The peanut, native to the Americas, was imported into Africa by Portuguese traders and returned again in the 18th and 19th centuries on ships transporting slaves. Primarily intended as food for the slaves during the long ocean crossing, the peanuts that were left over from these voyages were planted around the slave cabins. This was the beginning of one of the most important crops in the United States.

Use shrimp in sandwich

¾ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 cups chopped cooked shrimp (¾ lb.)
3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
¼ cup crumbled blue cheese
6 English muffins
3 tablespoons margarine
6 lettuce leaves

Mix together sour cream, chili sauce and lemon juice. Stir in shrimp, egg, and cheese. Split English muffins by scoring with tines of fork and gently pulling apart. Toast; spread with margarine. Place lettuce leaf on bottom half of each muffin. Top with shrimp mixture. Serve with remaining muffin half.

Makes 6 servings.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Today in U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 16, the 289th day of 1974. There are 76 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1964, China announced it had tested its first nuclear bomb, making it the world's fifth atomic power.

On this date —

In 1793, Queen Marie Antoinette of France was executed by guillotine.

In 1790, the Congress established the Ditrict of Columbia as the permanent seat of the U.S. government.

In 1815, Napoleon Bonaparte landed as an exile on the island of St. Helena.

In 1840, New Zealand was made a British colony.

In 1940, the United States banned all shipments of steel and scrap iron to Japan.

In 1972, House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana and two other men were reportd missing while flying a light plane along the south coast of Alaska.

Ten years ago: The new Soviet Premier, Alexei Kosygin, was forming a government after ouster of Nikita Khrushchev as head of government.

Five years ago: The United States rejected a Communist offer to hold Vietnam peace talks, with the Saigon government excluded.

One year ago: Former Vice President Spiro Agnew made a national broadcast in which he denied wrongdoing and said he had resigned to give President Nixon an opportunity to restore unimpaired confidence and implicit trust in the office of Vice President.

Tody's birthdays: U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Douglas is 76 years old. Actress Angela Lansbury is 49 years old.

Thought for today: Trees often transplanted seldom thrive — Arabian proverb.

Environmental showdown at Lake Tahoe

By Murray Olderman

TAHOE CITY, Calif. — (NEA) — It is 75 miles of precious shore line, reflected in the glimmers of one of the bluest lakes in the world.

Precious in the fragility of its environment, encroached upon by modern technology and the wastes it deposits. Precious as a natural attraction in the highest, pine-studded center of the Sierra Nevada range, magnetizing hordes of humans.

And so there has been in the last decade a clamor to preserve threatened Lake Tahoe, an issue which transcends the interests of the two states, California and Nevada, which share its ambience, because there are national environmental implications.

The Tahoe Basin, just like the Everglades of Florida or even the Grand Canyon of Arizona, is a rare commodity.

Now on the south shore of the lake loom slabs of concrete and steel hotels rising above the feathered pines which sweep off the shore, and behind them are the visible Y-pronged scars of a ski area leaving an indelible tattoo on the mountain.

It took Richard Heikka's wife one and a half hours on one summer morning to get through Stateline, the Nevada border community which caters to gambling and a proliferation of high rise structures.

"It's a miserable mess," states Heikka, "those six blocks of Stateline."

Heikka should be qualified to make that assessment. He's the executive officer of the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency (TRPA), a bi-state authority convened in 1970 to plot and guide and in some ways administer the future of the greater Lake Tahoe Basin.

Already 45,000 automobiles a day stream down over Echo Summit from California and spill out of the Carson Valley in Nevada to inundate the southern end of the lake, where all the "action" is.

"It's the autos that plague us," says Heikka. "It takes 170 square feet of asphalt just for that auto to park and 350 more feet to back it out. The automobiles use up the environment of Tahoe."

Heikka is full of bureaucratic facts and figures. The Tahoe basin, which now caters to 150,000 population, both transient and permanent, can achieve a population level of 300,000 without destroying the quality of living. (Of that, 50,000 will be year-round residents in the major communities of South Lake Tahoe, Tahoe City and Incline Village.)

They will nest on only 15 per cent of the basin "which is urbanized." The TRPA has already put a tight line on expanding out into the 85 per cent which is wilderness. Tahoe topographically is a delicate jutting of erosive rock almost right out of the water and when the surface is exposed by man's work, powdery silt runs down into the lake and threatens to strangle it.

Because other pollutants were building a dangerous amount of algae, sewage is now piped out over the surrounding ranges away from the lake.

"The battle to save the quality of the lake is a stand-off," says Chapman Wentworth, a longtime journalist who has lived on the north shore for 12 years. "The sewage problem is solved. Erosion and siltation is what they face. Also occasional air pollution.

"The danger is that Tahoe will be urbanized to a point where it won't be a pleasant place to be. South Lake Tahoe is beyond saving. My solution: unpave the roads."

The thought isn't entirely facetious.

The most recent clash of environmentalists versus developers involves the proposed construction of two more high-rise casino hotels on the Nevada side in the Stateline area. One would involve 560 rooms, the other 960. They received the approval of the TRPA because of a ridiculous method of dual majority vote — the agency has a five-man California board and a five-man Nevada board and both must agree to stop any development. So although the total vote against the hotels was 7-3 (California's five men unanimously against), the Nevada majority for the project ruled.

The state of California promptly instituted legal action to stop construction. Heikka, who strenuously opposed the hotels himself, is in the strange position of being a defendant against California's suit.

Charming lady is worth wait

By JAMES CORTESE

Julie Bills Wright enjoys life but she doesn't kid herself: "Life gets mighty hard when you get old."

A recent letter from her ended, "Please excuse an old 94- year- old old lady's writing and garrulouaness. Yes, I am an old lady, not a 'senior citizen.' That seems snobbish, trying to gild the lily, I suppose. The term 'old folks' is best. That's what we are, unfortunately."

Julie Bills Wright lives in a towering old- fashioned frame house at 120 Lafayette in Bolivar, Tenn. It's not her "ancestral home (that was The Pillars) but one of the two houses I've really lived in."

Recently when I arrived to sit and visit with her for a spell, she was taking a nap. Over my protest, her friend and companion, Mrs. Cora Shelton, awakened her. I waited in the front room with the 20- foot ceiling and antique furniture. Two large fluffy cats, one yellow, one black, snoozed on the sofa.

Probably because of those 94 years, or perhaps just because she's a woman, she took a goodly amount of time to make her appearance. (Sorry, women of NOW, I apologize. Only funning.)

Julie Bills Wright was worth the wait. A trim, stately "little old lady," she entered the room with the attractive graciousness of the long ago, selected an antique chair for herself and pointed out one with a red- velvet seat for me. "That was my grandfather's chair," she said.

Her grandfather was Maj. John Houston Bills who built The Pillars, still standing, in 1828, the home for six generations of his descendants.

Julie Bills Wright asked Cora Shelton for a copy of the Bolivar Bulletin- Times, which featured a story about The Pillars. Cora Shelton couldn't find it. Finally Julie Bills Wright went to fetch it herself.

"She can go by herself," Cora Shelton said. "She can get around as well as I can. Why, she had a spell the other night and thought it was her heart. I couldn't get the doctor. Well, there really wasn't anything wrong with her, just pleurisy pains."

Julie Bills Wright returned. She looked at the napping cats. "I've got four," she said. "That's Goldy and Blacky there; then there's Tippy and Mama. We call her Mama because she loves her babies so."

She returned to her years. "I was 94 on July 27. My daughters — Mrs. John Chester and Mrs. William Fiveash, both of Memphis — gave me a party at the Four Flames and they wanted to serve ice cream and cake. I said, 'No, I want highballs.'

"We had pink champagne. "I'm not the oldest in Bolivar. Mrs. T. H. Ransom is 95 and Mrs. Ellen Marsh is 96."

Julie Bills Wright picked up a book from the table.

"I'm reading 'Robinson Crusoe.' It's in big print. I used to read it when I was a girl. I had good eyes then.

"Life gets mighty hard when you get old. The thing I really hate is, there is nobody, none of my friends, left that I can talk to.

"I'm absolutely the last leaf on the tree. I had one brother and 10 sisters. I am the last one. My last sister, Clara, died five years ago at 92 and I still find myself wanting to tell Clara things. They've taken down the ivy from The Pillars and I hope God doesn't let Clara see it. She planted that ivy with her own hands."

There was a touch of sadness in her voice, but I think Julie Bills Wright will enjoy life until "that last leaf falls." Despite the problems of being 94½ years old, she smiled as I arose from Grandfather Bills' chair and said, "Oh, I do like Robinson Crusoe."

Then she grimaced, "Ouchhh, I've got pleurisy. It hurts."

Judge may send team to Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House counsel John W. Dean III today described a series of hurried meetings and conversations on June 19, 1972, in which he said he learned about the involvement of Nixon campaign aides in the Watergate break-in.

Dean was the first prosecution witness in the trial of five former Nixon administration and campaign aides charged with conspiring to block the investigation of the June 17, 1972 break-in.

Before Dean took the stand, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica indicated he is considering sending a team of three doctors to California to determine if former President Nixon is too ill to obey subpoenas demanding his appearance as a witness.

Dean's testimony followed closely what he had told the Senate Watergate committee during five days before it in June 1973.

Dean testified that among those he talked to at the White House two days after the break-in was John D. Ehrlichman, one of the five defendants.

Dean's testimony disputed Ehrlichman's contention that all he knew about the break-in in the weeks after it occurred was what he had read in the newspapers.

In ontrast to his self-confident and articulate testimony before the Senate Watergate Committee, in the spring of 1973, Dean spoke sometimes haltingly and occasionally stumbled over his words. He appeared thinner and more pale than his previous public appearances since leaving the White House staff in April of 1973.

Dean's first task from the stand was to identify each of the five defendants. He is their principal accuser.

Sirica made his comments about a possible examination of Nixon opening the 12th day of the trial. He emphasized, however, that he has made no decision on defense and prosecution subpoenaes for the former president.

Sirica has scheduled a hearing on the issue for Thursday. The judge said today he wants defense and prosecution attorneys to think about who will foot the bill if he decides to conduct his own medical inquiry.

From a podium 30 feet away, prosecutor James F. Neal began laying the background of Dean's role as a self-admitted planner of the cover-up.

Dean, released from prison so he could testify, described how convicted Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy was interviewed by defendant John N. Mitchell and then hired as general counsel for the Nixon re-election committee.

Dean then went on to describe the re-election committee intelligence plan proposed for use by Liddy on Jan. 27, 1972, in Mitchell's Justice Department office.

"If I should decide either now or later, if it should develop that I feel it necessary for the former president to appear personally," said Sirica, "who is going to pay expenses to fly doctors out there — the defense or prosecution?"

Malden may call for vote on sales tax

MALDEN — The City Council Monday night authorized the city attorney to draw up an ordinance calling for a special election on a proposed one-cent sales tax to finance sewer construction and reduce water rates.

The council made the ordinance conditional upon an agreement being reached with the Board of Public Works at a later date.

The council approved a resolution introduced by Mayor Sparrel Davis to authorize the Commission for Municipal Cooling Services to submit a bid for the purchase of the natural gas system in the city from Associated Natural Gas Co. The bid would be conditional upon approval of revenue bonds by the city voters.

Hank Watson, chairman of the Park Improvement Commission, reported on the money spent and reimbursements received

Man, 80, is cheated in confidence game

An 80- year - old Sikeston man was taken for $300 in a confidence game Tuesday morning by three men who offered to asphalt his driveway.

Charles Alexander, 214 Illinois Ave., told Deputy Sheriff Gerald Inman the men drove up to his house about 11 a.m. and offered to put down asphalt they had left from another job. They told him it would cost between $40 and $50.

When the men finished laying the asphalt, they asked Alexander to come out. Then they measured the driveway and said the bill was $400.

Alexander refused to pay, but then agreed to pay $300.

Alexander wrote a check for that amount, and the men drove straight to the bank and cashed the check before Alexander could stop payment on it, Inman said.

Inman said one of the men identified himself as Oliver Charlton. The three were in a black pickup with a canvas top.

Inman said the same thing had happened last year and added that the confidence men seem to work on elderly people.

Woman foils phone phoney

Virginia Cross, 218 Kinder St., told police that a man came to her home Tuesday claiming to be a telephone repairman, but fled after she demanded identification.

Mrs. Cross said the man came to her door and asked if her telephone was out of order. She replied that it was, and he asked if he could come in and look at it.

She demanded some identification, and the man told her it was in his truck. Mrs. Cross said he got into the vehicle, a light blue panel truck, and drove away at a high rate of speed.

She identified the man as a black male about 30.

Scenic fall landscapes

The colorful beauty of a mid-fall day is hard to beat in Southeast Missouri. Today's clear and sunny skies proved no exception as seen on the Leo Glastetter farm near Chaffee (top photo) and in Kelso where red and gold leaves frames the St. Augustine Catholic Church. (Daily Standard photos)

Scott farm income tops $24 million

For Scott County farmers, 1973 was the most successful year they have had in a long time, according to the final tabulations, just released.

For many of them it was the most prosperous year they ever had. It compared favorably with farm and ranch results in many sections of the country.

Following as it did upon a relatively good 1972, it enabled the farm community to recover somewhat from a number of lean years. With their operations well in the black, they were able to reduce their debt load and to purchase some needed new equipment.

Althought gross receipts reached a record level, so did operating expenses as inflation sent farm costs soaring. However, the gap was sufficient to produce a new high in net income.

The findings are based upon a national survey released by the Standard Rate and Data Service and upon reports from the Department of Agriculture and others.

In Scott County, SRDS reports, farm receipts amounted to $24,650,000.

The figure represents gross receipts, before any allowances for taxes, supplies, labor costs, equipment and other operating expenses.

Included are the overall receipts from the sale of farm products, together with government payments and the value of the home- grown foods consumed on the farm.

Of the total amount received locally from the sale of farm products, approximately 60 per cent came from crops and 40 per cent from marketings of livestock, poultry and dairy items, according to the latest figures from the Department of Agriculture.

The year's upswing is attributed to a combination of favorable circumstances. One of them was the good weather conditions that prevailed throughout most of the year, in contrast to what has been happening this year. That was a prime factor in the bumper crops that were obtained.

Another was the big surge in farm exports, stemming from the worldwide shortage, which led to a significant boost in prices.

Bernie to sell bonds to finance school building

BERNIE — The school board Tuesday night set a tentative date of Nov. 14 for the sale of bonds to finance the new junior high school building recently approved by the voters.

Confirmation of the date will not be become final until the board can meet with Norvel Walen, bondsman for G. H. Walker and Co. of Kansas City, the frim handling the transaction.

In other business, Supt. Elmer "Doc" Dunn presented the 1973-74 audit, which the board approved and ordered published.

According to Dunn, the district has a balance of about $87,000.

The financial report was also presented and discussed by the board members. The new tax rate is tentatively set at $3.95 per $100 assessed valuation. The new rate is applicable this year, according to Dunn.

The board was informed that there might be a surplus in the teachers fund, and the possibility of granting the teachers a raise for the next school year was discussed.

A proposal was made to construct a bus garage to replace the present bus shed which is to be tom down to make way for the new junior high building. No action was taken on the proposal.

The board rejected a request from the mother of a student asking that her daughter be allowed to miss 15 school days next fall to take an educational trip. The board cited school policy which disallows absences of more than 10 days per semester.

Report listed wrong driver

The car which crossed the center line on East Malone Avenue about 6 p.m. Monday and struck two oncoming cars was not driven by Mrs. Tommy Gayle Shipman, 418 Lucas, as reported in Tuesday's Daily Standard.

Police reports also erronously listed a 16- year - old girl as being arrested in a seperate accident.

The story Tuesday incorrectly stated that Mrs. Shipman's car went out of control, crossed the center line, and struck oncoming cars driven by Bob Lee Moore, 303 Kramer Drive, and Reo Johnson, of 103 W. Iron Bank Road, Charleston.

The car which went out of control was driven by Johnson, and his car struck oncoming cars driven by Moore and Mrs. Shipman.

Mrs. Shipman was treated for cuts and bruises at Missouri Delta Community Hospital. Johnson was treated for scratches.

Police said they erronously listed Kimberlin Kay Duncan, 16, of Scott Manor Apartments, as being arrested for careless and imprudent driving following an accident at 8:45 p.m. Monday in the 1600 block of East Malone Ave.

The accident report listed her as being arrested, but police said that was in error.

Burlison to speak here

Congressman Bill Burlison of Missouri's 10th District will discuss national health insurance proposals at an employer seminar in Sikeston Thursday.

The seminar, sponsored by Delmo Family Health Services, Inc., will begin at 8:30 a.m. and conclude at 4:30 p.m. at the Ramada Inn.

Persons interested in attending the seminar may register prior to the meeting by calling toll free 800-392-4742.

Charleston UF goal $16,000

CHARLESTON — The goal for this year's United Fund drive has been set at $16,000 and a kickoff breakfast has been scheduled for 7 a.m. Oct. 21 in the United Methodist Church.

Chairman of this year's drive is Bill Brown and team captains include Faye Elliott, Ida Phillips, Pinky Lee, Mary Katherine Rolwing, Karen Dowling, Arthur Lee Goodin, W. J. "Pedro" Simmons, Phillip Turner, Katie Ivie, Myrene Moss, Duane Eastman, Eddie Graham, Richard Galemore, Suelle Fenton, Nadene Byrne, Bonnie Brumley, Iva Sevic and the Rev. R. Vergil Eaton.

Proceeds from the fund-raising campaign will be distributed among nine participating agencies: American Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Delta Little Acorn Youth Camp, United Service Organization, Salvation Army, Community Sheltered Workshop, Retarded Children's Association and the Arthritis Foundation, a new agency added this year.

Anyone desiring to make a donation, who has not been contacted on Oct. 21 or 22, may call the Chamber of Commerce office at 683-6509 and the donation will be picked up. Donations may also be brought to the chamber office, which serves as campaign headquarters, on East Commercial Street.

In addition to workers who will be soliciting gifts under the leadership of team captains, the businesses will be soliciting from their own workers.

A thermometer indicating the level of contributions has been built and donated by Halter Brothers Construction Co. and installed in front of the chamber office.

Rape filed against Holman

Percy Lee Holman, 42, of Luther Street has been charged with rape following an alleged assault between 11 a.m. and noon Tuesday.

Detective Dan Hinton said Holman was arrested Tuesday afternoon and charges were filed today.

Holman allegedly offered the victim, a 16- year - old, a ride if she would come to his apartment where the car was. When they arrived, the car was gone but Holman assured her it would be brought back soon, Hinton said.

Holman then invited her into his apartment where the rape allegedly occurred, Hinton said.

MAINTAIN THE
POLICE ACADEMY

If a powerful coalition of congressional liberals has its way, the International Police Academy in Washington will soon be scrapped.

The efforts is being led by Senator James Abourezk of South Dakota. His amendment to the Foreign Aid bill would completely prohibit any training, advice or support for police or other internal security forces of any foreign country, either abroad or in the U. S.

The critics already have succeeded in scuttling police training programs abroad, which have operated for 19 years under the Office of Public Safety of the State Department's Agency for International Development (AID). Their target now is the Washington Academy, which recently graduated 88 police officers from 22 countries. It was the Academy's 52nd graduation ceremony.

Opponents argue that the U. S., by training foreign law enforcement officers, is strengthening various "police states" around the world. This is simply not true. The emphasis of the Office of Public Safety has been on instilling a sense of public service and responsibility among police trainees. The training aims at countering kidnaping, assassination, hijacking and other forms of international terrorism. This is of vital importance to all Americans living or traveling abroad.

According to Loren J. Goin, Director of the O.P.S., "International terror must start as a national terror problem. National terrorist problems ... primarily rest on the shoulders of the civil police institution of that country. To be effective, it must deal with this problem in its earliest phase, lest it develop into a situation beyond its control and become, indeed, international in scope. The focus of the solution to international problems must be the efficiency and effectiveness of the civil police force."

Mr. Goin says that although Congress has eliminated the Office of Public Safety's overseas program, the International Police Academy, at least, should be allowed to continue.

We strongly agree.

A Forest Service rescue team veteran recommends: use your horn to alert rescuers; ignite a quart of oil in a hubcap, producing a smoke signal visible for miles; stop bleeding with a tourniquet made from windshield wiper tubing; convert the crankcase dipstick into a skewer for hot dogs or toast. THE HELPFUL HINT

Now, more than ever, we must be on our toes to combat frayed nerves and muscular fatigue. Learn to relax fully whenever the opportunity presents itself. Walk and stand straight at all times, but above all, be comfortable.

One of the best methods of relaxing is to laugh. If you can laugh, you cannot be tense. In wartime, it is imperative that we hang on to our sense of humor. It eases the strain and is conducive to clear thinking. If you have troubles — and who hasn't? — keep them to yourself. The other person doesn't want to listen.

The famous comedy dance team of Paul and Grace Gartman, who literally live on laughs, recently in an interview gave a few tips on beating the jitters. The following were listed:

"Go out with people who give you a lift. You owe it to yourself and your job. Anyone who leaves you in the dumps is bad medicine for you, especially these days. When you are feeling a trifle on the seamy side, stay away from those grim movies and plays. Go to see something that will give you a good laugh. Don't take yourself too seriously. If you can laugh off an embarrassment, it becomes funny — not ridiculous. When you laugh with people, how then can they laugh at you?"

Another important thing — balancy your work with some form of relaxation in your spare time. To you who must keep the home going as well as your job, remember there are some things that may have to be left undone due to lack of time, but don't let it be your sense of humor.

WORLD'S SILENT
MEN

Some men of history won fame because they didn't talk much. They said little and did much. These men were not morose or unsocial. They were simply not loquacious.

George Washington was one of the silent men of our American scene. He talked when it was necessary, was not hesitant when directions were to be given or advice sought, but the famed Virginian was not given to small talk, nor noted as a conversationalist.

Lincoln had his silent hours when he appeared to be withdrawn from the social chatter about him, and was not of the mind to relate incidents of old Indiana and Illinois days. He had his brooding periods, which on occasion were shrouded in deep melancholy.

Calvin Coolidge had a reputation as a silent president, sparing of speech and loving laconic expressions. But when he was in the mood and of a mind to talk, the Vermonter did not lack for words.

WORKINGS OF
AN IDLE MIND

Another great idea, about to go down the drain.

John Sawhill, the federal energy chief, proposed an absolutely brilliant response to the inflation - recession - oil shortage - energy conservation - ecology problem: A 20 - cent a - gallon tax on gasoline coupled with a tax rebate that would over the first 500 miles driven each year.

It's a work of genius. It would reduce the consumption of gasoline (and, thereby, our debt to the Arabs) by making it more expensive. It would not hit poor people hard because they'd get a tax rebate.

It would take money generated by the use of gasoline and use it to discourage the use of gasoline. That Sawhill is a smart man.

But now President Jerry has vetoed the plan.

He is against the plan, it is said, because a tax is a tax and an election year is an election year and you shouldn't mix the two. How cowardly, President Ford seems intent on proving that one can toast his own English muffins for breakfast and still be a lousy president.

Of course, you can't single out Ford. Senator Edmund Muskie of Main and Senator Walter Mondale of Minnesota, both Democratic presidential hopefuls, are on record as opposed to a raise in the gasoline tax.

"It will aggravate inflation," said Mondale.

"It is wrong- headed economics," said Muskie.

In other words, it's an election year for the Democrats, too.

I'll tell you, if we had leaders like that in 1940, we'd all be speaking German right now.

The stock market is doing an Evel Knievel and those bums in Washington are still talking about biting bullets. You'd think they were an orthodontists' convention, for crying out loud.

You know, a lot of people thought that the stock market, which had been sick for some time, was going to make a dramatic recovery when Richard ("There Will Be No Recession") Nixon resigned.

Quite the opposite happened. The market began to plummet the day that Ford took over and it has continued with scarcely a pause since.

People wondered about that. Why, when Washington was so buoyant about the prospect of a Ford presidency, was New York so gloomy?

And a wise man answered that Washington is a politician's town and politicians are impressed with words, while New York is a businessman's town and businessmen are impressed with numbers. The words were good, but the numbers were bad, he said.

In addition, he said, Washington is a town where they play with other people's money. In New York, they play with their own.

Keep that bullet handy, dearie, there's a lot of biting yet to do.

As if Ford didn't have enough problems of his own, he keeps messing around with the refuse of the Nixon administration.

It beggars the imagination to see him proposing Peter Flanigan — the bagman in Nixon's ambassadorial raffle — as ambassador to Spain.

Herb Kalmbach, the former president's former lawyer, went to jail on a charge of selling ambassadorships. The guy who acted as middleman on the sales, according to Kalmbach's sworn testimony, was Flanigan!

I don't care how crummy a government Spain has, it deserves a better ambassador than Flanigan.

It's a good thing President Ford has that reputation of being dumb. Otherwise you'd think he was a crook.

The only good news recently was that Iowa's highway funds might be cut in half.

Of course, that means that federal bicycle funds funneled through the Highway Commission will be cut in half too — down to $1.38.

Do you know who cut the highway funds? God.

Do you know why? Because the Highway Commission was ignoring the bicycle, God's chosen vehicle.

It serves them right. If we don't get some bikeways soon, we bikers are going to put in The Fix and have the sewers back up at commission headquarters.

UNFORTUNATE
CAMPAIGN ISSUE

What we believe will be unfortunate for former Congressman Thomas Curtis in the November voting for U. S. Senator was his injection into the campaign last week of the fact that Sen. Tom Eagleton had undergone treatment for mental fatigue. It will lose Curtis more votes than it will gain for him.

Sen. Eagleton was one of our very best state officers, and as a United States Senator, has nationally lived up to that reputation. He continues to be considered by others in our nation as one of the most forceful, brilliant and right-thinking Senators at Washington.

Millions of Americans have had mental illnesses, including possibly hundreds or more than that in our own county and community. But, as in the case of any other disease, after treatment they have continued to be among our county leaders and most valuable citizens. It is too bad that some people refuse to consider mental illnesses as they do others, and fail to recognize that a background of any cured disease should not condemn that person for all time.

IN THE SPIRIT
BEGIN WITH ME!

As we see it, one blessing has come from our nation's economic and political problems. The smooth- talking politician of many promises and high tax spending habits should find it a little harder to sell his wares to disillusioned voters. Leaders are appearing in industry, agriculture and public life who stress sanity, balance and confidence in our American system of government and enterprise.

One of the penalties of the political promises of government - managed perpetual prosperity to which the country has been subjected is lack of intellectual preparedness for adversity. So as we approach the 200th birthday of the United States in 1976, we should realize in our nation's history since the Founding Fathers began from even more adverse conditions that the only shortage that can drag this country under isn't energy or other workable problems -- it's confidence.

An important factor in confidence is acceptance of the reality that there never was such a thing as eternal prosperity -- or eternal security. Now, as in the past, the way to bridge difficult periods is to show confidence in a system of government for free people and based on enterprise and work that has performed magnificently for nearly two centuries.

Despite the critics and commentators who distort the facts, we should realize that many of the shortages and consequent price dislocations in the marketplace are traceable to the disruptive "put down" of the American business system. No system can function for long under such hostile pressure. It is time to assert our belief in our American system. It is also time to fill public offices with public servants who have enough conviction to support private enterprise and representative government.

Confidence and work and cooperation is what will solve our problems. In the Spirit of '76 -- Let It Begin with Me!

TOO MUCH
CONCERN

Congresswoman Edith Green of Oregon asked the Library of Congress to compile the total amount of funds a family could receive if that family took advantage of all public assistance programs available. On the basis of two hypothetical families -- one a mother with four children ranging in age from preschool to the college level and the other a mother with eight children ranging from preschool to college -- Mrs. Green was advised that the first family could collect a total of $11,513 a year under various programs of federal aid ranging from health care to scholarships. The second family, if all available federal programs were utilized, could have an annual income of over $21,000. Commented Mrs. Green, "Now for those people across the country who are saying this is a government that does not have any concern for the poor ... I suggest they look at these programs."

A lot of taxpayers are also looking at the programs and do not like what they see -- a country that is being overwhelmed by the adverse ratio between producers and nonproducers.

WARNING: NOT
HAZARDOUS

U. S. consumers are now spending more than $3 billion a year on non-prescription, "Over- the- counter" medication.

According to Product Management, an authoritative publication on the drug marketing business, American families spent an average of %54.72 on nonprescription drugs in 1972. Cough and cold products, aspirin and vitamins headed the list in that order.

No statistics are available to indicate how many people suffer serious, even fatal, injuries from overdoses of these products. What is known is that it is all too easy to use medicines improperly.

A survey by the Food and Drug Administration has disclosed that less than half of all Americans bother to read labels. Another FDA survey, published early this year, found that consumers rank labels last among the chief sources of information about nonprescription medicines, behind advertising, the recommendations of friends, adivce of relatives and the councel of dentists and doctors.

There must be reason for this, and one that immediately comes to mind is that there isn't just one label to read. There are six sides on the package that a product comes in, all usually with information on them. Then there is the container label itself, which can wrap around and thus offer advice on four sides. In addition, there are often separate printed instructions. Many people feel overwhelmed by all that type.

Complicating the matter is the lengthy and detailed information which must, by law, appear on all nonprescription labeling.

Federal regulations require that every nonprescription drug package include: the name of the active ingredients; the net weight, fluid measure or numerical count of contents; the name and address of the manufacturer, packer or distributor; complete directions for use, including the purpose for which it is intended and recommended quantity and frequency of dosage; warnings against misuse, and necessary cautions for storage.

Federal Trade Commission chairman Lewis A. Engman has urged drug manufacturers to do something about the problems on their own initiative. At least one company (Vicks) has adopted a new system of arranging all necessary information in standardized, easily located and easy- to - read format on its products.

The Council on Family Health, a nonprofit organization sponsored by the manufacturers of prescription and over - the - counter medicines, has launched a nationwide advertising campaign with the theme: "Read label instructions ... medicines can't help you if you don't take them right."

And they can hurt you.

At Nero's command, a young slave was hurled into the Colosseum to be devoured by a lion. The beast, an unusually fierce specimen, had been penned up for days without food to make him even more fierce. The lion roared into the arena and then an incredible thing happened. Just as his great jaws were ready to snap shut, the slave managed to whisper in the lion's ear. The savage animal slunk away and disappeared into his pen.

Nero summoned the victorious slave and asked how he had accomplished the marvel. "Easy," replied the young man. "I merely told the lion that after the meal he would be invited to say a few words."

GIVING UP
NATIONAL

International trade and multinational companies -- companies with investments in plants in many nations -- generally help to promote economic ties and ease military rivalry. Present talk of expanding trade with the Soviet Union -- including the buying of oil and natural gas from the USSR will appeal to a great many people. Tapping the energy resources of Russia, they could well reason, will not only build better international understanding, but will virtually solve the energy problems of the United States.

Before going too far with this line of thought, consideration should be given to the question of national security. This nation would be utterly helpless within a matter of hours if its flow of petroleum were shut off or even seriously curtailed. Transportation would come to a halt. Planes, ships, autos, power plants, homes and businesses would be paralyzed. Life in the United States literally hinges upon energy and a highly productive petroleum industry has, for generations, guaranteed the energy independence of our country. Without that energy independence, the future of the United States, as a free nation, would be worse than precarious. It is easy to visualize what could happen if a potentially hostile power could regulate the flow of petroleum that sustans our energy- based society.

As a matter of fact, if the day should arrive that the country becomes dependent on Russia or any other foreign source for vital petroleum supplies, it may as well put it military in mothballs and abandon the pretense of being a free and soveteign state. Increasing the flow of international commerce is a highly important goal, but it should not be achieved at the price of national independence.

TWO BAD
TRENDS

Two barometers on the health of our nation are going in opposite directions and both point to a sickness. On Wall Street, stock averages continue to plunge and while they don't measure our economy status precisely, they reflect the need for strong measures to reverse the trend. The other indicator is the Uniform Crime Report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This barometer continues to rise. There is no proof that a sagging economy, with its attendant personal hardships, spurs people to criminal activity but the opposite trends of the two pulse- takers, Wall Street and the FBI, provide food for thought.

As the Dow- Jones averages tumbled below the 600 level, the Uniform Crime Report showed a 16 percent jump in offenses for the first six months of 1974 over a corresponding period of 1973. Criminals are enjoying a bullish market.

Attorney Gen. William Saxbe says he believes police work is catching up with the criminal but that overworked courts are unable to put the accused to trial, thus freeing them on bond to continue courts.

It is the feeling of this column that federal support of state agencies and federal control of themarket place will hinder rather than help cure our social and economic problems. The state agencies that fight crime will have to work harder and get more felons behind bars. Everyone will have to work harder and produce more to put our economy right again. HLH

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

by Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Ford taps Goodell for Attorney General

WASHINGTON — Charles Goodell, the former Republican senator who was ridden out of office by the Nixon administration because of his antiwar views, has now been tentatively chosen as the next attorney general by President Ford.

In his 1970 Senate race in New York, Goodell was denounced by Vice President Agnew as the "Christine Jorgensen" of the Republican party. An able conservative in the House, Goodell had mellowed into a liberal-moderate in the Senate.

Largely as a result of the Agnew attacks and withdrawal of President Nixon's firm support, Goodell was trounced by Sen. James Buckley, a Conservative party candidate. But House minority leader Gerry Ford's endorsements never waned and the two men remained friends.

When Ford became President and decided to extend amnesty to deserters and draft evaders, he picked Goodell to handle the ticklish chore. To date, Goodell has kept the program fair, low-keyed and free from all but routine friction. The job will be all but completed in a few months.

In the last few days, the President and his advisers have tentatively settled on Goodell as the man to replace Atty. Gen. William Saxbe if a graceful way can be found to get Saxbe to step down.

Saxbe dearly loves the job, however, and has told us he came away from a meeting with Ford a few weeks ago with the understanding that he could keep it.

At the White House, Saxbe is admited for his tough stands on crime which have also won him popularity with the average American. But Saxbe is outspoken and often is caught with his foot in his mouth. In addition, his deputy, Laurence Silberman, is handling most of Saxbe's day- to- day duties already. Ford, therefore, has decided that Saxbe eventually must go.

FOOD PRICE WATCH: The government report that food prices have gone up only 14 per cent will be challenged by Rep. Wayne Owens, D-Utah, who has conducted his own research in the supermarkets.

The price index is compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics which claims that Americans are spending 14 per cent more for food than they did last year.

"It hurts more than 14 per cent," Owens told us. Therefore, he sent his investigator into a large discount grocery store in Salt Lake City. The investigator compared shelf prices on Sept. 16, 1974, with those on June 8, 1973.

Choosing basic foods, he showed it is costing Owens' Salt Lake City constituents far more than 14 per cent for their three meats. Here are his findings:

Breakfast: Instant Tang, up 33 per cent; Wonder English Muffins, up 38 per cent; Parkay margarine and Welch's grape jelly to go on the muffins, up 106 per cent and 41 per cent respectively; Pillsbury Hungry Jack pancakes, up 32 per cent; Log Cabin syrup for the pancakes, up 36 per cent; M.J.B. instant coffee, up 55 per cent or for Nestle's Quick, up 34 per cent; sugar for the coffee up 156 per cent; Nabisco shredded wheat up 27 per cent; milk in cartons, up 9 per cent.

Sack lunch: Bread up 49 per cent; Skippy peanut butter, up 25 per cent; Clover Club potato chips, up 68 per cent; Oreo cookies, up 39 per cent; Glad sandwich bags, up 16 per cent; the napkin cost 27 per cent more and the Zec brown lunch bag 31 per cent more.

Mexican Economy Dinner: Woods Cross tomatoes, up 52 per cent; Golden Grain pinto beans, up 198 per cent; Minute rice, up 48 per cent; Little Pancho tortillas, up 17 per cent; Jello dessert, up 50 per cent; popcorn while watching TV, a 66 per cent increase.

Owens believes the government statisticians have been going into the wrong supermarkets.

Footnote: Another explanation, he suggests, is that the BLS statistics are based on old 1961 eating habits. He believes people eat less meat today than they did in 1961. But meat prices which are 9.6 per cent lower than last year's prices have brought down the official index.

JOB RUCKUS: The chief lawyer for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has accused his chairman, John Powell, of "unwarranted and unauthorized interference" in a delicate discrimination case against the Purex Corp.

Instead of fighting for employes' rights through normal legal channels, charged commission general counsel William Carey, Powell tried to help Purex get a settlement behind the scenes.

In an unusual confidential letter, Carey said Powell had gone behind his back to get commission staff lawyers to sit down with a Purex representative. Carey also charged that Powell had advised Purex that problems in the case were only due to a "regrettable misunderstanding" by Carey's staff.

When Carey, a veteran trial attorney, learned of Powell's meddling, he fired off the letter. In it, he said Powell had "compromised the integrity of the Office of General Counsel" by making it appear a company could get "special treatment" by goin to Powell.

The end result, said the scorching letter, was that Powell had hurt the case against Purex and taken a first step in destroying "public confidence" in the commission's fight against racial, sexual and other discrimination.

Powell, in a talk with us, said the episode was caused by lack of staff cooperation and failure of Carey to sit down and talk with him before the affair "escalated." Powell defended his staunch record on employment rights.

SHS volleyball teams defeat Notre Dame

The Sikeston High School girls volleyball team won both matches from the visiting Notre Dame Bulldogs of Cape Girardeau Tuesday night in the high school field house. The Sikeston A-team lost the first game 15-8, but came back to win the next two,, 15-10 and 15-8, to take the match. The B-team won its match in straight games, 15-5 and 15-7.

After Notre Dame won the first A-team game, Sikeston roared back in the second game to build an early 10- point lead as Jeannie Vines gained the first six points with her powerful overhead service, then held on for a five- point victory margin.

In the match- deciding third game, Notre Dame took an early 8-0 lead, but the Sikeston girls rallied behind the consistent serving of Ruth Mitchell and Miss Vines ot reel off 15 straight points and win the match.

In the first B-team game, most of the 10- point SHS victory margin was gained on the serves of Kelly Hill and Debra Schuette. Then most of the points in the 15-7 second game win were gained behind the serving of Emma Wells and Mary Lowney.

The SHS A-team now has three wins to go with four losses, while the B-team has a record of four wins and three losses.

The Sikeston teams travel to Poplar Bluff Monday night for games beginning at 6:30 p.m. The SHS teams scored victories in a previous encounter.

Back over it goes!

Dutch lunches worry wife

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are both in our 60s and we have been married for 36 years. I know he has never been interested in another woman until now.

A few months ago, he started a new job. He has been going to lunch nearly every day with his secretary, who is in her 30s. He told me about it himself, making a big deal out of the fact that they go Dutch.

I don't give a damn who pays, but I find it upsetting that he is lunching with a woman half his age. He says it is just a convenience, that he really doesn't enjoy it, but I notice they don't go to the neighborhood coffeeshop. Every few days they try an interesting new place.

He can't understand why I am perturbed. I cry myself to sleep at night (quietly, so he won't hear me) and sometimes I cry during the day, around lunchtime.

I've offered him his freedom and he tells me I'm crazy. Am I? Is he? -- Harpooned.

Dear H.: In the absence of any solid evidence, I think you'd be wise to stop making accusations. He may be completely innocent but if you continue to badger him, he might get ideas.

My own hunch is there's nothing goin on but lunch and a little flattering of the ego. One of these days, a waitress is bound to ask, "And what will your daughter have?" - and that'll kill his appetite for lunching out.

Dear Ann Landers: Is something wrong with me? I'm 24, married five years and teach school. I don't mind housework but I see no point in doing things in the conventional manner. For example:

I don't press my towels, bed sheets and pillow cases and stack them neatly in the linen closet. I just fold them and figure the wrinkles will fall out when I put the linen on the bed and the towels on the rack.

When I hang shirts on the line, I use one clothespin instead of two. It doesn't look very fancy, but who cares?

Some of my friends have intimated that I'm not a good housekeeper. Would you call me lazy or efficient? -- I'll Take Your Word For It

Dear Word: It's your home and you can do as you please but since you asked for my opinion, I'll give it. Any woman who won't take the time to press her bedsheets and pillowcases and stack them in reasonably orderly fashion has got to be a little lazy. Some towels may look O.K. just folded, but we iron ours.

As for hanging a shirt with one clothespin, that's more than lazy, honey, it's stupid. A good wind comes along and your shirts stand only half as good a chance of staying up as if you had used two clothespins.

Dear Ann Landers: A girl in our office is so thrilled because she landed a professional man that she always introduces herself as "Mrs. Doctor Whatdoyouhoozit."

After I heard her do this for the tenth time I took her aside and told her it was not in good taste. She replied, "It saves a lot of time. Whenever I tell anyone I'm Mrs. Whatdoyouhoozit they ask me if my husband is the surgeon." Who is right? -- No Jealousy, Just Informed

Dear N.J.: You are. But save your breath to cool your soup, Lovey. The gal isn't interested in etiquette. She just wants everybody to know she married a doctor.

System for early detection of breast cancer shows promise

NEW YORK (AP) — A system for very early detection of breast cancer shows promise of saving women's lives, says Dr. Justin J. Stein, who is cured of a cancer that struck him 30 years ago.

Dr. Stein, president of the American Cancer Society, told its annual meeting today that there "is much to be hopeful for" from research against various forms of cancer.

Telling of experiences so far in 27 new breast cancer detection programs, Dr. Stein said that one located in Atlanta had so far found 11 breast cancers, of which only one had spread yet to regional lymph nodes.

He said that by contrast, such a spread has already occurred in 50 to 60 per cent of breast cancers which women find themselves. And "women today discover the presence of their own breast cancers about 95 per cent of the time," and hence have been the earliest detectors.

Breast cancers are highly curable when they are small and non-invasive, Dr. Stein said. But when women do find their own cancers, they are usually over one inch in diameter.

In 1945, he had reticulum cell sarcoma, a form of cancer that can fatally invade the lymph system. He was given one year to live, but was cured by surgery and radiation. Dr. Stein is professor of radiology at the University of California at Los Angeles School of Medicine.

The Breast Cancer Detection Demonstration Projects program was set up jointly by the Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute to "test new methods for the earlier diagnosis of breast cancer," he explained.

While the Atlanta experience is extremely limited to date, it shows "the time to diagnose breast cancer is while they are still small, or not even palpable, and before the patient has any symptoms," he said.

Contestants sought for pageant

COLUMBIA — Young women between the ages of 13 and 17 in Missouri may enter the Miss Missouri Teen-ager pageant scheduled April 25-27, 1975 in Columbia.

The state pageant winner qualifies for the Miss National Teen-ager pageant next August in Atlanta, Ga.

The invitation to enter the pageant was issued this week by Gene Boaz of Paducah, Ky., state director of the Miss Missouri Teen-ager pageant. The reigning Miss Missouri Teen-ager is Madeline A. Travino of Dixon.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement - leadership, poise- personality and beauty. There is no swimsuit or talent competition. The winner will receive a scholarship a vacation to Hawaii and an all-expenses paid trip to Atlanta.

Contestants must be between 13 and 17 years old as of Sept. 1, 1975.

Any teen-ager interested in entering the pageant may write for an application to Gene Boaz, state director, Bleich Road, Paducah, Ky. 42001, or by calling phone number 502-554-2642.

Risco seniors save labels

RISCO — The 1975 Risco High School senior class, in order to continue a 26- year tradition of the annual senior trip, is using an unusual enterprise to help raise the extra money needed for their planned trip.

Labels are being collected from various products to be redeemed for cash.

Persons who wish to assist the Risco seniors in their collection may contact any member of the class or their sponsors, Mrs. Renda Spears and Mrs. Patricia Ayers, for a list of the special product labels.

Another senior profit project includes the current sale of Christmas and all-occasion greeting cards, along with Christmas and all-occasion gift wrapping assortments. Customers who were not contacted during the campaign may still place an order by contacting any class member or the school before Oct. 15.

33 area women attend Ozark tour

CHARLESTON — Early on the morning of Oct. 9, 33 women from Charleston, Wyatt, Bertrand, Lilbourn and Sikeston boarded a chartered bus and "headed for the hills"

The purpose of the trip, sponsored by Mississippi County Extension Clubs, was to tour Iron County in the Ozark foothills and to enjoy the colorful autumn foliage.

First stop — a coffee break — was at Fort Davidson. Here the group toured the grounds of the fort, which was occupied by federal forces and was the site of the battle of Pilot Knob in 1864.

Elephant Rock State Park at Graniteville was next on the agenda. The women, who ranged from 25 to 84 years old, were able to hike to the top of Elephant Rock on the foot trails provided. Plaques along the way pointed out many of nature's wonders, such as lichen, moss, various species of trees and red granite.

Ironton, situated in the Arcadia Valley, was the next stop, with its brick courthouse, stately St. Paul's Episcopal Church and Home for Aged Baptists.

A four- course luncheon followed at the Plain and Fancy Restaurant, located in a large, two- story, white frame house.

Taum Sauk Museum and Pumped Storage Plant and Mill Stream Gardens were points of interest visited in the afternoon.

Taum Sauk Musuem displayed the natural resources of the state, with examples of geological formations, birds, wildflowers, wood and clay resources and their products.

From the musuem, the bus made its way up the mountain to the pumped storage plant, an example of recycling. The water, used to produce some 350,000 kilowatts of electricity, is utilized repeatedly.

From a 55- acre reservoir atop Proffit Mountain, water flows about 7,000 feet down through a tunnel to the power plant and from there into a 400- acre lower lake. At night, when power requirements are lowest, the same water is pumped back to the upper pool.

Mill Stream Gardens, a small frontier town, proved to be a break after the hours of bus riding and hiking. Ice cream and soft drinks were consumed by the group as they milled through the various stores and debated whether or not to use the two- story outdoor john.

Dusk was beginning to fall as the bus headed homeward with a much quieter group of women.

However, most expressed an interest in taking a spring tour – perhaps to Tennessee.

Appreciation dinner set for Sunlighters

An appreciation dinner for the Sunlighters Volunteer Group at Sikeston Convalescent Center has been set for 6:30 p.m. Oct. 21 at the Ramada Inn, George Stevens, administrator of the center, announced Tuesday at the organization's meeting in the convalescent center.

The birthday party for October honorees Hattie Graham, Nannie Thompson, Bessie Stallings, Gertie Wilson and Hobert Godwin will be celebrated at 2 p.m. Oct. 31 at the center. A Halloween theme with residents in costume will provide entertainment. Prizes will be awarded for the best and funniest costumes.

Recreational director Judy Douglas reported that residents are busy on Christmas craft projects but one- pound coffee cans and old Christmas cards are still needed.

Mrs. Margaret Byrd, president, announced that the November meeting will be held Nov. 12 at the convalescent center.

Mrs. Bill Littleton and Mrs. Ethel Simmons of Charleston and 12 members were present.

Cystic fibrosis funds sought by campaign

"Our goals are to cure cystic fibrosis, while improving treatment for children suffering all lung-damaging diseases," said Mrs. Eileen Scheu chairman of the Breath of Life Campaign in Sikeston.

"We have dedicated volunteers, a national organization, renowed scientists and researchers, and more than 110 Centers for diagnosis, treatment, research and education. We need funds to sustain our present programs and begin new ones to bring us more quickly to our goals."

The Sikeston branch, National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation is appealing for financial support through the Breath of Life Campaign.

Cystic fibrosis is the most serious lung- damaging disease and is incurable. But today, 50 per cent of the cystic fibrosis patients are living longer than 18 years of age. Just 15 years ago, cystic fibrosis patients almost always died in infancy. These strides in longevity are the result of foundation programs to provide earlier diagnosis, improved methods of treatment, and a better understanding of the disease in the medical community.

The same programs which have helped cystic fibrosis children to longer lives are proving effective in alleviating the suffering and often curing children with other lung- damaging diseases such as severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, and bronchiectasis. As many as six out of seven children screened and evaluated at cystic fibrosis centers have diseases other than cystic fibrosis and receive treatment and/or referral.

Contributions may be sent directly to the branch office at 112 Thomas Dr. Sikeston, Mo. 63801.

Risco cook recalls changes in lunchroom

By PAT LANDERS

RISCO — Mrs. Susie Perrigan, Risco school cook, has served the longest of any member on the present staff of the Risco R-2 School system. She has worked as a lunch room cook since 1944, shortly after the lunch room facilities were originated, and has no immediate plans for retirement.

Mrs. Susie Perrigan

Mrs. Perrigan recalls operating the cafeteria in three locations. The first lunch room was in one end of an old white music building which has long since been demolished, with bus sheds erected on its site. From 1946 to 1958 the cafeteria occupied one end of the old brick gymnasium, which also has been demolished and the site blacktopped for parking east of the present gymnasium.

The present cafeteria facilities were put into use in the elementary school buildng in 1958. Although the kitchen seems to be much more convenient and spacious than any previous one, she commented that it also seems hotter than any former kitchen.

It is interesting to note in this time of inflation that Mrs. Perrigan started working at an average wage of $10 per week, and that lunches cost only 45 cents per week for each pupil at that time.

There was a time when a student's complaints about the food might upset her, but she has since developed the attitude that you can't please all of the people all of the time, and she simply continues to do her best and ignores the rest.

She is well known for her delicious hot rolls and fruit cobblers. After some persuasion she finally consented to share her recipe for hot rolls.

HOT ROLLS

Mix 1 dishpan of warm water with 1½ cups yeast. Let set five minutes. Add 4-cups instant dry milk, 2 pounds butter, 1 quart sugar, a handful of salt and 25 pounds flour (or enough to make a stiff dough).

Knead on floured surface and let rise 1½ hours. Punch dough down and shape into 420 large buns. Place in greased bread pans. Let rise, then bake at 450 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes.

At Wits End

By Erma Bombeck

A grade school principal in the East recently became so upset about the lack of nutrition in the lunches the children were eating that he declared an edict banning junk food from the cafeteria.

I have a feeling the kids jammed the edict between two potato chips and two squares of Hershey chocolate and had it for lunch.

There is certainly no quarrel with the theory. Children should eat nutritionally balanced meals. But children do not take to ultimatums. I'm no authority, mind you, but I would have tried the old "Accentuate- The- Negative- Reverse- The- Positive- And- Make- The- Kid- Think- Your- Idea- Is- His- And- He's- Driving- You- Crazy" approach.

Instead of an edict,the bulletin would have read something like this:

Memo to: School Children

Re: Nutritional Lunches

1. Carrots are illegal on school premises. Children bringing them from home will need a note from a parent giving permsision to have them, or they will be confiscated by the office and held until dismisal time.

2. Locker inspection for thermoses containing hot vegetable soup or other nutritious dishes will be held periodically without warning. At that time. students are instructed to go to their lockers and stand at attention. DO NOT UNLOCK YOUR LOCKER UNTIL A TEACHER INSTRUCTS YOU TO DO SO. Thermoses will be destroyed by the custodian.

3. Because of student demand, we are selling fresh fruit by the door in the cafeteria. This is on a trial basis. If we find this is all students are having for lunch it will be discontinued. Remember fruit contains sugar and Billy Tooth is watching you. To avoid congestion at fruit counter, please have correct change.

4. Teachers have reported to the office that raisin boxes and milk cartons have been found on the school grounds. We know there are students who have been sneaking nutritious foods on the premises and for this reason students have been posted and are instructed to "take names."

5. Your principal will be patrolling the lunchroom where he wants to see potato chips, candy bars, tortilla chips, soft drinks and ice cream. Remember, junk foods build soft bones, soft teeth, and make you sleep a lot.

Trust me. It'll work.

Girl Scouts may receive $9,200 from United Way

The Cotton Boll Girl Scout Council will receive an allocation of $9,200 from United Way funds if the drive reaches the $46,000 goal set for this year.

Funds received from the United Way are used by the Cotton Boll Council to make it possible for Sikeston scouts to have a full range of benefits provided by the council, as well as the national and international Girl Scout program. Sikeston has 700 scouts, and the Girl Scout program is considered one of the strongest youth programs in the area.

The Rev. Paul Walker is chairman of the 1974 Sikeston United Way campaign which opened with a kickoff breakfast Tuesday morning.

4-H'ers receive fair money

RISCO — A total of $139.40 in premium money from the Delta Fair in Kennett was distributed Oct. 7 to 19 members of the Risco- New Hope 4-H Club during a club meeting at the Farmers State Bank community room.

Individual checks were presented by Nancy Cummins, president, who conducted the session.

Wayne Blough presented an illustrated talk on entomology, titled "Polyphemus Moth," during which he displayed a recently hatched specimen and its cocoon.

"Choosing and Caring for Scissors and Shears" was the title of Sherri Eakens' illustrated talk.

Plans were made for a Halloween party to be held the last week in October.

Mrs. Pansy Crosby, county youth assistant, announced the annual county recognition program is set for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 7 at the Matthews school.

Committees were appointed to plan the Risco-New Hope community achievement program scheduled at 7 p.m. Nov. 11 at Farmers State Bank.

A nominating committee was named to select candidates for election as new officers for the coming year. Members are Nancy Cummins, Tammy Hony, Andrew Joyce, Tommy Kirksey, Wayne Blough, Pam Lancaster, Karen Jones and Janet Keaster.

Twenty-four members, three leaders and one visitor attended.

Jessica Kellett has party

CHARLESTON — Jessica Kellett celebrated her fourth birthday Sept. 28 at a party given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Kellett, 709 E. Cypress Street.

A clown theme was used.

Refreshments were served to the 18 boys and girls invited and favors of felt clown faces and balloons were given to each child.

Coronation services held

TALLAPOOSA — The Girls Auxiliary and Acteens coronation was held Oct 6 at the Tallapoosa Baptist Church with a theme of "Mission Adventure."

Girls taking advancing steps were Wandena and Nora Mae Weldon, Carla Deprow, Pam Lancaster and Shelia and Lisa Meese.

Mrs. Hugh Landers presented the opening scriptures and comments, after which the Acteen leaders, Mrs. Russell Deprow and Mrs. Jack Meese, assisted the Girls Auxiliary leaders, Mrs. Willie Weldon and Mrs. Kenneth Carlisle, with the awards presentation.

Pianist was Mrs. Rayvon Knapp, and song leader was Mrs. Bill Fortner.

The River Shannon, longest river in the British Isles, flows 224 miles through Ireland to the Atlantic Ocean; a canal with 44 locks links it with the Irish Sea at Dublin.

Answers to Turkey Questions

by Martha Logan ASR

Q. What is the advantage in removing some of the leg tendons in a turkey?

A. This makes carving the leg much easier. The rich dark meat can be removed in generous slices when most of the leg tendons have been pulled.

Q. Where can you find directions for carving a turkey?

A. You can find step-by-step directions along with illustrations on the giblet bags of all Butterball Swift's Premium Turkeys. Carving a turkey is easy after reading these concise instructions.

30 SeMo bands slated to march

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Because Southeast Missouri State University's homecoming parade was rained out in 1973, there'll be a bonus for spectators who line up along Broadway and Main Streets at 9:30 a.m. Saturday to view this fall's version of the colorful event.

Thirty bands from area schools will take part in this fall's Homecoming activities, said LeRoy Mason, chairman of the Division of Music at Southeast Missouri State and director of the Golden Eagles, the university's famed marching band.

This is twice the normal number of visiting bands, Mason indicated.

Ordinarily, area bands willing to participate in homecoming activities are invited once every three years, Mason said. The situation is different this year because the bands which did not get to march last fall were invited back to join with those which were already scheduled to march, according to the rotating system.

Twenty- nine of the bands will march with the Golden Eagles prior to the 1:30 p.m. football game in Houck Stadium. David Green, associate director of the Eagles, will direct.

The other 10 bands will participate in the halftime show with the Golden Eagles. Mason will direct.

Music department officials estimate the cost to get the visiting bands to Cape Girardeau and home again is about $5,000.

Altogether, they say, the bands have 2,100 members and will travel 3,710 miles in 45 buses. Each band pays its own expenses.

Southeast Missouri State alumni direct 24 of the 30 bands.

Bands which will be in Cape Girardeau on Saturday and their directors are Festus, Al Rowland; Illmo- Scott City, Tom Cosgrove; Cape Girardeau Central, Bill Ewing; Shawnee, Ill., John Quinn; Ste. Genevieve, John Wibbenmeyer; Fox of Arnold, David Butler; Farmington, Don McClard; Potosi, Ron Hall; Jackson, Nick Leist; Jackson Junior High, James Rhodes; Anna-Jonesboro, Ill., Debra Coffman; Bell City, Joe Pappas; Arcadia Valley, Keith Kirchner; Puxico, Harold Lichtennegger; Sikeston Edward Cowan; Kelley of Benton, Bob Reedy; Egyptian of Tamms, Ill., Tom Wright; Bismarck, Jim Sowers; Bernie, Charles Holt; St. Francis Borgia, Harry Hopkins; Richland, James Carman; Clearwater, Joe English; Delta, Evelyn Restemyer; Cuba, Stan Moore; Oak Ridge, Jean Schwein; Scott Central, Terry Propst; Ellington, Jim Porter; Steelville, John Craig; Bloomfield, Wayne Freeman; and Advance, James Arnold.

Scott aid payments total $153,745

The Scott County Family Service Office disbursed funds totaling $153,745 in September, with the greatest part being paid to the Aid to Dependent Children program.

Breman L. Montgomery, county director, said state supplemental payments of $21,835 were paid to 696 persons. These persons were transferred to the new federal program Supplemental Security Income payroll and also remained eligible for a supplemental payment from the state. These received payments under the new SSI program and the state supplemental program.

There were 249 persons who received state supplemental payments only, totaling $11,240. This group previously received Old Age Assistance, Permanent and Total Disability, or Aid to the Blind payments and were not eligible for the new SSI program.

There were 904 families with 2,174 children who received a total of $106,455. in the Aid to Dependent Children category, averaging $117.76 per family.

General Relief funds of $10,220 went to 150 families consisting of 169 persons, with a family check averaging $68.13 per family.

There were 21 persons receiving a total of $3,885 in Nursing Care Supplement payments during the month of September.

One person received $110 Blind Pension.

Child Welfare Services were provided for 144 children and 219 children were given preventive services. There was $3,718.56 expended from County Court payroll and Aid to Dependent Children - Foster Care payroll for 40 children in Foster Care.

Seventeen adults were given services during the month of September. Seventeen adults were given protective services.

Unemployment pay down in September

Unemployment insurance benefits disbursed in Scott and Stoddard counties during September decreased dramatically from August, Murl Nash, informational supervisor for the state Division of Employment Security, has announced.

In Scott County, $52,379 in benefits was paid out in August, but only $14,081 was disbursed in September. Stoddard County payments totaled $39,560 in August and $17,654 during September.

The increase in unemployment in August was primarily seasonal, a spokesman for the Missouri State Employment Service office in Sikeston said.

Many factories change product styles about that time, the spokesman said, mentioning the shoe industry as an example.

This year's figures in Scott and Stoddard counties for September represent a slight increase from figures for the same period in 1973. In 1973, $14,081 was paid out in Scott County, and $17,654 in Stoddard County.

In Mississippi and New Madrid counties, the amounts remained relatively constant.

Unemployment insurance benefits paid out in Mississippi County during September amounted to $23,417, an increase from the $14,428 paid during the same period in 1973 and $18,904 during August 1974.

In New Madrid County, the benefits paid out in September totaled $7,058 – a decrease from the $11,746 paid out in August and the $13,658 for the same period last year.

The total amount paid out in the four- county area was $75,418 -- an increase of $15,597 from the same period last year, but a drop of $47,171 from August.

Industrial output up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's industrial output edged upward in September after two months of decline, but still was lower than the level recorded in the same month a year ago, the government says.

The index was up by three-tenths of one per cent over August, but 1 per cent behind a year ago, the Federal Reserve Board said Tuesday. The index stood at 125.5, meaning output currently is 125.5 per cent ahead of 1967.

Increased production of raw materials for industry was the reason for most of the monthly climb, despite a virtual acrossthe-board further decline in output of finished products. The raw material production growth was attributed to settlement of scattered strikes.

6 injuries treated

Six accident patients were treated and released Tuesday in the emergency room at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Money may come easier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Homebuyers should find mortgage money easier to locate as a result of an emergency housing credit bill passed by Congress Tuesday.

The bill, which authorizes up to $7.7 billion for federal purchases of conventional housing mortgages, was a priority request of President Ford in his eonomic message to Congress a week ago.

Rep. Garry Brown, a ranking Republican on the Banking Committee, said he has been assured that Ford will sign the bill.

He said the mortgage purchases should begin soon afterward, freeing up banks and savings and loan institutions to underwrite more mortgages.

Seventy per cent of single family homes have conventional mortgages but the government's secondary mortgage agencies have been restricted to purchases of home mortgages insured by the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration.

Middle-class homebuyers will benefit most from the legislation. It authorizes the government agencies to buy up mortgages on houses csting between $33,000 and $38,000 but authorizes the secretary of Housing and Urban Development to allow purchases of mortgages on houses costing up to $42,000 in high-cost areas.

A ceiling of $55,000 was put on mortgages in the extraordinarily expensive areas of Alaska, Hawaii and Guam.

The housing industry is in its worst doldrums since World War II, its officials say.

Music class visits shop

The Bertrand elementary music class, consisting of the fifth and sixth graders, visited an Antique place Friday where they listened to and watched a player piano in action. The piano has been electrified, so all they had to do was watch the keyboard play old songs such as, "My Buddy", "Beautiful Ohio", "The Doll Dance", "In the Garden", "Old Rudd", and one of the songs played with four hands. Some of the songs had words beside them, and the children sang along. From left, are: Johnny King, Julie Mueller, Vivian Hooper, Leslie Elliott, Teacher, Carla Wills, and Terri Dismuke.

Paper in floor furnace ignites

Firemen were called at 8:24 a.m. today to the Jessie Lewis home, 318 Westgate St., when paper in a floor furnace caught fire.

Firemen said the paper had apparently been put in the furance during the summer by the children and had not been removed before the furnace was turned on.

Firemen reported no damage.

Councilman opposes repeal

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A Kansas City councilman testified at a legislative hearing Tuesday against a proposal to repeal the Sunday blue law, but other witnesses expressed their support.

City Councilman C. Harold Mann said Sunday sales would increase business volume only 2 or 3 per cent and that would be offset by higher labor costs, utilities, taxes and poor personnel relations.

"I see no increase in spending by Missouri citizens," Mann said.

"Most spend all they can make and borrow now."

"I believe God insired the idea of resting every seventh day and I bow to his superior judgment as to what is good for us," Mann said.

Others at the hearing of a special legislative subcommittee on urban problems said the law, which prohibits sale of specified items on Sunday, should be repealed.

The Rev. Harold R. Coats, a Seventh-Day Adventist minister, argued for repeal of the Missouri law on grounds of civil rights.

"It is extremely difficult to legislate morality and spirituality," he said.

"Furthermore, heaven refuses to accept legislated spirituality."

Sikeston man released

Wayne Lee Harris, Route Three, arrested Monday by Sikeston police on a burglary warrant from New Madrid County, has been released.

The New Madrid County sheriff's department said Harris is facing charges in Scott County and will not have charges filed against him in New Madrid County.

Bond advises conservation high priority

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond has advised President Ford that "conservation of energy was and still is a high priority in my administration."

Bond, hand-delivering his response to the President's call for state conservation steps during Ford's Kansas City appearance Tuesday night, told Ford the state welcomes his energy conservation challenge.

The governor cited current energy saving measures in state government that have cut energy use by as much as 20 per cent, but he added:

"The most important conservation effort, however, is our strict enforcement of the 55 m.p.h. speed limit."

He told the President that traffic arrests are up 31 per cent over a year ago while the average highway speed in Missouri has dropped nine miles an hour.

Bond also restated his support for the anti-inflation efforts of the President, who was in Kansas City to outline a plan for economic and energy conservation during a speech to the Future Farmers of America.

Earlier in the day, Bond called the 16 traffic deaths on state roads last weekend "distressing" and urged Missouri motorists to increase safe driving efforts.

He asked motorists to become more involved in the "Save 400 in '74" campaign to cut traffic deaths by 400 this year over a year ago.

As of midnight Monday, 790 persons had died on the state's highways compared with 1,151 for the same period a year ago.

Summers fined

NEW MADRID — Larry Summers, 20, of New Madrid, charged with the destruction of public property and public intoxication, was fined $100 today by Police Judge G. G. Dawson.

Summers had set fire to bedding in a city jail cell following his arrest Saturday for public intoxication.

2 arrested

Police today announced the arrest of Larry Johnson, Fuchs Street, for petit larceny and Jesse Cruse of Wappapello for driving while intoxicated.

Boston schools open with Guard units standing by

BOSTON (AP) — Boston schools opened today with National Guard units standing by in armories, and Mayor Kevin H. White charged that the Guard "may well be an inept, incompetent, ill-equipped, undisciplined or undertrained state militia."

Hundreds of police patrolled a high school that was the scene of racial violence Tuesday, the latest outbreak in more than four weeks of scattered violence over the issue of school busing to achieve desegregation.

"We cannot allow this city to become another Detroit, where it took dozens of civilian deaths at the hands of police and National Guardsmen to bring in the federal troops to restore order," White said.

"We cannot permit Roxbury (a black section of Boston) to become another Watts. We must not allow South Boston High to become another Kent State."

White had asked for federal assistance in keeping order in the city, but the White House turned down that request, saying federal troops would be used only as a last resort if local and state authorities were unable to maintain order.

However, the Pentagon announced today that Army paratroopers at Ft. Bragg, N.C., have been placed on alert in case they are needed in the Boston school crisis. A spokesman described the move as purely precautionary.

Gov. Francis W. Sargent mobilized the Guard on Tuesday and about 450 guardmen were sent to armories, with other units put on standby for possible callup.

The governor ordered the Guard standby after citing "stabbings, stonings and disorders" in schools Tuesday, mostly at a high school in the predominately white Hyde Park section where eight white persons were injured. One 15-year-old was slashed in the abdomen.

Scattered violence has troubled the school system since it opened more than four weeks ago under a court-ordered school desegregation plan relying heavily on busing.

One arrest was reported at Hyde Park High School today. A 17-year-old black male was charged with assault on a police officer.

At Hyde Park High, attendance described by officials as very low. About 50 police patrolled the school corridors, with around 200 more outside.

In rejecting Sargent's request for federal assistance, Ford said in a statement that the primary responsibility for maintaining order continues to lie with state and local authorities.

Mayor Kevin H. White refused comment. But an aide said the mobilization decision was made over the mayor's expressed wishes.

Congress hopes for quick enactment of compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders hope to get quick enactment of a compromise worked out with President Ford to cut off U.S. military aid to Turkey but not until Dec. 10.

Opponents led by Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., called that "no compromise at all" and said they would try in the House today to cut off the aid Nov. 30 — or sooner, if Turkey sends any more arms to its occupation forces on Cyrpus.

But House Appropriations Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., floor manager of the compromise resolution, said Ford needs until Dec. 10 to get Cyprus peace negotiations going.

House Speaker Carl Albert and Senate leaders said Tuesday they hoped to get final action on the Turkish aid dispute today and let anxious congressmen get home to re-election campaigns.

The Turkish aid ban is attached to an emergency spending resolution that some federal agencies need by Thursday to legally pay their employes.

The Dec. 10 Turkish aid cutoff was worked out by House leaders and White House aides and reportedly received Ford's personal approval Tuesday after the House sustained Ford's veto of a measure to cut off the Turkey aid immediately.

It is the same aid cutoff Ford vetoed Monday except that it permits Ford to delay the cutoff from taking effect until Dec. 10 if he determines that "will further negotiations for a peaceful resolution of the Cyprus conflict."

The compromise is only five days different from the Dec. 15 compromise approved by the Senate last week but narrowly rejected, 187 to 171, by the House. Mahon called it "a facesaving proposition to try to get us out of here."

The compromise was approved by the House Appropriations Committee by voice vote. The committee rejected the Rosenthal amendment to cut off the aid Nov. 30 or as soon as any more Turkish arms went to Cyprus.

Meanwhile, Ford signed a Watergate-inspired bill imposing limits on the amount of money any person or group can give and on the amounts candidates can spend in campaigns for federal office.

The law also provides for public financing of presidential campaigns, but not for House and Senate races, and establishes an independent commission to enforce the law.

Congress also finished work on bills authorizing a $200 million federal grant for Amtrak trains and ending auto safety seat belt interlocks and constant buzzers that force motorists to buckle up before their cars will start.

October 16, 1924

Misses Isabelle and Helen Hess, Kathryn Clark, Jewel Mouser, Letha Scott, and Verna King left last Saturday for Jefferson City to attend the dedication of the new State Capitol. Enroute home they visited in St. Louis and witnessed the Veiled Prophet parade.

New Madrid -- Mrs. H. L. Boaz and daughter, Mrs. L. L. Conatzer of Parma, were business visitors in New Madrid Friday.

Morehouse -- Miss Laura Murphy is absent from school with sickness.

The Gerhardt Construction Co., of Cape Girardeau received a message this morning advising that they had been awarded the contract for the new Frisco railroad station at Sikeston. The new station will be a one- story brick structure with a tile roof, the dimensions being 166 feet by 35 feet. It will contain two waiting rooms, baggage and freight rooms. In addition to the building, there will be a stone platform 600 feet in length. The general style will be of the suburban type of station and it will cost about $38,000.

$27 million in property traded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government traded $27 million in productive property in California for a one million square-foot building so that former President Richard M. Nixon could store his records near his San Clemente home, The Washington Post reported Tuesday.

The story said federal officials arranged the trade under pressure from the Nixon White House earlier this year. The General Services Administration acquired the unused building at Laguna Niguel, Calif., 10 miles north of San Clemente, from Rockwell International Corp., a major defense contractor, the newspaper said.

In exchange, the government gave Rockwell buildings in El Segundo and Canoga Park, Calif., that Rockwell already was occupying at no cost as part of a defense contract, The Post said. The story said Rockwell was then allowed to charge the government for its use of the buildings which it owned because of the trade.

The report said the government still had a need for the buildings it traded away, and the replacement cost could run as high as $18 million. Meanwhile, it added, the building obtained by the government for Nixon's records remains unused.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Toddler's constipation woes

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a little granddaughter who is 3½ years old. She has been given physics most of her life and many enemas. She screams on the stool for as much as an hour at a time with my daughter or others at her side, either encouraging or demanding that she release it.

My daughter insists that when she is kept on a strict diet that she doesn't have nearly as much trouble. We all try to abide by this, little or no sweets, in order to help the child.

I have watched all this go on for a long period of time. My daughter and other members of the family insist that all this is psychological and my concern is that perhaps it is not.

I am neither a doctor nor a psychologist, but neither are they. In behalf of the child I contend that a physical examination should be made of this area as a first step. Am I wrong?

Will you please advise me, Doctor? I have no one else to turn to without causing family trouble.

DEAR READER — It is an important problem. And, your daughter is probably right in the context that psychological factors can be very important in such cases. However, it really doesn't make any difference whether it is psychological or because of some other problem, it does require proper treatment. Usually this is not laxatives and enemas.

The idea that sweets should be limited and the diet should contain more roughage; vegetables, cereals, whole wheat products, is wise. Even a child needs sufficient bulk in the diet for proper function of the colon.

It is important to develop good bowel habits early in life but that specifically does not include taking laxatives and enemas. A laxative habit at any age can be harmful. It is just possible that the little girl already has a spastic colon because of her bowel habits and the use of laxatives. And, believe me, that can be painful. This may be why she screams.

Yes, she needs an examination. This might need to include a study of her colon to see how it is functioning. She needs to be put on a diet that will help her more. It may be that she will need a bowel training program, which includes developing regular bowel habits. That means plenty of warm liquids at breakfast and each morning sitting on the commode for 15 minutes. A bowel movement is not necessary.

I think the amount of attention she gets from the present ritual is not conducive to developing good habits. She should be allowed to go to the bathroom and left there. If she doesn't have a bowel movement, okay, she may have one the next day.

It is not necessary to have a bowel movement every day. Why don't you encourage your daughter to take her to the doctor and try to develop a good program for her.

For more detailed information about constipation write to me, in care of this newspaper . P.O. Box 1551 Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10022, and ask for the "Constipation" booklet. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

Bowel training can have important effects on the psychological reactions of a person later in life. The idea of withholding a bowel movement to punish the parents gets started fairly early in life. The child can reward or punish anxious parents by their actions. Sometimes a child with real severe problems needs help from a child psychologist or psychiatrist. This can be quite important.

So, it isn't a matter of whether it is psychological or not, but rather one of a condition that needs treatment.

ABC introduces new 'AM America' show

NEW YORK (AP) — The ABC television network held a meet-the-press powwow the other day to show off the stars of its new "AM America" morning program, which starts Jan. 6. It also emitted an announcement.

The announcement was that Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., who isn't seeking re-election, and former U.S. Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson will appear as "guest contributors" on the show once every other week.

ABC already has said former New York Mayor John Lindsay also will be a guest commentator on the show, but on a once-a-week basis.

The stars of the two-hour show — Bill Beutel of WABCTV here, Stephanie Edwards of KABC-TV in Los Angeles and Bob Kennedy of WLS-TV in Chicago — spoke, among other things, of their hopes for the show's success.

Miss Edwards, who for several years has co-hosted a local morning program on KABC, sought to quash rumors she might play the trombone — which she played in high school — on the new network show.

She said that would be silly and besides she isn't in shape.

She also said she finds it embarrassing when someone asks if she thinks she'll be better than Barbara Walters of NBC's durable "Today" show. That also is silly, she said.

Sally Quinn was among the gaggle of scriveners taking all this down.

Miss Quinn faced the same will-you-beat-Walters nonsense in August 1973, when she signed to co-host the "CBS Morning News," only to leave in January and return to reporting for the Washington Post.

I guess I should have asked her how things are going now, but (a) ABC had the floor; (b) too many journalists are interviewed these days, and (c) "Weekend," NBC's new latenight magazine program, is airing a story Saturday called, "Whatever Happened to Sally Quinn?"

A whatever-happened-to essay on former Vice President Spiro Agnew is part of tonight's special one-hour version of ABC's "The Reasoner Report," a half-hour show also seen early Saturday evenings.

Alas, the show has no more luck in interviewing Agnew than CBS News, which dispatched a reporter last week to attempt talking with him on the first anniversary of his resignation as vice president and plea of no contest to one count of income tax evasion.

All ABC gets out of him is a sardonic, "To what do I owe the honor of this visit?" But the segment is interesting, if only as a curiosity piece that shows Agnew in private life and in stoic, solitary silence when the cameras are rolling.

The show also has longer segments on world hunger and White House photographer David Kennerly, among other subjects.

What's the law?

The case of the kidnaped car

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Irwin lived in an apartment complex which contained as many "No Parking" signs within the area as it did apartments. Nevertheless, nonconformist Irwin insisted upon ignoring the signs and, one morning, he discovered that his landlord had his car towed away.

What's more, the towing company refused to return it until Irwin paid the towing and storage charges.

Hotter than a firecracker, Irwin sued the towing company for illegally refusing to return his property.

"First they kidnaped my car," he charged in court, "and now they're holding it for ransom."

"Nonsense!" responded the owner of the towing company, "Irwin's landlord acted perfectly within his rights in directing us to take it away. By ignoring the 'No Parking' signs, Irwin's now to pay the high cost of leaving his car or he's not entitled to get it back."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the towing company liable for depriving Irwin of his car?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that while the owner of the apartment complex may have had the right to have Irwin's car towed away, the towing company acquired no lien on it for storage and towing charges. Consequently, concluded the judge in effect, the towing company had no right to hold it for ransom until Irwin paid its charges.

(Based upon a 1974 Florida District Court of Appeals Decision)

The tallest block of apartments in the world is Lake Point Towers of 70 stories, 645 feet high, in Chicago.

Distinguished graduates attend Naval Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — The U. S. Naval Academy's Class of 1978 includes many of the nation's most distinguished high school graduates.

Forty- eight per cent of the new midshipmen were members of the National Honor Society.

Fifteen per cent were class presidents or vice presidents, 31 per cent were school club presidents or vice presidents and 24 per cent were school publications staff members. Seventy- seven per cent participated in high school varsity athletics.

Twelve per cent were Eagle Scouts and 19 per cent attended Boys State or Boys Nation, while 73 per cent ranked in the first fifth of their high school graduating class. Another 19 per cent ranked in the second fifth of their class.

Midshipmen are admitted from every state in the nation and the District of Columbia. The Class of 1978 includes five foreign nationals, from Ecuador, Nicaragua, Peru, Dominican Republic and Haiti.

The new class also includes 224 enlisted Navy and Marine Corps candidates from the Naval Academy Preparatory School in Bainbridge, Md., and 178 members of minority groups, the largest number of minority candidates to enter Annapolis in one class.

Young men between the ages of 16-22 who are interested in obtaining more information about the academy should contact the Candidate Guidance Office, U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md. 21402, or call the local Blue and Gold officer, Cmdr. C. L. Blanton III, at phone number 471-1137 for information about applying to attend the academy.

C.B. group names board

NEW MADRID — The New Madrid County C. B. Radio Club named a six- member board of directors at a meeting Friday in the Scott Street school attended by 28 persons.

Board members are Thurman Beeson, Hubert Harris Jr., Frank Masterson, Betty Taylor, Rose Cheatham and Arbie Newton.

Plans were made to conduct a white elephant sale Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m. on the parking lot at the corner of Main and Mott Streets across from Bank of New Madrid.

Tickets for a deer rifle to be awarded at 9 p.m. on Nov. 8 at the club's next meeting are available from club members.

The meeting, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. at Jewell Tallie Cafe, formerly Pauline's Cafe, 530 Mott St., is open to interested persons and prospective members.

Kiwanis officers to be installed

LILBOURN — Installation of Kiwanis Club officers is scheduled Thursday at the city hall in a program following a 6:30 p.m. potluck dinner.

Harold Kuehle of Cape Girardeau, lieutenant governor of Division 15, will install Bill Tope, president; Mike Hahne, vice president; and Owen J. Taul, secretary- treasurer. Tope succeeds Jack Hatley, retiring president.

This is a ladies' night event.

Graveside rites will be conducted at noon Saturday in the old Morley Cemetery.

Haven

There is a moment in every life for which there is no solace. We can only try to remove obstacles which might intensify grief and increase stress. Over the years we have endeavored to do just this by making our Funeral Home a haven of quiet serenity where the bereaved may at least be free of the jarring strains of the outside world.

On the opening, soybean futures were 5 to 7 cents a bushel lower, November 8.65; Chicago wheat was 1 to 6 lower, December 5.12; Gulf hard red wheat was not traded; corn was 1/2 to 6 lower, December 3.87 and oats were 1/2 to 1 1/2 lower, December 1.94.

Charleston homecoming is planned

CHARLESTON — "The Pioneer Spirit" has been selected as the theme for Friday's Charleston High School homecoming celebration.

The annual homecoming parade down Main Street will kick off festivities at 2:30 p.m. The high school, freshman and eighth grade bands will be featured, along with both civic and school floats. First, second, third and fourth place awards will be given for the winning school floats.

The Bluejays, homecoming opponent will be the Kennett Indians in a football game starting at 7:30 p.m.

At 7:10 p.m. Friday, the homecoming queen will be crowned at the stadium.

Queen candidates include seniors Dianne Lynn, Catherine Brown and Glenda Wade. Following the announcement of the queen winner, the other two girls will serve as senior class attendants.

Football team members from the senior class will serve as escorts.

Check for taxes received

BENTON — Scott County Treasurer Hess Porter announced he has received a $128,012 check for foreign insurance taxes from Arthur Mallory, state commission of education.

The money is collected from insurance companies from other states which do business in Missouri. The money will be distributed to local schools on a basis of $11 per pupil enrolled.

The amount goes to the free text book fund of the district and may be used to buy text books.

Amounts received, by districts, will be: Illmo- Scott City R-1, $16,342.72; Chaffee R-2, $11,563.14; Oran R-3, $9,443.99; Kelly R-4, $10,549.63; Scott Central R-5, $9,662.82; Sikeston R-6, $63,551.18; and Kelso - New Hamburg C-7, $6,898.72.

Youth charged in kidnaping

PIEDMONT, Mo. (AP)—A high school sophomore who held up his school and kidnapped its principal at gunpoint will be charged with violating the juvenile code, authorities said.

The 16-year-old youth abducted Edwin Thompson, the principal of Clearwater High School in this southeast Missouri town, after robbing the school office of $447 early Tuesday, Wayne County sheriff's deputies said.

Thompson, 42, was later found unharmed near Des Arc, about 10 miles north of here. The teen-ager was apprehended a few moments later when he emerged from a nearby wooded section.

The youth, armed with a .22 caliber pistol, reportedly forced Reggie Bone, a high school coach, to accompany him to Thompson's office, where he ordered them and District Superintendent Ronnie McCormick to open the school vault.

The boy then took the money and forced Thompson into a car, which he drove to the wooded area near Des Arc, police said.

The youth was turned over to juvenile authorities following his arrest and taken to the Reynolds County detention facility in nearby Ellington.

Board discusses school purchases

SCOTT CITY — Tennis courts, stage curtains, purchases for the high library and other school related business was discussed Monday night by the Illmo- Scott City Board of Education.

New curtains for the state at the high school will be purchased at a cost of $3,400. The cost will be shared equally between the school and the district's Parent- Teacher Organization.

A contract will be drawn up with Rust and Martin for future installation, but will not be installed until after construction of new class rooms at which time the stage can be cleared as a partial storage area.

The Parent- Teacher Organization also agreed to start a layaway fund to help the board purchase tennis courts at same future date.

Mrs. Charlotte Brune, high school librarian, told the board that a microfilm projector with magazine tapes, pamphlets, library books and career education materials had been purchased for use this year. The library is now equipped to meet the media standards for a state certified Triple A quality school.

The board approved and signed the application for reimbursement for $2,400 in state money.

Mrs. Mary Moseback was employed as a learning disability teacher to begin her work Jan. 6, after the Christmas vacation. This action was due to the new Special Education Law passed by the state.

The board was told that building progress is on schedule and the computer scheduling and grade cards used by the school this year was explained.

Bill Heckert, high school principal, also reported action taken on various discipline problems over the past month.

Firemen called to Cook Grain

CHARLESTON — The fire department answered a call at 8:40 a.m. today to Cook Grain Co. on East Naomi Street. Accumulated trash in a grain dryer had ignited, causing minor damage to the dryer.

Strike hits Missourian

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—A printers' strike forced the cancellation of Tuesday's editions of the Southeast Missourian newspaper but efforts were underway to print two editions of the paper today.

John G. Adney, city editor, said 26 members of Local 647 of the International Printing and Graphic Communications Union set up pickets around the newspaper building Tuesday, after taking a strike vote last week.

'Night for the ducks'...Monday

A super- sized night for local sportsmen is on the calendar for Oct. 21. That's when the SwampEast Missouri Chapter of Ducks Unlimited, the international wildlife conservation organization, pulls out all of the stops with its big annual "night- for- the- ducks", to be held at Sikeston Ramada Inn.

Local DU leaders promise that it will be memorable evening for those in attendance, with good food, plenty of 'duck-talk', and some outstanding prizes. The party will be highlighted by one of the most unusual prizes to come down the proverbial pike --- a rare and unique Ducks Unlimited Commemorative Shotgun.

Just a year ago, America's oldest gunmaker, Remington Arms, paid high tribute to Ducks Unlimited with the issue of the Model 1100 DU Commemorative autoloader. Now, Remington has written gun history by issuing a new Ducks Unlimited Commemorative Model 870 "Wingmaster" pump, in honor of DU's continuing leadership and achievement in the wildlife conservation business. Remington is producing a super- high- quality, extremely limited "presentation" edition of the handsome Model 870 DU Commemorative -- only 600 of them -- which are being featured as headline prizes at Ducks Unlimited "fund- raisers" across the nation -- including the local DU party.

And, that's just a beginning of the great, exclusive features of this special series of only 600 -- handsome cut checkering is featured on the top quality "C Grade" American walnut stock and fore-end. The stock is fitted with "All-American" grade recoil pad and TC-Grade grip cap. Additional super featuers include polished gold trigger; ivory front sight, and mid- barrel sight; improved barrel and receiver finishing for superior blueing, and special, custom- contoured handsome, hard carrying case.

Saving the best for last -- the unique super- guns to be featured at DU dinners will come in the ultra- rare serial numbers in the series of No. 1-DU to No. 600-DU!!! Experts in gun collecting will quickly tell you that this shotgun will be a very rare and attractive collector's prize. It's worth remembering -- guns from this special commemorative series of only 600 Model 870's will only be available at DU fundraising events, not at any store!

Plan now to attend the Ducks Unlimited party coming up on Monday. Who knows ... perhaps you'll come away from that enjoyable evening the enviable owner of one of the rarest commemorative guns ever issued -- the Ducks Unlimited Model 870 Remington "Wingmaster".

A number of door prizes will be awarded and an old fashion auction will be conducted.

Jim Tom Blair will be the featured speaker.

A's face 20-game winners

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland A's don't plan on going back to Los Angeles.

"We're a very emotional ballclub and we could start steamrolling," said Reggie Jackson after the A's beat the Dodgers 3-2 Tuesday night and took a 21 lead in the World Series.

The A's, confident and comfortable in their Oakland Coliseum, can finish off the National League champions if they win the next two games here, with Ken Holtzman going tonight and Vida Blue Thursday night.

Jackson and some others believe it's a good possibility.

"The Dodgers are the best all-around team I've seen in my major league career," Jackson said. "But we're a pretty good team, too. We are a money team. That's why we've been in the World Series for the last three years."

Manager Alvin Dark and center fielder Bill North were thinking along the same lines.

"I know we will be facing a couple of 20-game winners," Dark said of Andy Messersmith and Don Sutton. "But we've got a couple of 20-game winners for them, too."

Actually, neither Sutton, Holtzman nor Blue won 20 games in 1974, but Dark contended: "I consider them all 20-game winning pitchers."

The way the Series has been going, you have to give some weight to the feelings of Jackson, Dark and North. The opportunistic A's have cashed in on all the breaks to beat the Dodgers in the first and third games.

Los Angeles catcher Joe Ferguson, the goat of the game with two errors, certainly agreed with Jackson's assessment.

"They are definitely a team of opportunity," Ferguson said of the A's. "They got away with murder, to say the least."

The first opportunity for Oakland came in the third inning after pitcher Catfish Hunter struck out against Al Downing. North singled sharply to left for his first hit of the Series and went all the way to third on Bert Campaneris' hot ground ball to third baseman Ron Cey.

That aggressive baserunning paid off for Oakland. After Sal Bando walked on a 3-2 count, Jackson bounced a ball in front of the plate and Ferguson muffed it, allowing the first run of the game. Joe Rudi then singled to center to drive home Bando from second base and the A's had a 2-0 lead for 25game winner Hunter.

Downing walked a batter leading off the Oakland fourth, but he should have known better. Once Dick Green got on base, the A's found a way to get him all the way around.

Hunter sacrificed the runner to second, and after North flied to Bill Buckner near the warning track in left field, Campaneris singled home the A's third run — the one which turned out to be their gamewinner.

The Dodgers produced some late thunder with solo home runs by Buckner and Willie Crawford in the eighth and ninth innings, but reliable Rollie Fingers preserved Hunter's victory.

Best game for Onofrio

LINCOLN, Neb. — I just can't believe it repeated Nebraska fans as the Tigers upset Nationally ranked number five Nebraska in their Big Eight Conference opener.

Now the Tigers must come up with a repeat performance against Oklahoma State Saturday.

When Missou last played here two years ago the Huskers had romped to a 62-0 triumph. That's why the fans all 76,526 were in disbelief when the Onofrio Bengals walked off with a 21-10 victory. It was a repetition of the miracle which occurred after that drubbing here that the Tigers rebounded to surprise No. 8 ranked Notre Dame last year.

But this time you had to see it to believe it. The Huskers were leading 10-0 with eleven minutes and 26 seconds remaining in the game. Reserve quarterback Steve Pisarkiewicz and reserve tailback Tony Galbreath went to work. Pisarkiewicz scored on a two yard run with 6:56 remaining. Steve then passed nine yards to slot back Mark Miller in the end zone with 4:14 remaining in the game. then Galbreath scored on a five yard run with 2:29 to go. Tom Gibbons converted each time to give Mizzour a 21-10 victory. "This has to be the best game I've ever been involved in," said Onofrio. "I haven't been as proud of anybody in my life as I am of this football team. This was a tremendous team effort we saw today."

Pisarkiewicz, a sophomroe who had been redshirted last year, remarked, "I was very nervous when I first went in. But everything worked out right and it was a great victory to take home. That catch Miller made in the endzone was beautiful."

"I just ran my pattern on the play," said Miller. "The ball was pretty high, but I went up and came down with it. That was the greatest catch of my career. Pisarkiewicz is an electrifying person and he put the juice in us at the right time."

Big Red seek record against Oilers Sunday

HOUSTON, Tex. — The Football Cardinals will be striving for a feat they have never accomplished in their 15 seasons in St. Louis Sunday when they go after their sixth straight victory against the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome. Kickoff is set for 1 p.m.

The Big Red matched their longest winning streak as a St. Louis team last week in an exciting 31-28 victory over the Dallas Cowboys. The Cardinals have never won six straight games since moving to St. Loous from Chicago in 1960.

Twice the Big Red have gone six games without a defeat. In 1966, the Cardinals opened the season with five victories and a tie, and in 1964, the team closed the season with a victory, the infamous 10-10 mud game tie against New York Giants, and four victories.

The all- time Cardinal winning streak of 11 games was set when the Big Red were in Chicago. The string included the last 10 games of 1948 and the first game of 1949.

To set the mark Sunday, the Cardinals will need to defeat the pesky Oilers, who despite their 1-4 record, have recorded their victory and lost by narrow margins (17-7 to Kansas City and 13-7 to Pittsburgh) in the Astrodome, where the Big Red are playing their first regular season game.

In the victory last Sunday over the Cowboys -- the Big Red's first over Dallas since 1970 -- the winning points were provided on a 31- yard field goal by Jim Bakken with 1:02 left to play. Dallas took the ensuing kickoff and wound up on the Big Red 21-yard line, but time ran out.

As in the Cardinals' first four win, big plays were an important role in the victory. Trailing 7-0, the Big Red tied the score early in the second quarter on running back Donny Anderson's one- yard run. The touchdown had been set up on an 8-1 yard pass play that saw quarterback Jim Hart pass laterally to wide receiver Gary Hammond who then threw downfield to tight end Jackie Smith. The play carried to the Cowboys' six-yard- line.

The Big Red's second TD was a spectauclar 80-yard pass from Hart to wide receiver Mel Gray -- his fourth long- range scoring reception of the season. Dallas quickly tied the score, 14-14, but the Big Red took a 21-14 lead with only seven seconds left in the half on a TD pass from Hart to Smith, the latter breaking five tackles en route to the end zone in a play labeled as "a superhuman effort" by coach Don Coryell.

Running back Terry Metcalf's eight- yard run boosted the Big Red lead to 28-14 in the third quarter, but Dallas came back strongly to tie the game with 3:51 left to play. Metcalf returned the Cowboy kickoff 56 yards to set up the game-winning field goal.

"Every win is a big win, but this certainly had to be one of the biggest," Coryell said. "We're happy to be where we are right now, but we know there is still a very long way to go this season."

Against the Cowboys, the Big Red distributed a rrcord number 51,392 tickets, capacity for Busch Memorial Stadium. The old record was 51,279 tickets issued last year against Oakland.

The Cardinals have won their only previous regular season meeting with Houston -- by a 40-0 count in 1970 in St. Louis. They captured a 16-14 home preseason victory in 1971, but lost a 33-24 preseason verdict to the Oilers in the Astrodome in 1972.

Following the game, the Big Red return home on October 27 to entertain the Washington Redskins.

FRIDAY BOWLETTES
(9-20-74)

Congratulations to Vernice King who had a triple game this week. I don't have the score. It seems the Friday girls were a little cool as we had no 500 series or 200 games this week. Team scores: Caproco 1½- Int. Shoe No. 2 2½, National Lock No. 1 0- Cee Jay's 4, Salon of Beauty 1- Rodgers Auto 3, Alcorn 2- Bill's Small Engines 2, I.G.A. 3- National Lock No. 2 1. Splits picked up: Virginia Gwaltney 6-7, Jeannette Ramsey 5-6, Ethel Adams 5-10, Billie Hayden 7-9-4, Imogene Gady 5-7-9 & Lorretta Gaul 5-10.

DELTA IMPERIALETTES
(9-24-74)

We had only one 200 game this week on Tuesday. Barbara Dock bowled a 203. Barbara also had the high series by one pin a 246 over Kathy Etienne's 245. Norma Baker and Mary Meyer also had 500 series - 537 and 530. The secretary forgot to give me the high team game and high team series scores. The team scores are: Dock's Const. 3- Michelob 1, Walmart 3- Eagles 1, Frances Beauty Shop 3- Harts 1, Imperial Restaurant 3- Barketts 1, Peoples Bank 3- Dye's Seed 1, and Quadrant Homes 2- Sikeston Motors 2. ROYAL KEGLERS
(9-25-74)

Sandy Buchanan got hot and had high series with a 569 and she also bowled 2-200 games 205 and 221. Her mom (Jean Lee) tries to keep up'; she had a 511. I guess it's a good thing they are on the same team except for the rest of us who have to bowl them! Pat Crabb had a 207 and a 557 which wasn't bad either. Lil Acord had a 220 and 553 series and would you believe she is on the same team along with Pat. Betty Kelley had a 522 series. I guess you know Ziegenhorn had both High team game- 1072 and high team series with 3131 with all those ladies turning on! The team scores are: D&S 1- Wards 3, Ziegenhorn 4- Brewers 0, First National Bank 1- Liberty 3, Scott-Huff 3½- Noranda ½, Busch 3- Standley 1, Bank of Sikeston 0 - Red Kirby's 4, and Ryan 2- Penney's 2. Splits picked up: Nancy Chappell 5-6-10, Dotty Ward 2-7 twice and 4-5, Artie Satterfield 5-6 twice, Nora Springs 3-10, Sandy York 4-5, Pat Crabb 3-10, Lil Acord 5-10, Geneva Sexton 3-10, Mildred Cockrell 5-8-10, Nellie Vinson 4-7-10, Debbie Carter 2-5-7-8, Billie Garner 3-10, Flora Crouthers 4-5, and Linda Gipson 3-10, 5-7.

SPORTS

BARCELONA, Spain — Sweden's Bjorn Borg, the second seed, beat Chile's Antonio Pirola 6-2, 8-6 in the second round of the Spanish Open International tennis tournament.

LOS ANGELES — No. 2 seeded Billie Jean King defeated Betty Stove 6-4, 6-2 and Evonne Goolagong posted a 6-1, 7-6 victory over Valerie Ziegenfuss in first-round matches of a $100,000 women's professional tennis tournament.

Basketball at SHS

Basketball drills got underway for Sikeston high school non-football students Tuesday afternoon at the Bulldogs "mini-dome" and new head coach, Buddy Spears, welcomed 25 athletes.

"We expect more to come out today," Spears said. "Some still lacked their physical reports."

Coach Spears, after some very successful seasons with the junior varsity, stepped up to the head job after the resignation of coach N. P. McDaniel.

The opening day of drills was spent on conditioning and fundamentals, which will continue until the gridiron athletes report for drills in four weeks. A dozen is expected to report off the football team.

About a dozen juniors and seniors reported for the opening session after school Tuesday and coach Spears was pleased with the first day desire of the group.

The 1974-75 SHS Bulldog squad will be young and inexperienced, but should have a larger team in height than last year. A number of the top junior varsity athletes have towered toward the 6-foot-4 mark.

Last year's varsity finished with a 7-14 record and the junior varsity 14-4.

Sikeston's eighth grade basketball drills also got underway yesterday. Ford Morgan, a standout all-star athlete from Advance, began his coaching career by welcoming nearly 35 athletes. The ninth grade team will not begin drills until the first part of November, because the teams coach, Mike Foster, is assisting the football program.

A group of citizens have expressed their desire of initiating a Little League Basketball program, similar to the one for football, but plans have not been formalized.

Cardinals deal

The often mentioned Joe Torre trade was on again Sunday. After two years of rumors the Cardinals finally traded their veteran all around ballplayer to the New York Mets for former redbird pitcher Ray Sadecki 33, and a minor-league pitcher, Tom Moore.

The key to the trade, announced prior to Sunday's World Series game number two, is the presence of twenty year old first baseman Keith Hernandez.

Torre now 34 and the National League MVP in '71, came to the Cardinals in a controversial trade with the Atlanta Braves for the popular Orlanda Cepeda. "I want to go overboard in expressing my feelings for Torre," emphasized Bing Devine. "He proved his maneuverability for us, at third base and as a catcher who became one of the best-fielding first basemen in our league."

Sinde both Torre and Sadecki, a 20 game winner for the 1964 world championship St. Louis team, are "10 and 5" players, they fell into a special class. Before they could be traded, the Cardinals and Mets were required to obtain their permission.

Many observers at the Series questioned whether the Cardinals got ample payment for Torre. But Brooklyn born Torre had slumped to some extent the past three years, in run production, and the Red Birds were paying him $140,000 to drive in runs, not just singles. In fairness to Joe Torre, who is the sixth ranking active hitter in the National League, Torre played many games last summer with a severely-injured thumb.

Sadecki, of course, is no stranger to St. Louis. A bonus baby in '58, Sadecki owns a career record of 129 wins and 127 losses, and is coming back to the Red Birds after a tour with San Francisco and New York.

The Red Birds traded Marc Hill a promising young catcher to the San Francixco Giants for relief pitcher Elias Sosa and back-up receiver Ken Rudolph. In addition they acquired an off-and-on Giants pitcher, Jim Willoughby, in a minor league deal for infielder Tom Heintzelman of St. Charles, Mo. The only surprising aspect of thy Hill swap is that the young man from Elsberry, Mo., is generally regarded as the foremost catcher in the minor leagues.

"We gave up talent in Hill," conceded General Manager Devine. "But we felt he was a luxury we couldn't afford. Besides, Rudolph, he's a former Cub, too, is ideal as a back-up catcher. He's getting better as he moves around and is a hardnosed player." "We've helped our pitching," maintained Devine, " without giving up any front line talent."

Indians mistakes point to 21-19 loss

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Fumble, interception, penalty. Fumble, interception, penalty.

That pretty much tells the story of Southeast Missouri State University's 21-19 loss Saturday to the University of Missouri-- Rolla Miners.

The Miners' homecoming victory at New Jackling Field marked the first time in a decade that UMR has beaten Southeast Missouri State in Football. The win boosted the UMR record to 3-2 while the loss lowered the Indian mark to 2-3.

"We beat ourselves," Indian Coach Jim Lohr lamented Monday. "We only punted once in the game."

The Tribe was penalized 13 times for 126 yards, lost the football four times on interceptions, and fumbled it away three other times.

One of those 13 penalties nullified a successful two-point conversion, which, it turned out, sould have meant a tie instead of a loss. Another penalty -- this one late in the fourth quarter -- set the Indians back on their own 25-yard-line when they would have had possession on their own 46.

At the latter spot it would have taken only a couple of first downs to get into range for Mike Wood, a Kirkwood sophomore who kicked two field goals during the game, one of them a 37-yarder.

One of the interceptions ended the last Indian chance and permitted the Miners to run out the clock.

One of the fumbles ended a drive which started at the Tribe's 20 and moved to the UMR 15.

Asked what he would do differently, if he had it to do over again, Coach Lohr replied, "The only thing I could do that would make a difference would be to kick a field goal on the play before that fumble." A successful attempt would have put the Tribe ahead by a point with about five minutes to play.

Declaring the coaching staff had been concerned about a letdown against UMR, Coach Lohr said the Indians went through a tough week of practice and the coaches were pleased at week's end with both the offense and defense. "But we lacked emotion out there Saturday," he said.

The coach has expressed concern after every game this fall about the mistakes his team has made. Monday he just shook his head, said he and the other coaches had "tried every way we could think of to correct the situation," and added, "There's gotta be something that we're not getting across."

He also noted, "We're not good enough to win, unless we do everything almost perfectly."

Southeast Missouri State will be at home Saturday (Oct. 19) in a 1:30 p.m. game against Southwest Missouri State University of Springfield, the MIAA pre-season favorite. The Bears bring a 4-1 record into the contest.

"This is a must game for us," said Coach Lohr. "If we don't win this one, we're out of the conference." The Indians are the defending league champions.

Coach Lohr said the Indians will, once again, work this week on correcting the mistakes they have been making all season.

In addition the defense will concentrate on stopping the "fine" running and passing attack of the Bears. The offense will "try hard to perfect the things we feel we can succeed with against Springfield."

It will be Homecoming at Southeast Missouri State this week end.

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Louis Frigon, 27, has been named assistant hockey coach at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Athletic Director Robert F. Ducatte said Tuesday.

Frigon, a University of New Hampshire graduate, succeeds John Marks, who resigned to play professional hockey.

SALEM, N.H. (AP) — An unidentifed woman won $11,437.20 on a $2 bet at Rockingham Park Tuesday night by correctly picking the first, second and third place finishers in the fifth race, a track spokesman said.

It was the largest payoff on a trifecta in New Hampshire racing history, the spokesman said.

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Mike Popovich, a two-year letterman and starting offensive guard this season, has been dropped from the University of Oregon football team for disciplinary reasons, athletic department officials said Tuesday.

Coach Don Read refused to elaborate on the circumstances of the suspension.

Popovich was Oregon's starting center last year. He was a starting middle linebacker as a sophomore.

Dave Bowman wins special

The Southeast Missouri Golf Association held their 47th annual tournament at the Westwood Hills Country Club in Poplar Bluff last Saturday and Sunday. This year a special flight was added in honor of Riggs Wesley, the late secretary of the association for the past fifteen years who died last December. Thirty entries participated in the tournament which was considered tough because of the good pin placements by the directors. Tom Hoover, this year's secretary, was instrumental in making the tournament a success.

The SEMO golf association is made up of twenty-seven different clubs throughout the southeastern part of Missouri. This year's winners received prizes in the form of merchandise and the first place winner received the traveling trophy. Buddy Godwin a name familiar with SEMO golfers again came through with medalist honors. First Flight winners were:

Buddy Godwin, Poplar BLuff 71-71-142 First
Pete Godwin, Poplar Bluff, Nephew of Buddy, 74-71-145 Second
Gene Tapely, Karnack, Ill. 77-71-148 Third
Tom Hoover, Poplar Bluff 72-77-149 Fourth
Connie Connell, McClure, Ill. 75-76-151 Fifth
Tom Wright, Cape Girardeau 74-77-151 Fifth

Riggs Wesley Flight winners were:
Dave Bowman, Sikeston 78-82-160 First
Gene Rice, Doniphan 80-81-161 Second
Dr. Forrest Stepp, Sikeston 80-81-161 Second.

FCA day at Arkansas St.

JONESBORO, Ark. — All high school and junior high athletes in Arkansas and Southeast Missouri are invited to attend Fellowship of Christian Athletes Day at Arkansas State University Saturday, Oct. 19.

The event, being sponsored by the ASU chapter of the FCA, will begin with registration at 9:30 a.m. in the Carl R. Reng Center and conclude with the Arkansas State-Lamar University afternoon football game in ASU's new Indian Stadium.

Morning activities will include the movie "Run to Daylight" and some huddle group discussions.

"We want all the groups to share their ideas with others," said Benny Clark, director of ASU's Baptist Student Union and coordinator for FCA day. "We want them to see first-hand the meaning of a Christian life in athletics."

Future Farmers hear Ford's suggestions

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Future Farmers of America were impressed on hearing first-hand from President Ford about his suggestions to stabilize the economy.

"If we take his advice we might be able to do something," said Rick Worley, 17, Bradenton, Fla., one of the 10,000 in attendance during the FFA convention's opening day. "I'm going to try to save some more money."

Randy Kilby, 19-year-old vice president of the North Carolina State FFA, said, "I think that Mr. Ford has returned a lot of faith in our government system, and I think he's going to do a lot for America."

John Felton of Parsons, W.Va., wasn't as impressed. "I didn't like it," he said. "We already know enough about inflation."

He found a kindred spirit in Paul Hazel of Bowling Green, Ky. "I wanted to hear why the farmer isn't getting a lot of money from the high beef prices. I wanted him to talk about beef."

Billy Frenette, 17, of Southington, Conn., said he thought the President's remarks reflected the heavy burden he is carrying. "I think he knows what he's talking about," Frenette said.

"I think everybody needs to budget a little better," said 21-year-old Mark Nixon of Freedom, Okla. "Mainly I'm going to remember that I just saw Ford, that I saw him in person."

Tim Glass, 17, of Savoyard, Ky., agreed. "It's an honor to come down here and see the President," he said.

Lynn Taylor of Gransville, Utah said the President made sense. "People could do it if they wanted to," he said. "It'll work, if people follow it. There are a lot of people wasting stuff now."

Exhibit makes learning easy

ROLLA — "Do you think people will really be able to use solar energy to heat their houses?"

"Gee, that artificial knee cap is heavy!"

"What caused the bridge to fall down?"

"What programming language does your computer use?"

These are just a few of the questions and comments University of Missouri- Rolla faculty members hear when they take UMR's traveling engineering exhibit to one of the shopping centers in Missouri.

The exhibit has 18 separate displays that individuals may see, hear, touch or work by themselves. These displays show examples of the type of teaching aids used by faculty and staff at UMR to illustrate principles of engineering in the classroom.

For instance, there is a car that has been designed and built by UMR students. It has doors that open up instead of out into traffic. Its engine has been designed for fuel economy and pollution control. And there are several other safety and economy features built in.

One of the displays uses miniature equipment and a doll house to demonstrate how solar energy may be utilized inthe future to heat and cool an ordinary home.

A mini- computer is also a part of the exhibit. It has been programmed to play a game of tic- tac- toe with the visitor, and many people spend several minutes trying to "beat the machine."

Other displays include a smoke- wind tunnel showing the flow of air around different styles of toy cars, a hanging earth experiment, a heart valve and other artificial parts of the body, a photoelasticity device used to point out weaknesses in a given tool, a film clip of a bridge disaster, a reaction timer and Wankel engine models.

Members of the faculty of UMR's School of Mines and Metallurgy and School of Engineering accompany the exhibit when it is set up in shopping center malls throughout the state. They are on hand whenever it is open to the poublic to answer question about the different displays and to talk about the advantages of careers in engineering.

The exhibit travels to shopping centers in metropolitan areas approximately once a month. For the first time in the year and a half of its existence, it was set up on the Rolla campus for the Homecoming festivities Oc. 12.

This fall the exhibit has been in Sikeston, St. Louis and Paducah, Ky. It will travel to Kansas city in November and Joplin in December. Plans are not yet complete for the spring schedule.

Those seeking work can't find employment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly half of the persons seeking jobs during the last three months could not find work, the Labor Department says.

In a quarterly report on employment, the department said Tuesday that about 50 per cent of the five million persons unemployed during the third quarter had been seeking jobs for less than five weeks, but nearly one million had been searching for 15 weeks or more.

The report said the nation's jobless rate, which rose to 5.8 per cent in September, averaged 5.5 per cent for the last three-month period.

Employment continued to grow during the quarter, but at a relatively slow pace, the department said.

"An important factor in the sluggish employment picture has been the slump in the construction industry," the department added. It said the prolonged decline in housing starts had an adverse effect on related industries such as lumber, furniture and appliances. Unemployment in the construction industry has climbed to nearly 13 per cent.

The jobless rate among whites in poverty areas rose from 4.2 per cent to 5.5 per cent, while the rate for blacks remained unchanged at about 12 per cent.

New method will save $580,000 in production

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The state will save an estimated $580,000 in the production of its license plates next year because of a change in the reflectorizing method, according to Revenue Department officials.

The reflectorizing material contract, issued to the Flex-O-Light Co., of St. Louis for $259,000, will drop the cost of each of the state's 6.1 million license plates from 14 cents to about 4 1/2 cents, Russ Sloan, director of motor vehicles and licensing said Tuesday.

The new process for the 1975 yellow-on-blue plates will reflectorize the numerals only rather than the entire background, as has been done in past years.

"Both methods for reflectorizing plates are used by different states," Sloan said, "and since Missouri law permits us to use either reflective method we feel that it is imperative for us to go with the more economical process."

Big K Stores announce sales of $36,309,147

NASHVILLE — Kuhn's - Big K Stores Corp. has announced sales of $36,309,147 and earnings of $265,000, or 16 cents per share, for the third quarter of the year.

Jack W. Kuhn, president, made the announcement and said the Company "continued to experience a tremendously increased cost of doing business, particularly in the area of interest costs." He said results for the quarter ended Sept. 30, compared with sales of $30,167,117 and earnings of $372,166, or 21 cents per share, for the third quarter of 1973.

"The cost of money remains a serious concern," Kuhn said. "The Company is attempting to manage its cash flow prudently, on a daily basis. As an example of increased costs, our interest expense for the first three quarters of this year showed a net increase of approximately $600,000 over the same period of 1973. This is more than half of the difference between our nine-month profits this year and last."

For the first nine months of 1974, Kuhn's - Big K had sales of $97,661,949, up 24.2 per cent from $78,664,426 for the corresponding period a year ago. Nine- month earnings amounted to $90,000, or four cents per share, compared to $669,409, or 37 cents per share for the same period a year ago.

Kuhn said it is difficult to determine at this point what sales and earnings might be for the fourth quarter, the period which normally accounts for about 40 per cent of annual sales and approximately 70 per cent of annual earnings.

"We feel we have bought wisely for the holiday season," he said, "and are comfortable with present inventory levels, despite the uncertain state of the economy in our trade area and the country as a whole."

Kuhn also announced that the Company's board of directors today declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ cents per share of common stock. The dividend is payable November 1 to stockholders of record October 23.

Four Lads to appear in Cape

The Four Lads, whose list of radio and television appearances reads like a veritable "Who's Who" of the entertainment field, will give two performances at Holiday Inn in Cape Girardeau Oct. 23 at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Their gold records include "Standing on the Corner," "Who Needs You," "Moments to Remember," "My Little Angel," and "No, Not Much." They have given concerts and made television appearances around the globe and will be saluting the Nifty Fifties" in their Cape Girardeau engagement. Frankie Busseri sings baritone, Jimme Arnold sings tenor, Johnnie D'Arc is a baritone - bass and Sid Edwards is the lead singer.

Investors given tip to purchasing

Eighty-year - old Benjamin Graham makes an interesting observation for investors in his value approach to common stock purchase.

He looks for stocks selling at less per share than working capital. He then subtracts preferred stock liabilities and debt from working capital and divides what is left by the number of common shares outstanding.

A man whom E. F. Hutton & Co., the New York investment banking firm, describes as "the dean of security analysts," Graham notes that "some interesting questions relating to intrinsic value versus market price are raised by the takeover bids that are now par of our daily financial fare.

"The most spectacular such event occurred a few weeks ago when two large companies actively competed to buy a third with the result that within a single month the price of ESB, Inc. advanced from 17½ to 41. We have always considered the value of a business to the private owners as a significant element in appraising a stock issue.

"We now have a parallel figure for security analysts to think about; the price that might be offered for a given company by a would-be acquirer. In that respect, the ESB transaction and the Marcor one that followed it offer much encouragement to those who believe that the real value of most common stocks is well above their present market values."

Graham also is inclined to believe that the individual investor who has done his homework well will fare probably a lot better than his institutional counterpart, many of whom have taken a classic drubbing in the marketplace in the past several years.

"I am convinced," he states, "that an individual with sound principles and soundly advised can do distinctly better over the long pull than a large institution. Where a trust company may have to confine its operations to 300 concerns or less, the individual has up to 3,000 issues for his investigations and choice. Most true bargains are not available in large blocks. By this very fact the institutions are well-nigh eliminated as competitors of the bargain hunter."

The veteran analyst presently is working on the fifth edition of his study of the market place titled "Security Analysis,", and he has reported that it will include mention of these elements he considers pertinent in looking for a common stock to buy or to consider buying.

(1) low multiple of the prior year's earnings; (2) a price equal to half the previous market high (to indicate that there has been considerable shrinkage); (3) net asset value.

An example he considers interesting is Goodyear Tire & Rubber, with a recent price of 13 7/8ths, 1973 earnings of $2.53 and estimated earnings of $2.80 for the current year.

Goodyear at a price of 13 7/8th has a price- earnings ratio of 5.5; and 4.9 based on estimated 1974 net. Book value is $23.46 per share; High for 1973 was 31 7/8ths. Graham notes that if this stock is purchased and a 50 per cent profit realized the stock should be sold for purdence's sake.

E. F. Hutton & Co. following the precepts of Graham's analysis has vestor might which to study further with professional counsel. These are: Bulova Watch, Cannon Mills, Carter Wallace, Cluete Peabody, Faberge, Handleman, Hart Schafner & Marx, Johnson Services, Kayser - Roth, and Weyenber Shoe.

Farm Credit announces new lead

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Federal Farm Credit Board has announced the appointment of W. Malcolm Harding as governor of the Farm Credit Administration, effective Nov. 1. The announcement of the selection of Harding, a career Farm Credit System official, was made by T. Carroll Atkinson Jr., of Marion, S. C., chairman of the board.

Atkinson said Harding, 41, who has served the Farm Credit Administration as deputy governor and director of credit service since January, 1973, will be serving "at a most critical time and in a crucial area which will help determine whether the Nation's farmers will be able to meet food and fiber needs."

As governor, Harding will be chief administrative officer of the agency which supervises nationally and in the public interest the cooperative Farm Credit System through which farmers and their cooperatives borrowed more than $24 billion last year, nearly one-third of the total credit needs of American agriculture.

The Sikeston Production Credit Association and 432 other local Production Credit associations, providing short-term and intermediate - term loans, comprise a part of this system.

"Meeting agriculture's growing credit and capital needs represents a tremendous challenge in the systems ahead," Harding said, "but I am confident that, in their Farm Credit System, farmers have fashioned the tools that can greatly assist in doing this job. We in the Farm Credit System are dedicated to it."

Bank to install Miner facility

First National Bank has been authorized by the comptroller of currency to establish a banking facility in Miner, according to Pat Lea, chairman of the board and president of the bank.

"We will be able to provide all the banking services at this facility, including loans, safe-deposit boxes, drive-in facilities, night depositories and other services as if it were a separate bank," Lea said.

A site has not been chosen for the banking facility, he said.

Bankers elect new officers

POPLAR BLUFF — L. Delbert Harper, president of National Bank of Caruthersville, has been elected regional vice president of Region 6 of the Missouri Bankers Association.

Robert E. Green, president of New Era Bank at Fredericktown, was elected regional secretary.

E. Van Gibbs, executive vice president of Farmers State Bank of Risco, was appointed to the nominations committee for the 1975 meeting of the state association.

Region 6 covers 19 Southeast Missouri counties.

Harper returns from short tour

John Harper recently returned from a short tour of the Keystone, Breckenridge, Cooper Mountain and Vail ski areas.

Braniff Airlines and the resort associations were hosts for the tour. Highlights of the tour were visits to New Condominiums, such as the Wild Irishman at Keystone, dinner at the Snake River Saloon, snow, dinner at Copper Mountain and Breckenridge, and their stay at Enzian in Vail and dinner at the Fulton ironworks.

14 companies to become carriers

JEFFERSON CITY — The state insurance director announced today that 14 insurance companies have elected to become the servicing carriers for the new Joint Underwriting Association (JUA). The JUA is a new insuring mechanism designed to make reasonable automobile insurance more available to the hard - to - insure driver in Missouri.

"The 14 insurance companies elected to be servicing carriers were only a few of those actually volunteering, but they met the qualifications required for the added responsibilities," Edward G. Farmer Jr., director of the Missouri Division of Insurance, stated.

The 14 servicing carriers must issue policies, adjust claims, pay losses and provide services for this business in exactly the same manner as their regular policyholders. The servicing carriers are:

Western Casulaty & Surety Insurance Co., United States Fidelity & Guaranty Insurance Co., Travelers Insurance Co., Transamerica Insurance Co., State Farm Mutual Insurance Co., SAFECO Insurance Co. of America, MFA Mutual Insurance Co., Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., Firemans Fund Insurance Co., Farmers Insurance Exchange, Commercial Union Insurance Co., Automobile Club Inter-Insurance Exchange, American Family Mutual Insurance Co. and Allstate Insurance Co.

The election of the servicing carriers is a result of the announcement made by Farmer on Sept. 5, stating that the present automobile insurance "assigned risk" plan will be abolished Jan. 1, 1975, and replaced by the JUA.

The purpose of the JUA is to eliminate the estimated 600,000 uninsured automobiles which are presently on the streets of Missouri, largely because of the ineffectiveness of the "assigned risk" plan.

Farmer also noted, "Agents and brokers will have a choice of which servicing carrier they want to work with, and the consumer will have the same freedom of choice to select the company he wants. In many instances, the agent will already by doing business with one or more of the elected servicing carriers."

Many advantages of the new program to the consumer are that it will remove the "stigma" of being in the "assigned risk" pool, make auto insurance for the hard - to - insure driver more accessible, assure better servicing, give immediate coverage and offer a plan for financing premiums.

"The plan does not become effective until Jan. 1, but the insurance industry is tooling -up now to accommodate this new source of good insurance at reasonable prices for those who, because of age, residence or prior driving record, have found it too difficult or costly to obtain automobile insurance," Farmer explained.

World News in Brief

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Actor Karl Malden, a friend, classmate and fellow steelworker of Charles O. Finley, threw out the first ball in the third game of the World Series Tuesday night.

The two attended Emerson High School in Gary, Ind., and worked in the mills there. Finley is now owner of the A's and Malden stars in the television series "Streets of San Francisco."

NEW YORK (AP) — Retired Gen. Omar N. Bradley, the last of the nation's five-star commanders, was cited as one of the greatest living Americans during a luncheon kicking off a year-long veterans' opportunity program.

Bradley, 81, was praised Tuesday by New York Mayor Abraham D. Beame. Bradley said many veterans, particularly those who served in Vietnam, did not know which benefits they are entitled to and urged government agencies to give veterans more information.

LONDON (AP) — Perry Como, Josephine Baker and a dance troupe from Harlem head the lineup of 10 international acts for the royal variety performance at the London Palladium on Nov. 18.

Impresario Sir Bernard Delfont, who has staged the charity show since 1958, announced Tuesday the acts that will play before Queen Mother Elizabeth.

The Dance Theater of Harlem, which won rave reviews during its stay in London last summer, will perform "Forces of Rhythm" — a work combining classical ballet with ethnic rhythms.

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton says he doesn't think George C. Wallace "is a rascist anymore" and could support Wallace if the Alabama governor was the Democratic presidential nominee in 1976.

"I think he means it when he says he is concerned about the common man, the farmer, the truck driver, the beauty shop operator," said the Missouri Democrat.

But Eagleton said in an interview published Tuesday that he did not think Wallace would be on the 1976 Democratic national ticket.

MONTREAL (AP) — Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, visited Montreal on the last leg of his Canadian tour.

Before leaving for London tonight, he was to visit the Autostade, home of the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League and designated site of the Grand Prix jumping events at the 1976 Olympics.

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least three of the five defendants in the Watergate cover-up trial have adopted strategies of every man for himself. Defendants John D. Ehrlichman and Robert C. Mardian are scrambling separately to avoid conviction, opening statements by the lawyers showed Tuesday. Jacob Stein, attorney for defendant Kenneth W. Parkinson, was scheduled to make his opening statement today and was expected to emphasize his client's distance from the other defendants.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Homebuyers should find mortgage money easier to locate as a result of an emergency housing credit bill passed by Congress Tuesday. The bill, which authorizes up to $7.7 billion for federal purchases of conventional housing mortgages, was a priority request of President Ford in his economic message to Congress a week ago. Rep. Garry Brown, a ranking Republican on the Banking Committee, said he has been assured that Ford will sign the bill.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders hope to get quick enactment of a compromise worked out with President Ford to cut off U.S. military aid to Turkey again but not until Dec. 10. Opponents led by Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., called that "no compromise at all" and said they would try in the House today to cut off the aid Nov. 30 — or sooner, if Turkey sends any more arms to its occupation forces on Cyprus. But House Appropriations Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., floor manager of the compromise resolution, said Ford needs until Dec. 10 to get Cyprus peace negotiations going.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Ismail Fahmy, the straight-talking foreign minister who engineered Egypt's friendship with the United States at the expense of its ties with Russia, has now convinced Soviet chief Leonid I. Brezhnev to visit Cairo in hopes of making up. The Soviet Union announced Tuesday that Brezhnev will make his first visit to Cairo in January for meetings with President Anwar Sadat. The invitation indicated that Sadat is apparently becoming unhappy with the scarcity of concrete results from his year-old opening to the United States.

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon said today the United States shares Leonid Brezhnev's desire to resolve trade problems between the two countries. Departing for Washington after two days of talks with Soviet officials, Simon said he did not find the Soviet party chief's hard-lining trade speech Tuesday night surprising. "We share his desire to get resolution of MFN and trade," Simon said. He was referring to congressional efforts to deny the Soviet Union "most favored nation" trading status and credits until it eases emigration restrictions. Brezhnev termed the demands "utterly irrelevant and unacceptable."

Air crews chosen at Blytheville

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. — The air crews from the 97th Bomb Wing at Blytheville Air Force Base which will represent Arkansas in the Strategic Air Command bombing and navigation competition Nov. 10-16 at Barksdale AFB, La. have been chosen.

Leading the B-52 Stratofortress bomber crew will be Capt. Paul J. Micklas. Capt. Micklas, who will command the B-52 mission, was a crew member of the Wing's B-52 crew in the last bombing competition in Florida in 1971.

The 97th Bomb Wing's success will depend on the accuracy of Capt. David C. Anderson. As radar navigator, Capt. Anderson will direct electric impulses, simulating bombs, on selected targets.

Capt. William F. Lamirande will lead the KC-135 Stratotanker crew in the navigation competition. He will direct all operations during the competition.

Directing the KC-135 to pinpoint refueling points will be Lt. Phillip M. Reilly, the navigator. Lt. Steven H. Andrews will be the co-pilot. His backup co-pilot will be Lt. Randy B. Laterbach. M. Sgt. Bobby E. Birmingham will serve as the inflight refueling technician.

B-52 and F-111 wings throughout SAC will send air crews to the competition. Bombing crews will be scored electronically and the unit that receives the most points will win the Fiarchild Trophy.

A Royal Air Force team flying a Vulcan bomber has also accepted an invitation to take part in the competition.

The 97th Bomb Wing flew in the 1971 competition and in 1970 finished in second place in this the "World Series" of bombing.

SeMo State may come out clean in House report

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State University apparently will come out clean in a report to the Missouri House Appropriations Committee on how the school handles its money and presents its budget requests to the state.

The committee's subcommittee on higher education held a day-long meeting on the campus last week to investigate university funding following an audit report by State Auditor John D. Ashcroft that contended the school had been over- appropriated by approximately $1.1 million for fiscal 1973 and 1974.

The subcommittee members found little to criticize, and the meeting in the office of Dr. Mark F. Scully, university president, was generally pleasant.

The subcommittee did not spend the entire day going over financial records and questioning university administrators. The discussion wavered at times from the main topic — the audit — in favor of baseball, football and farm problems. The subcommittee members also toured the campus and visited privately with SeMo State students to find out what they think of the university.

As they left Cape Girardeau the legislators took with them a suggestion that guidelines for the presentation of all state university budgets be changed to eliminate the major possibility of error in reporting student enrollments.

"We have no big hang-up on the audit," Rep. Hayden Morgan, D-Nevada, subcommittee chairman, stated. "We've got it cleared up. There's no big problem here."

He said the subcommittee "found no evidence of fraud" on the part of the university in gaining more state money than it apparently should have. Neither did the controversial Ashcroft audit, and the subcommittee indicated that it agreed with the auditor's findings that the funding was based on enrollment reporting errors that were not intentional.

However, Morgan said SeMo State and other state universities and colleges must do a better job of figuring enrollments. "The schools have got to pay more attention to counting students. Some of them have been slip-shod in their enrollments," he said.

It was noted during the investigation that some SeMo State instructors do not regularly take roll in their classes.

Rep. Morgan said the chief problem, as he saw it, was a "communications gap" between the university and the staff of the Co-ordinating Board on Higher Education and the old Commission on Higher Education which was replaced by the board in the state government reorganization last July.

He said the university and the staffs of the two state agencies did not communicate on guidelines for budget requests. It was not a problem limited to SeMo State, he added.

Of the policy of projecting enrollments and credit hours as the basis of determining university appropriations, he said: "The projection system may seem stupid to laymen, and to some of us in the legislature, but the commission (co-ordinating board) says otherwise. Whatever system is used, there will be projections and the possibility of error. No system is absolutely perfect."

Morgan said the legislature will "have to do a better job of being the watchdog of state money, to see that it is being spent wisely." That was the main reason why the subcommittee came to Cape Girardeau, he said.

He said the full House Appropriations Committee would receive the subcommittee report on SeMo State around Dec. 1.

Rep. J. T. "Jet" Banks, D-St. Louis, the subcommittee member asking the most pointed questions, asked Dr. Scully if he thought the Ashcroft audit report was politically motivated.

"I think Mr. Ashcroft is a fine person," the university president replied with a smile. Dr. Scully said he questioned the audit because the university and the auditor's office apparently used different guidelines.

"He (Ashcroft) went one way and we (SeMo) another," Dr. Scully said. "He did not understand the guidelines" the university must follow, he added.

Ashcroft released his audit report Sept. 16 in advance of a campaign appearance here Sept. 19. Some critics contended the timing of the release was political, but this was denied by the Republican auditor who is seeking his first full term. The House Appropriations Committee chairman, Rep. James Russell, D- Florissant, on Sept. 20 ordered the subcommittee on higher education to investigate SeMo State.

"Would you like to have an independent audit?" Rep. Banks asked. Dr. Scully said this would not be necessary because the university employs a certified public accountant, Robert J. Earley of Cape Girardeau, to make audits.

Earley said his firm "did not give the university a clean bill of health" in the audits, but he added that "no significant errors were found." Errors in enrollment reports similar to those cited by the state auditor were found, Earley said.

Banks charged the university was not following guidelines established by the co- ordinating board for presentation of budgets. "You must follow the guidelines," he told Dr. Scully.

Dr. Scully said the guidelines were not only difficult to follow — he termed them sometimes "confusing" — but were changed from time to time without discussing the proposed changes with university officials.

Dr. Scully also blamed the staffs of the board and the former commission for mailing guidelines late. He pointed out the university must begin preparing its budget in July, but that guidelines have been received from Jefferson City as late as September instead of April as prescribed by law. Budgets must be presented in October.

"We will play ball," Dr. Scully said, "but we must have co-operation, too." He contended communication between the universities and the state agency has dwindled in recent years.

He blamed the guidelines as the cause of most of the reporting errors.

The subcommittee expressed interest in Dr. Scully's proposal that future budgets be prepared on the basis of actual enrollment for the previous year rather than projected enrollments.

He also recommended that state universities be allowed "more input" in making the guidelines and that the coordinating board members visit all campuses each year.

Subcommittee members attending in addition to Reps. Morgan and Banks were Carrol McCubbin, R-Eldon; Lloyd Baker, D-Moberly, and Albert Nilges, D-Bourbon. They were accompanied by a member of the appropriations committee staff, Ray Fountain of Jefferson City. Two members — Mrs. Gladys Marriott, D-Independence, and Les Langsford, R-Springfield — did not attend.

Also present in addition to university officials were Cape County's three legislators — Sen. Albert M. Spradling Jr. and Reps. Gary W. Rust and Marvin E. Proffer.

Fallen leaves can be menace to motorists

JEFFERSON CITY — Fallen autumn leaves can become a menace to drivers, it was noted today by Col. Sam S. Smith, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

"Leaves on streets and highways provide slippery surfaces which can be treacherous to motorists," Smith stated. "Moisture collecting between layers of leaves can make such patches as slippery as ice. Drivers should reduce their speed and increase their alertness when this condition exists."

The patrol superintendent added that fallen leaves are only one sign that winter is not many weeks away. He noted that dropping temperatures, earlier darkness, occasional fog and frost warnings must also be taken as signals that car owners should make plans for an auto safety checkup soon.

"Don't delay in having your vehicle serviced for winter weather," Smith said. "Make sure your engine is running at peak efficiency and see that your safety equipment is in proper condition. Items such as headlights, brakes, turn signals, brake lights, heater, defroster, windshield wipers and blades should be given special attention. A change-over to snow tires for better traction on snow and ice should also be made for safer winter driving."

VALPARAISO, Ind. (AP) — A Valparaiso man who waited more than three months for delivery of his new car had driven only 69 miles when the car started to fall apart.

Architect Douglas Pierce took his 1974 car to a garage, where mechanics told him a tie rod had fallen off, bolts inside and outside the transmission, in the bell housing and in the tie rod system were loose and the clutch linkage was dangling.

When Pierce complained, an observer quipped, "What do you expect for $4,000?"

Recruiter says stay in school

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Thinking about dropping out of high school? Don't! That's the advice of Sgt. Jack Simpson, the area Air Force recruiter.

While seeking young men and women between the ages of 17 and 27 to go into the Air Force, Sgt. Simpson says he finds himself counseling many of the youths he contacts about the importance of a high school diploma. "It's true," he says, "that the young man or woman who obtains his or her high school diploma before going into the Air Force is much better off."

According to Sgt. Simpson, most of the jobs in the Air Force call for individuals with at least a high school diploma. "For this reason," he said, "the individual who goes into the Air Force without a diploma is limited on the number of career fields he can enter."

Another advantage of having a diploma, the sergeant explained, is that one can immediately begin taking college courses after completing his training, whereas a non- high school graduate would be compelled to get a diploma first.

3 bound over on felony charges

NEW MADRID — Three men were bound over to Circuit Court Tuesday to stand trial on felony charges after waiving preliminary hearings in Magistrate Court before Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Earnest Smith Jr. of New Madrid was placed under $1,000 bond on burglary and larceny charges stemming from a break-in on Sept. 9 of Richard Lawson's house. Items reported stolen included a .22-caliber rifle, one man's wrist watch, one women's wrist watch and a jar of pennies, valued together at $200.

Smith, also accused of feloniously stealing on Sept. 10 one 20-horsepower outboard motor valued at $600 which belonged to Cub Beaher, was placed under $1,000 bond on that charge.

Larry Summers waived preliminary hearings on two charges filed against him and $1,000 bond was set on each charge. He is accused of malicious destruction of personal property on Oct. 12 by breaking and destroying a store window valued at $390 at Robert's Sundries Liquor Store, 317 Main St., New Madrid.

Summers is accused, along with Howard LaValle and Danny Decker, of feloniously stealing $500 on Oct. 12 from Martin Oil Co. on Highway 61 in New Madrid.

LaValle was granted a continuance until Thursday to obtain legal counsel and was placed under $1,000 bond. Decker posted $1,000 bond and requested a preliminary hearing which will be set later.

Walter Henry was placed under $1,000 bond on an Oct. 6 felonious assault charge of stabbing Willie James Harris in the stomach with a pocket knife with intent to kill.

Charles Clifton Taylor was assessed a $180 fine for driving while intoxicated, improper registration and driving while his operator's license was suspended. He also received a six- month suspended jail sentence and was placed under probation for one year.

Charles Gates was levied a $30 fine on a nonsupport charge. He was ordered to begin paying $10 per week per child on Nov. 6 for the support of three children.

Paying fines on speeding charges were Roxie Gremore, $30; Ralph LaVerne Sexton Jr., $28; and Francis Lee Cohen, $26.

Certificate presented

Roy Sanderson, a senior at Sikeston High School, receives a certificate from Roger Sherman, high school principal, designating Sanderson as "Student Cartoonist of the Week." Sanderson was selected by Visual Education Consultants, Inc., of Madison, Wis.

Sanderson chosen student cartoonist

Roy Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Sanderson, has been chosen "Student Cartoonist of the Week," by the Visual Education Consultants, Inc., Madison, Wis. Sanderson is a senior at Sikeston High School.

VEC is the firm that supplies the contemporary history classes -- and others around the United States -- with weekly topical filmstrips.

Contemporary history students, directed by Mrs. Jack Young, submitted cartoons to the firm, and Sanderson's cartoon appeared in the Oct. 7 issue of the VEC Current Events Filmstrip Program and was viewed this week in over 10,000 schools.

A certificate was presented in recognition of a special achievement in representing a current event, trend, or idea by drawing an editorial cartoon.

A keen understanding of current affairs through careful reading of the newspaper and superior ability in critical thinking were central in selecting the "Student Cartoonist of the Week."

Students of contemporary history classes in Sikeston high school viewed the film Thursday.

Amateur radio station broadcasts SeMo news

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri and the Southeast Missouri State University are represented and heard throughout Missouri, the midwest, the nation and the world over the Industrial and Technical Education Club Amateur Radio Station WBOJYA.

This was particularly true recently as the Industrial and Technical Education's Radio Section moved the portable station to the East Perry Community Fair at Altenburg under a 30-foot antenna tower..

Dr. James E. Sage, assistant professor of industrial and technical education, is the sponsor. Robert E. Bartlett Jr., assistant professor of Social Science is co-Trustee. They, with seven students who are pursuing the Bachelor of Science degree with the new electronics communications technology major operate the transmitting, receiving, repeating and monitoring equipment.

The logbook shows contact with stations in most of the 50 states, Canada, Latin America, South America and Europe.

The group is licensed to operate in all the amateur radio bands from "80 to 2 Meter" radio frequencies. The largest transmitter has a 500 Watt input power and 200 Watt output. Both the incoming and outgoing radio frequency signals are viewed on a cathode ray tube and are noted on a spectrum analuzer.

A Communications repeater furnished by the Fifth Army Military Radio Service, Ft. Sam, Houston, Tex., is utilized to receive any weak signals and amplify them for retransmission.

The section demonstrates trouble shooting techniques and answers questions regarding occupational and career programs in the Department of Industrial and Technical Education in the other fields of drafting and design, construction, manufacturing and technology of printing, power, and plastics.

Gilbert Dryer, president of the East Perry Community Fair was in charge of the arrangements for electrical power and space at Altenburg.

One of the Student Assistants is Bradley Gilliland, a 1972 graduate of Sikeston High School, and the son of Hubert and Jean Gilliland, Sikeston. Brad was an Engineer / Announcer for a Sikeston radio station for three years.

Tom Tiede

Taking a nation to the cleaners

By Tom Tiede

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Thomas Kauper tells the story of his wife going to the laundry and learning that the price of dry cleaning had, overnight, gone up steeply. Well, she told the operator, "then I'll go someplace else." Won't do any good, the owner replied confidently, "because all the other laundries have gone up, too."

Kauper is the nation's top cop in charge of the Justice Department's antitrust division, and he uses the story of his wife to illustrate his opinion that millions of Americans are today being taken to the cleaners because of large and small price-fixing schemes.

The trouble is, many Americans don't know it, and many others don't care about it, and thus in spite of the recent presidential assurance of a "return to vigorous enforcement of antitrust laws", very little can be immediately done to set this most undemocratic matter straight.

Price fixing is an epidemic in the nation, Kauper insists, but inflation makes it hard to tell. When the economy is stable, dealers who conspire to hike prices stick out like warts on a long neck. But during inflationary periods such as now, when everything rises every day, antitrust activity is nicely camouflaged by circumstances.

So it is that Kauper's office estimates the American consumer is likely to be overcharged some $80 billion this year for goods and services purchased in a marketplace that is increasingly uncompetitive. Much of this money waste will go for perfectly legal monopolistic services, such as regulated public utility concerns, but a good part will be forfeited to illegal business practices, i.e. those that get together to set mutually beneficial prices.

The situation is downright unAmerican. Worse, since it hides in the inflation it helps promote. Yet, unhappily, and again despite President Ford's wrath, there are no quick solutions. The laws against price fixing, for one thing, are totally ineffective when facing large industry. Six months ago the Justice Department filed indictments against eight major dye making firms, charging they had conspired to jack prices by 10 per cent or $300 million; if they are convicted the maximum judgment against them would be $50,000 each — "almost worth it," as one lawyer grumps, "against the $300 million."

As for the small fry price fixers, they can be hurt in court but seldom are. Kauper's staff, limited in size, concentrates on 60-to-80 cases a year, mostly big; the little crooks, then, which collectively are as dangerous as the big, break laws and bank accounts with impunity.

Presumably, consumers could help drag the small conspirators to justice. But there are risks in citizens acting as cops, one being that proving antitrust is much more difficult than suspecting antitrust.

"Suppose you have two gas stations across from each other," says a trust busting attorney, "and one day they both raise their prices 5 cents a gallon. If one guy says he raised first, and the other says he followed to protect himself, that's legal. You may know damn well they got together and decided to hike prices, but unless you can prove it in court — which almost means getting an admission of guilt from both — you have no case to try at all."

And even if the legalities of prosecution were simpler, Kauper and his people feel the price fixing epidemic would still flourish. "This is probably not the kind of thing I'm supposed to say," Kauper has confided, "but I have always had a little doubt about how committed the general public really is to the notion of competition."

Evidence is that fewer and fewer people show outrage with price fixing, fewer and fewer officials are reluctant to grant antitrust exemptions to requesting industries — and hardly anyone anymore even grumbles at the continuing growth of competition-killing multinational corporations.

It's hard to figure the public attitude here. But perhaps it's simple resignation. At a time when man, following Hobbes' theory, is beginning to be wolf to man, people may have become too busy trying to survive in the market to worry whether it's still free.

Customers file complaint on unlisted number fee

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Public Service Commission has been told that the $1 charge for unlisted telephone number service is based on the cost of providing that service for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., of St. Louis.

But at a public hearing Tuesday on a complaint filed by 27 Southwestern Bell customers with unlisted numbers, witnesses told the commission that if there is an extra cost involved in leaving a subscriber's number out of the phone book it should be borne by all telephone company customers.

Burton Greenberg, attorney for the 1,500 member St. Louis Police Officers Association, told the commission in opposing the charge that it was arbitrary and unreasonable and actually caused people to pay for "a non-wanted service, a non-service."

He along with other witnesses seeking abolition of the charge contended it is the right of telephone customers, many having legitimate reasons for needing unlisted numbers to avoid harrassment, to have a nonpublished number. Witnesses also claimed that there can only be a miniscule expense to the company for providing unlisted number service.

But figures supplied by company officials indicated that offering the non-published number service costs approximately $11.28 per number annually.

"And those are only identifiable costs," an official pointed out. "There are probably other costs that we could identify only through years of study."

He was confident that the cost of providing the service, primarily in special handling that must be given to requests for installation or service involving unlisted numbers, exceeds the $12 yearly charge the company collects from each unlisted subscriber.

Opposing witnesses claimed the additional costs should be paid by all the 1.4 million Missouri customers since the 134,000 unlisted number subscribers must pay through their normal service rates for the cost of publishing the listed number directories.

Company officials said spreading the cost of unlisted number service over all customers would require a monthly rate hike of 11 cents.

The unlisted number service was provided free prior to August 1972 when the utility was authorized by the Public Service Commission to begin charging the $1 monthly rate. The move was made, officials said, to stop the significant increase in the unlisted number requests and it was pointed out that there was no organized opposition to the charge during hearings on that rate hike.

Utility bills may increase

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Utility customers can expect to see their bills increase if Congress approves President Ford's request for a 5 per cent surtax without exempting regulated public utilities, predicts a member of the Missouri Public Service Commission.

William Clark said Tuesday he based his forecast on information supplied at his request by Donal D. Guffey, general counsel for the Gas Service Co. of Kansas City.

Guffey estimated the utility would need nearly a 5 per cent rate hike to maintain its current return if the surtax is imposed. He pointed out that now the utility must make $1.98 to earn $1 with the $.98 going for taxes, but the surtax would force Gas Service to make $2.07 to earn the same $1 return.

"The nine cents has got to come from somewhere," Clark said. "Everybody says tax the utilities, but you're just raising the rates for the taxpayers."

Farmers slaughter calves

CURTISS, Wis. (AP) Protesting low cattle prices, farmers shot or slit the throats of 658 calves and buried the carcasses in trenches.

"I'm tired of rhetoric," said Steve Pavich, president of the National Farmers Organization in Wisconsin. "... There is a problem out here in rural America and something has to be done about it."

"None of us like it," one farmer said. "But if they don't change soon they might as well shoot the American farmer and throw him in the pit."

The farmer and Pavich spoke at a demonstration here Tuesday where 636 calves were killed by NFO members. Another 22 were slaughtered by members of the Buena Vista Beef Growers Association near Wisconsin Rapids, about 60 miles southeast of here.

The farmers say the price of feed grain and other costs have jumped while veal prices have plummeted.

Farmers were getting $90 to $125 a head for veal calves eight months ago, but are now receiving $17, according to Phil Broege, marketing dairy representative for the NFO in the Curtiss area.

"You're paying about $2 a pound for veal in the store, but the farmer is getting 17 cents a pound for his animal," Broege said. "Everybody between the farmer's driveway and the consumer is taking the rest."

Broege said the NFO offered to turn the calves over to slaughterhouses at Edgar, Wis., and Dubuque, Iowa, if packers would distribute the meat to needy families. But the offer was turned down.

The Rev. William Whitcomb, director of the Wisconsin Christian Rural Overseas Program, criticized the calf kill. He said the farmers could have held the animals off the market without waste by contributing them to charitable organizations.

But Newell said part of the point was to slaughter female calves -- to dramatize the need to cut down future production.

Most of the animals slain were less than two weeks old, but some weighed as much as 400 pounds. Farmers said all were healthy. An average veal calf weighs about 100 pounds.

'Government needs larger role in economy'

WASHINGTON (AP) Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, calling President Ford's economic program only a partial answer, has urged a larger government role in the economy.

"To 'Whip Inflation Now' WIN, as the slogan goes will require action, action that encompasses something more and different than a 10-point program which begins by imposing greater tax burdens on families with annual incomes of $15,000; more than increased acreage allotments for peanuts, cotton and rice production," Mansfield said Tuesday.

"Words and slogans will no longer satisfy the nation," he said in a nationally broadcast Democratic response to Ford's economic program.

He called for fuel rationing, tough controls on wages, prices and profits, allocation of credit, a broad system of tying workers' wages to living costs and a tax break for the poor.

Mansfield said the Ford administration's heavy reliance on tight money and reduced federal spending to help the economy is only a partial answer.

"Sacrifices are needed across the board if the nation's economy is to be restored," the Democratic leader said. "In my judgment, the people of this nation are prepared to make those sacrifices."

Mansfield said the nation cannot come to grips with inflation, recession and unemployment "unless we begin to move in the direction of":

—Mandatory controls on wages, prices, rents and profits, as necessary.

—Launching a rationing system for energy and other scarce materials, coupled with a tight conservation program.

—Developing a system of indexing, under which workers' real incomes are tied directly to living costs. When the cost of living goes up, wages would go up automatically.

—International cooperation to deal with such cartel action as that last winter by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which embargoed petroleum to the United States and later quadrupled oil prices.

Mental health division wins reimbursement

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The state Division of Mental Health has won a close state Supreme Court battle for an estimated $1 million reimbursement from the city of St. Louis.

The high court, in a 4-3 ruling Tuesday, said the city must pay the state for care of indigent city residents treated in state-supported facilities since May 1971, while turning down the city's counterclaim for $1.6 million for care of indigents in city-operated hospitals between 1940 and 1963.

"There is something basically wrong," wrote Judge Robert Seiler in expressing his dissent and that of Chief Judge Robert Donnelly and Judge John Bardgett, "when the state is permitted to exact compliance from St. Louis with the statutes ... yet at the same time the state is not required to comply with statutes which require it to pay ..."

The city, while not denying that it owed the funds under one section of state law, had claimed that county budget laws, which were also cited by the state as reasons for the city to pay, did not apply to St. Louis, which is not considered a county under state statutes.

The majority opinion, written by Judge James Finch Jr. and concurred in by Judges J.P. Morgan, Fred Henley and Lawrence Holman, did not, however, consider the applicability of the budget laws to the city, stating that the money was due simply under the explicit provisions of other state laws.

The city's claim for reimbursement from the state was rejected by the majority on grounds presented by the state that the claim was more than 10 years old and therefore barred by the statute of limitations.

It was on that point that the three judges disagreed, contending the statute of limitations was not meant to apply to dealings between portions of the state.

"There is no indication the legislature intended the state to escape these obligations by invoking the statute of limitations," Seiler wrote in the dissent, citing a number of previous court cases to support that position.

"They money involved here is all public money," he concluded, "yet the way this case turns out, St. Louis is being shorted the public money due it while the state is not."

Retail beef prices rise

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Retail beef prices generally rose during the past week along with prices for chicken as pork remained steady or registered slight declines, according to the weekly survey of selected food items by the Missouri Farm Bureau.

A fair demand for wholesale beef drove prices for most cuts higher as of the Monday check of grocery store supplies with only blade roast, dropping six cents to $.83 a pound, and rib steak, fling 20 cents to $1.39 a pound, recording declines in median statewide prices.

Arm roast jumped 30 cents a pound from a week ago to $1.34, T-bone steak was up a dime to $1.79 a pound, sirloin steak rose from $1.61 to $1.74 a pound, round steak was up 15 cents to $1.43 1/2 a pound and ground beef recorded a threecent rise to $.97 a pound.

Whole fryer chickens registered a three-cent hike to $.57 a pound while cut up portions jumped a penny to $.62 a pound.

Center cut pork chops and pork steak remained steady over the week, at $1.39 and $.99 a pound respectively, while other cuts dropped off as much as a dime.

Pork blade roast fell 10 cents a pound to $1.04, shank portions of ham dropped six cents to $.83 a pound and butt portions were down a penny to $.93 a pound.

Retail prices on nonmeat items were mixed for the week, registering only minor changes in most cases.

A gallon of whole milk fell off a penny to $1.44 1/2 while a gallon of 2 per cent rose from $1.35 1/2 to $1.41 1/2.

Grade A eggs remained generally steady except for medium eggs, which rose four cents a dozen to $.75. Extra large eggs were down 1/2 cent a dozen to $.80, and large eggs remained constant at $.82 a dozen.

A pound and a half loaf of white bread was up three cents to $.57 while a 10-pound bag of red potatoes remained steady at $1.26 1/2.

Cane sugar in a 10-pound bag continued its slow downward trend, falling a penny to $3.83.

COOKING-UP

BY NADINE TOWNSEND

NEW MADRID — When Missouri celebrated its 150th year as a state three years ago, a sesquicentennial cookbook containing recipes contributed by cooks from all over the state was published to promote the celebration.

Many of the recipes were favorites passed down from generation to generation that remain in use today.

Plans are now under way by several Southeast Missouri cities to participate in the national Bicentennial celebration. The Daily Standard would like to receive old recipes from its readers, along with any comments about the historical origins.

Recipes should be mailed to Cooking Up, The Daily Standard, P. O. Box 100, Sikeston, Mo. 63801.

Some of the old-time pioneer favorites from the Missouri Sesquicentennial Cookbook are featured in today's column. Can there be any doubt of the merits of a recipe that has survived for 100 years?

CHESS PIE

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
1 tsp. vanilla
6 tbsp. condensed milk

Melt butter, add sugar, egg yolks, vanilla and milk. Beat well. Pour into unbaked crust. Bake at 400 degrees until golden brown and firm, about 20 to 25 minutes.

Make meringue of three egg whites beaten frothy, then keep beating and add six tablespoons of sugar. Beat until very stiff and add one teaspoon vanilla. Pile on pie and bake at 350 degrees for15 minutes.

Mrs. Frank Chailland of Kennett, who contributed the recipe, said it was about 75 years old and that her grandmother had made it with water, which she changed to condensed milk.

The story passed along with the recipe is that an old German lady served the pie, and when her guests complimented her and asked what kind it was, she replied "O Chess Pie".

PAPPY

Place one- half gallon of fresh whole milk in saucepan and heat. Make flour paste and thicken milk mixture to the consistency of thin gravy. Add sugar and vanilla to taste and drink as a hot eggnog.

The above 100- year- old recipe is termed "a children's delight". I remember what a time Mama had getting me to drink milk as a child. She didn't thicken the milk but she did add sugar and vanilla, which made it a little tastier.

EGG DRESSING

1 qt. flour
6 egg yolks, beaten
½ gallon chicken broth
1 small onion
salt to taste

Add egg yolks to flour and crumble into very fine noodles. Stir mixture in boiling broth with onions (chopped finely). Place in pan of hot water and let simmer for 30 to 40 minutes.

This is a very old pioneer family recipe from the A. A. Mayfield family in Sikeston that was contributed by Mrs. Betty Heckemeyer of Sikeston.

My husband's late grandmother, Mrs. Eddie "Mama Doll" Townsend Smart, who would now be 90 years old, made a variation of this recipe, adding celery, sage, oysters and her personal touch. I tell you truly -- the highlight of Mama Doll's family Christmas dinners was this light, fluffy delicious dressing. For some reason none of the family cooks now have ever been able to duplicate it exactly.

GERMAN RAW POTATO PANCAKES

3 medium size peeled potatoes, shredded
2 eggs
1½ tbsp. flour
1 tsp. salt
1 small chopped onion

Combine ingredients. Roll in small cakes and fry in hot grease; brown on both sides and cook until potatoes are done. These can be used for any meal of he day, served with applesauce.

The above recipe, submitted by Mrs. August Begeman, was brought from Germany in 1890 by the family, which settled in Hartsburg in Boone County.

WHITE LOAF CAKE

2 cups white sugar
1 cup butter (level cup)
1 cup sweet milk
1 cup cornstarch (mix in milk)
8 egg whites, beaten stiff
3 tsp. baking powder
2 cups cake flour
1 tsp. lemon flavoring

Mix sugar and butter to a light cream, then add cornstarch and milk (small amount at a time). Add flour, which has been sifted three times, with the baking powder. Add eggs last, spoonful at a time, and one teaspoon of lemon flavoring. Beat until very light. Bake slowly for 45 minutes. Test with straw.

This recipe was submitted by Mrs. O. B. George, age 91, of 304 W. Morrison, Fayette, who said it was her mother's white loaf cake.

HOSENFLECKEN

When your homemade bread dough has risen and is ready to make into loaves, the dough is ready for Hosenflecken: Pinch off pieces of top dough, about the size of a golf ball. Stretch with hands until the center is paper- thin, but not torn (the edges are left thicker), and drop into hot grease. Brown and drain on absorbent paper. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon.

The above recipe was contributed by Mrs. Marge Estes, who was secretary to the First Lady of Missouri, Mrs. Warren E. Hearnes. Mrs. Estes said the old German recipe, known as "Pant-Patches", was given to her mother, and is a delight to every child lucky enough to have mother fixing them when he comes home from school.

The recipe also brings to mind how Mama -- who firmly believed and practiced "waste not, want not" -- would take the extra pie crust trimmings, form into a ball and then roll into a thin sheet. She would spread melted butter on the pastry and sprinkle it liberally with sugar and cinnamon. After rolling the dough into log shape, she cut it into thin slices and baked to a golden brown.

These flaky cinnamon pinwheels were so good, not a single scrap of pie dough was ever discarded. However, I always suspected Mama made a little extra pie crust just for these special treats.

HAWAIIAN GRILL—Tenderized pork is skewered with pineapple, green pepper and onion, then broiled over charcoal and accompanied by rice and a sauce.

Pork makes thrifty, Hawaiian- style dish

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Using fresh pork shoulder for kabobs for the outdoor grill can make an interesting Hawaiian-style main course that's reasonable in cost.

We chose a small bone-in roast for the kabobs and did the boning and cutting of the meat in our own kitchen; this takes time and a little skill but is usually less expensive than buying the boned 1½-inch thick pork that is needed. Before we readied the meat, we moistened it, sprinkled it with unseasoned meat tenderizer and pierced it.

Papain, the ingredient in meat tenderizer that does the tenderizing, is according to Webster, "a crystallizable proteinase in the juice of the green fruit of the papaya." Noted botanist Alex D. Hawkes in his indispensable "A World of Vegetable Cookery" (Simon and Schuster) writes that "The Papaya (Carica Papaya) is one of the tropics' most extraordinary plants. It is not a tree — despite its appearance and its growth to ten feet or even more in height — but rather a woody herbaceous plant." We quote these sources to assure you that papain is a "natural" product.

A few notes about offering this Hawaiian Grill. We suggest placing the kabobs "as is" over rice, but if you prefer you can remove them from the skewers. If you have trouble removing the food in one downward thrust, just remove a third or half of it at a time and arrange it in its original order. And get out those steak knives; it's always a good idea to use them, instead of regular dinner knives, with kabobs. You may want to offer a tossed green salad with, or after, this Hawaiian Grill. If not, sliced tomatoes will make a good substitute. The kabobs and their sauce include pineapple, but ever since encountering that fine French dish, Chicken Gauguin, in which pineapple and tomatoes are coupled, we've overcome our resistance to recommending that they be used together.

HAWAIIAN GRILL

3¼ to 3½-pound bone-in fresh pork shoulder roast
Unseasoned meat tenderizer
1 pound and 4-ounce can pineapple chunks in heavy syrup
1 green pepper, seeded and cut into 1-inch squares
3 small onions, peeled and quartered
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 tablespoons catchup
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch combined with 1 tablespoon cold water
1 cup long-grain or converted rice, cooked and hot

Trim fat from outside of pork. Moisten all surfaces of meat with water; sprinkle meat tenderizer -- as you would salt — over each surface; with a fork, deeply pierce meat at ½-inch intervals. Bone meat and cut into 1½-inch cubes removing any fat around cubes.

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Thread the pork, pineapple, green pepper and onion on 4 to 6 long metal skewers, dividing meat equally and allowing 1 pineapple chunk, 1 green-pepper square and 2 or 3 onion quarters for each skewer. Reserve remaining pineapple and green pepper.

In a 1-quart saucepan stir together the reserved pineapple syrup, vinegar, catchup and brown sugar; heat to boiling; stir in cornstarch mixture; cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until clear and thickened; add reserved pineapple and green pepper. Set aside.

Broil skewers over hot coals or on an open electric grill, turning as necessary, until pork is cooked through — 20 to 30 minutes; to test, with a small sharp knife cut a small slit in pork — it should look white.

Reheat sauce. Serve skewers over rice and top with the sauce or pass it separately.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Note: The raw onion quarters, after broiling, are crisp tasting and charred; they are easiest to thread if the metal skewers are on the thin side. If you like, you may use home-cooked or canned whole small white onions; in this case, some of them may be added to the sauce.

Imported Peanut

The peanut, native to the Americas, was imported into Africa by Portuguese traders and returned again in the 18th and 19th centuries on ships transporting slaves. Primarily intended as food for the slaves during the long ocean crossing, the peanuts that were left over from these voyages were planted around the slave cabins. This was the beginning of one of the most important crops in the United States.

Use shrimp in sandwich

¾ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons chili sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 cups chopped cooked shrimp (¾ lb.)
3 hard cooked eggs, chopped
¼ cup crumbled blue cheese
6 English muffins
3 tablespoons margarine
6 lettuce leaves

Mix together sour cream, chili sauce and lemon juice. Stir in shrimp, egg, and cheese. Split English muffins by scoring with tines of fork and gently pulling apart. Toast; spread with margarine. Place lettuce leaf on bottom half of each muffin. Top with shrimp mixture. Serve with remaining muffin half.

Makes 6 servings.

Today in U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 16, the 289th day of 1974. There are 76 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1964, China announced it had tested its first nuclear bomb, making it the world's fifth atomic power.

On this date —

In 1793, Queen Marie Antoinette of France was executed by guillotine.

In 1790, the Congress established the Dirtrict of Columbia as the permanent seat of the U.S. government.

In 1815, Napoleon Bonaparte landed as an exile on the island of St. Helena.

In 1840, New Zealand was made a British colony.

In 1940, the United States banned all shipments of steel and scrap iron to Japan.

In 1972, House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana and two other men were reportd missing while flying a light plane along the south coast of Alaska.

Ten years ago: The new Soviet Premier, Alexei Kosygin, was forming a government after ouster of Nikita Khrushchev as head of government.

Five years ago: The United States rejected a Communist offer to hold Vietnam peace talks, with the Saigon government excluded.

One year ago: Former Vice President Spiro Agnew made a national broadcast in which he denied wrongdoing and said he had resigned to give President Nixon an opportunity to restore unimpaired confidence and implicit trust in the office of Vice President.

Tody's birthdays: U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Douglas is 76 years old. Actress Angela Lansbury is 49 years old.

Thought for today: Trees often transplanted seldom thrive — Arabian proverb.

Environmental showdown at Lake Tahoe

By Murray Olderman

TAHOE CITY, Calif. – (NEA) — It is 75 miles of precious shore line, reflected in the glimmers of one of the bluest lakes in the world.

Precious in the fragility of its environment, encroached upon by modern technology and the wastes it deposits. Precious as a natural attraction in the highest, pine-studded center of the Sierra Nevada range, magnetizing hordes of humans.

And so there has been in the last decade a clamor to preserve threatened Lake Tahoe, an issue which transcends the interests of the two states, California and Nevada, which share its ambience, because there are national environmental implications.

The Tahoe Basin, just like the Everglades of Florida or even the Grand Canyon of Arizona, is a rare commodity.

Now on the south shore of the lake loom slabs of concrete and steel hotels rising above the feathered pines which sweep off the shore, and behind them are the visible Y-pronged scars of a ski area leaving an indelible tattoo on the mountain.

It took Richard Heikka's wife one and a half hours on one summer morning to get through Stateline, the Nevada border community which caters to gambling and a proliferation of high rise structures.

"It's a miserable mess," states Heikka, "those six blocks of Stateline."

Heikka should be qualified to make that assessment. He's the executive officer of the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency (TRPA), a bi-state authority convened in 1970 to plot and guide and in some ways administer the future of the greater Lake Tahoe Basin.

Already 45,000 automobiles a day stream down over Echo Summit from California and spill out of the Carson Valley in Nevada to inundate the southern end of the lake, where all the "action" is.

"It's the autos that plague us," says Heikka. "It takes 170 square feet of asphalt just for that auto to park and 350 more feet to back it out. The automobiles use up the environment of Tahoe."

Heikka is full of bureaucratic facts and figures. The Tahoe basin, which now caters to 150,000 population, both transient and permanent, can achieve a population level of 300,000 without destroying the quality of living. (Of that, 50,000 will be year-round residents in the major communities of South Lake Tahoe, Tahoe City and Incline Village.)

They will nest on only 15 per cent of the basin "which is urbanized." The TRPA has already put a tight line on expanding out into the 85 per cent which is wilderness. Tahoe topographically is a delicate jutting of erosive rock almost right out of the water and when the surface is exposed by man's work, powdery silt runs down into the lake and threatens to strangle it.

Because other pollutants were building a dangerous amount of algae, sewage is now piped out over the surrounding ranges away from the lake.

"The battle to save the quality of the lake is a standoff," says Chapman Wentworth, a longtime journalist who has lived on the north shore for 12 years. "The sewage problem is solved. Erosion and siltation is what they face. Also occasional air pollution.

"The danger is that Tahoe will be urbanized to a point where it won't be a pleasant place to be. South Lake Tahoe is beyond saving. My solution: unpave the roads."

The thought isn't entirely facetious.

The most recent clash of environmentalists versus developers involves the proposed construction of two more high-rise casino hotels on the Nevada side in the Stateline area. One would involve 560 rooms, the other 960. They received the approval of the TRPA because of a ridiculous method of dual majority vote — the agency has a five-man California board and a five-man Nevada board and both must agree to stop any development. So although the total vote against the hotels was 7-3 (California's five men unanimously against), the Nevada majority for the project ruled.

The state of California promptly instituted legal action to stop construction. Heikka, who strenuously opposed the hotels himself, is in the strange position of being a defendant against California's suit.

Charming lady is worth wait

By JAMES CORTESE

Julie Bills Wright enjoys life but she doesn't kid herself: "Life gets mighty hard when you get old."

A recent letter from her ended, "Please excuse an old 94- year- old old lady's writing and garrulousness. Yes, I am an old lady, not a 'senior citizen.' That seems snobbish, trying to gild the lily, I suppose. The term 'old folks' is best. That's what we are, unfortunately."

Julie Bills Wright lives in a towering old- fashioned frame house at 120 Lafayette in Bolivar, Tenn. It's not her "ancestral home (that was The Pillars) but one of the two houses I've really lived in."

Recently when I arrived to sit and visit with her for a spell, she was taking a nap. Over my protest, her friend and companion, Mrs. Cora Shelton, awakened her. I waited in the front room with the 20- foot ceiling and antique furniture. Two large fluffy cats, one yellow, one black, snoozed on the sofa.

Probably because of those 94 years, or perhaps just because she's a woman, she took a goodly amount of time to make her appearance. (Sorry, women of NOW, I apologize. Only funning.)

Julie Bills Wright was worth the wait. A trim, stately "little old lady," she entered the room with the attractive graciousness of the long ago, selected an antique chair for herself and pointed out one with a red- velvet seat for me. "That was my grandfather's chair," she said.

Her grandfather was Maj. John Houston Bills who built The Pillars, still standing, in 1828, the home for six generations of his descendants.

Julie Bills Wright asked Cora Shelton for a copy of the Bolivar Bulletin- Times, which featured a story about The Pillars. Cora Shelton couldn't find it. Finally Julie Bills Wright went to fetch it herself.

"She can go by herself," Cora Shelton said. "She can get around as well as I can. Why, she had a spell the other night and thought it was her heart. I couldn't get the doctor. Well, there really wasn't anything wrong with her, just pleurisy pains."

Julie Bills Wright returned. She looked at the napping cats. "I've got four," she said. "That's Goldy and Blacky there; then there's Tippy and Mama. We call her Mama because she loves her babies so."

She returned to her years. "I was 94 on July 27. My daughters — Mrs. John Chester and Mrs. William Fiveash, both of Memphis — gave me a party at the Four Flames and they wanted to serve ice cream and cake. I said, 'No, I want highballs.'

"We had pink champagne.

"I'm not the oldest in Bolivar. Mrs. T. H. Ransom is 95 and Mrs. Ellen Marsh is 96."

Julie Bills Wright picked up a book from the table.

"I'm reading 'Robinson Crusoe.' It's in big print. I used to read it when I was a girl. I had good eyes then.

"Life gets mighty hard when you get old. The thing I really hate is, there is nobody, none of my friends, left that I can talk to.

"I'm absolutely the last leaf on the tree. I had one brother and 10 sisters. I am the last one. My last sister, Clara, died five years ago at 92 and I still find myself wanting to tell Clara things. They've taken down the ivy from The Pillars and I hope God doesn't let Clara see it. She planted that ivy with her own hands."

There was a touch of sadness in her voice, but I think Julie Bills Wright will enjoy life until "that last leaf falls." Despite the problems of being 94½ years old, she smiled as I arose from Grandfather Bills' chair and said, "Oh, I do like Robinson Crusoe."

Then she grimaced, "Ouchhh, I've got pleurisy. It hurts."

Dear Sir:

We are sorry that information you received from your office listed Douglas Singleton as a ticket seller for a luncheon honoring U.S. Republican Senatorial Candidate Thomas B. Curtis. This was in error. Mr. Singleton is not involved in any way in the campaign for Mr. Curtis.

We regret the error, and would appreciate it if you could indicate this in your newspaper.

Thank you,
Sincerely,
Ed Stemmler
